Presents . . .

A Time To Turn

A Time To Turn

There came a time to turn and remember the rich heritage that Bay High felt within the old building, to remember the gym rafters ringing with spirited cheers, to keep friendships cherished within Bay's old halls.

There came a time to turn to the present—to greet familiar faces in unfamiliar surroundings, to shout until the shining halls are filled with Bay's old spirit, to live each moment to hold for tomorrow, to prepare for another time.

There will come a time to turn away from these halls towards the future, to expand one's life in college and careers, to accept the full responsibility of maturity, to challenge a waiting world with new ideas and great enthusiasm.

And now, the Bay Blue Book staff presents in pictorial review—A TIME TO TURN.

"Old Things and Young People"

Dedication

Since he was a small boy, Mr. Edward Wells has been intensely interested in history-collecting antiques as part of the story of civilization. His love of learning led him to combine two interest, "old things and young people," in a teaching career. Receiving his masters degree at Ohio State University, Mr. Wells served as an elementary school principal, and taught American history in high school before coming to Bay in 1948. Under a Ford Fellowship in 1952 and '53, offered to appointed teachers of ninety-five selected schools, Mr. Wells studied at Columbia University in New York City. In 1955 he became assistant principal, and, from 1956 to 1960, he was principal of Bay High. He began teaching American government in 1960. Mr. Wells' interests in antiques and travel have broadened his own experiences and education, which he has extended to his students. His greatest satisfaction is to see his students go on to receive masters degrees in political science and history. As cofounder of the Bay Village Historical Society and curator of Rose Hill Museum, Mr. Wells has offered his service to the community. 1969 will end Mr. Wells' career in education. The Bay Blue Book staff dedicates this book to him in return for faithful service to our community and school.

ADMINISTRATION

Superintendent And Assistant Provide Leadership

BOARD OF EDUCATION—Left—Mrs. Hendershot, Mr. Jamison, Mr. Hardy, President, Mrs. Allen, Mr. Giles

Mr. Spencer—Administration Assistant and Miss Connelly—Psychologist

BOARD SECRETARIES—Sitting—Mrs. Minns, Mrs. Graske, Clerk-treasurer, Mrs. Miller—
Standing— Mrs. Aker, Mrs. Felt—Secretary to Psychologist, Mrs. Fanta, Guidance Secretary,
Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. Saul, Mrs. Edmunds

In materializing the dreams for the new Bay High School, Dr. Robert C. Cawrse, School Superintendent, Mr. Walter L. Harris, Assistant Superintendent, and the Bay School Board played the major role. It was in their offices that plans were finalized, new school policies set, new courses approved, and more teachers hired. For additional construction in the new school and for needed operating funds, the school board submitted a bond issue and an operating levy to the voters which was passed.

Administration Meets New Challenges

OFFICE SECRETARIES—Sitting—Mrs. Kidwell, Mrs. Fallner, and Mrs. Tritton—
Standing—Mrs. O'Hara

Organizing and leading a larger student body and faculty became a monumental task for the administration and office staff with the switch to the new and larger building. Mr. Phillip H. Mengert and Mr. Richard Townsend met this task with many new ideas. Allowing for more flexible schedules, they initiated the module system this year. The Yachtsman Card freed seniors and juniors from reporting to study halls, permitting them to take advantage of new school facilities. A newly formed student advisory committee, composed of a random selection of seniors, gave opinions on the curriculum in use. With the addition of a fourth secretary, the office staff was more able to serve the administration, faculty, and student body. These changes brought the student body closer to the administration for a more meaningful education.

Counselors Guide Us To Future Careers

Mrs. Fanta and Mrs. Hull complete college applications.

Constant contact with students, parents, faculty, administration, future employers, and several hundred college representatives was the job of the Guidance Department. Since eighty-five percent of Bay's graduates go on to some form of higher education, the need for information and help toward this eventual goal was great. With the addition of a third counselor and a fourth grade, efforts were made to begin guidance in course-planning early. Each schedule for the coming year was reviewed to make sure that it fell in line with the student's abilities and interests for a more rewarding educational experience. National tests given by the Guidance Department on Saturdays served as a further aid in course and career planning.

LRC Offers Wide Range Of Research Materials

Researching and learning on their own became a rewarding experience for students in the expanded Learning Resource Center. To accommodate an additional class, two hundred seats were available, placing no limits on student use of the LRC. Eleven thousand five hundred volumes, extensive audio-visual materials, and one hundred eighteen magazines and newspapers were all within easy reach. The library staff was doubled, making help as near as a whispered request. An appealing color scheme, study carrels, and a lounge area added to the attractive appearance of the room. Three small conference rooms and a classroom made it possible for groups to meet without disturbing others. The new LRC was a favorite place for students to work and learn.

LIBRARIANS—Sitting—Mrs. Waltz—Head Librarian—Standing—Mrs. Fathaver, Mrs. Hilbert, Mrs. Webster

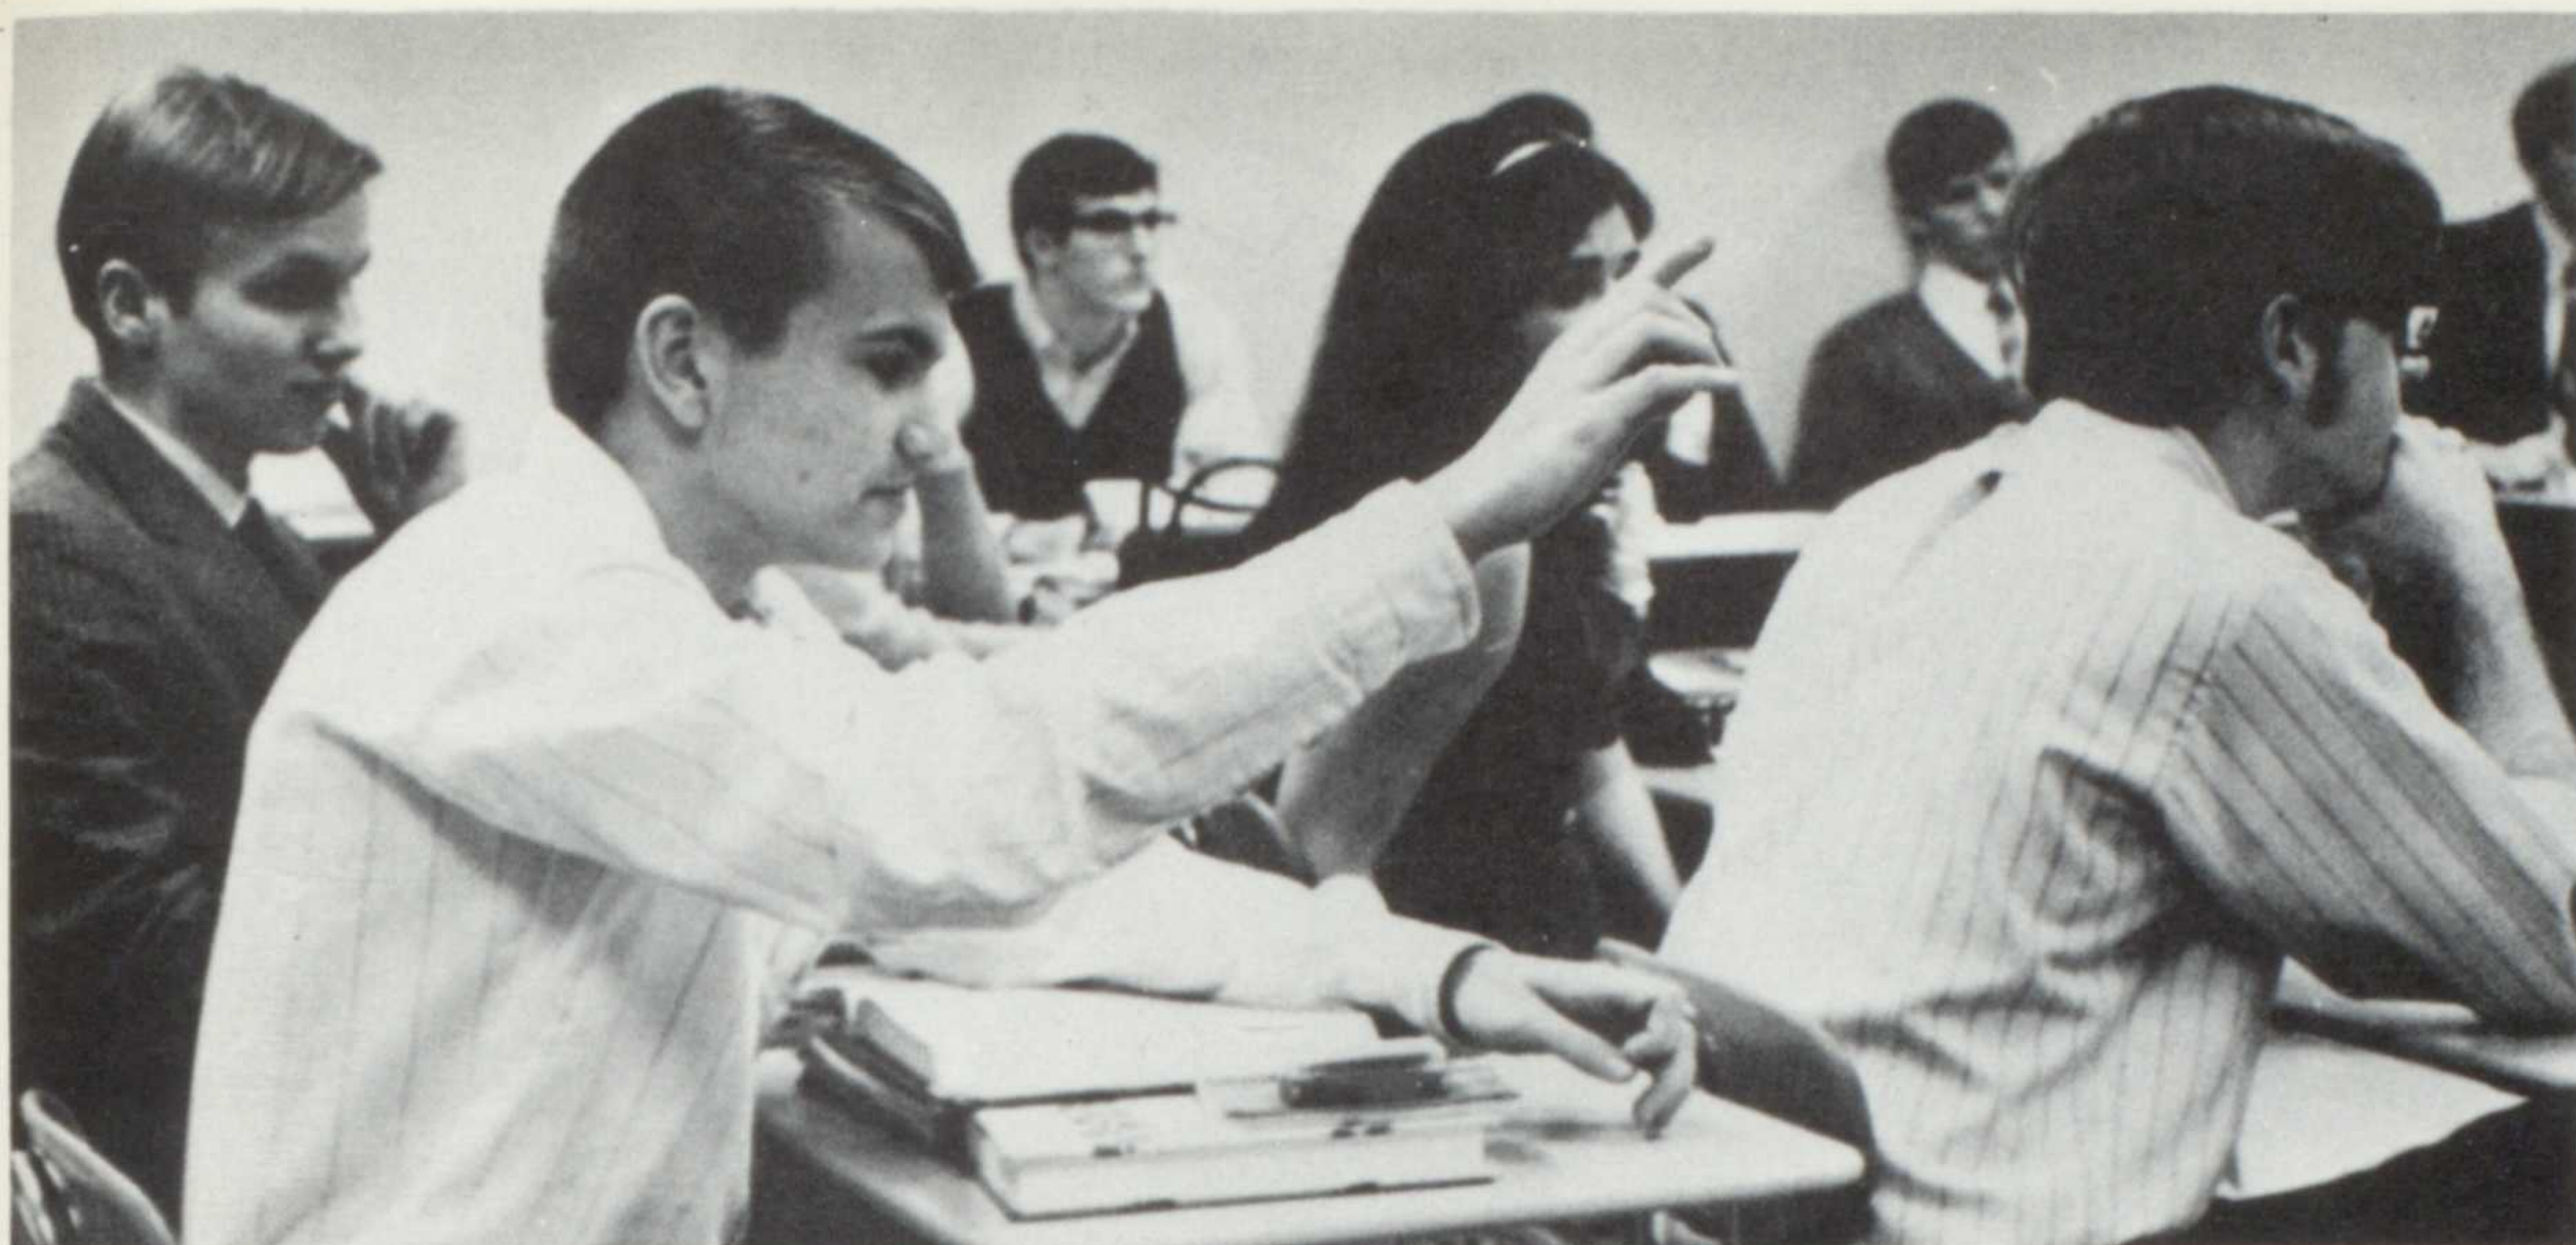

The new LRC offers spacious learning facilities.

English Stresses Speaking And Writing

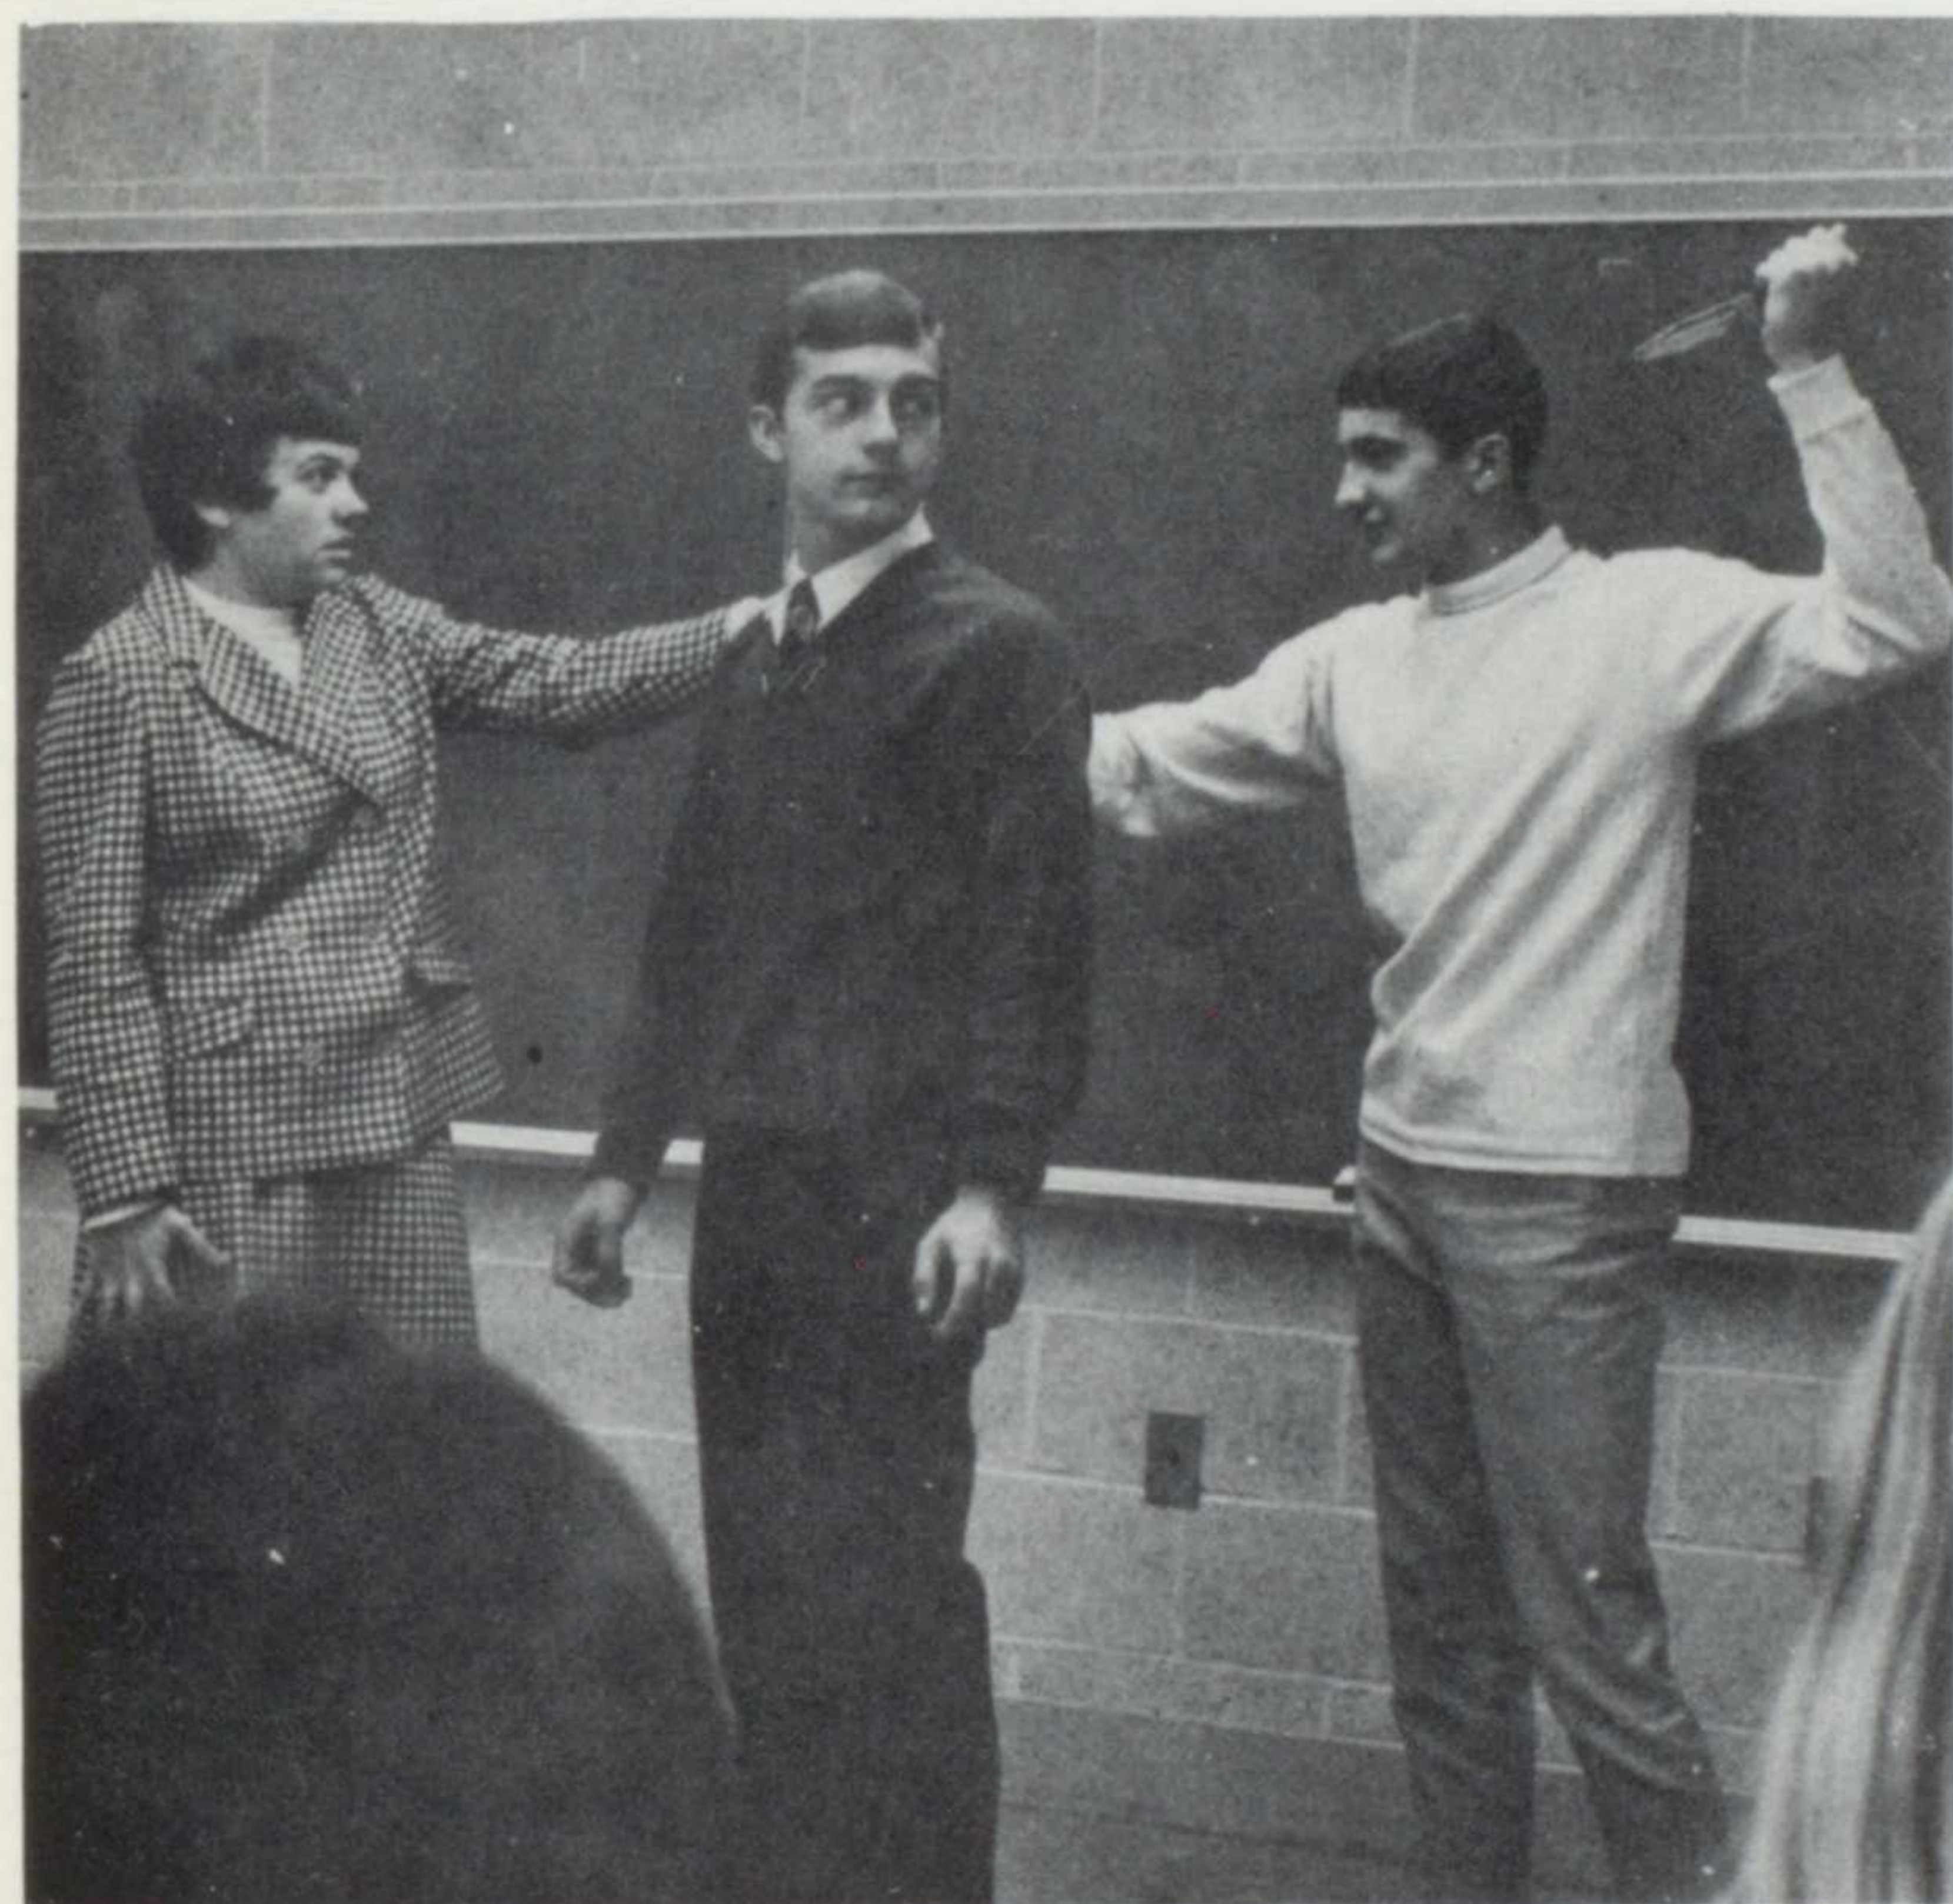

In an effort to meet the needs of the student in the modern world, the English Department strived to teach the great ideas of all times and to give students the opportunity to express their own thoughts and feelings. Students learned to communicate through gestures and spoken words in Speech, Dramatics, and Advanced Dramatics, a new course. Two new courses, Journalism and Composition, taught students to express themselves in writing and to appreciate good writing. Narrative and descriptive writing and language were stressed in the ninth and tenth grade English courses, while expository writing and literature were stressed in the eleventh and twelfth grades. One goal of the English Department was to develop a taste of reading in students to last a lifetime.

Language Increases Universal Understanding

A familiar sight in Mr. Cabassa's Spanish IV class is a circular discussion group.

In the study of foreign languages, students gained world understanding through the knowledge of other people's languages and customs. Bay High's Language Department offered six years of French beginning in the sixth grade, and four years of German, Spanish, and Latin. The teachers attempted to give students a working knowledge of the language and an ability to carry on basic conversations. This year the language department adopted a new French program which incorporated the best of the audio-lingual and traditional methods of teaching language. Summer sessions in Spain were arranged for Spanish students, and sessions at the University of Salzburg in Austria for German students, giving them an opportunity to study the language and customs of the people firsthand.

Science Spans From Amoebas To Mountains

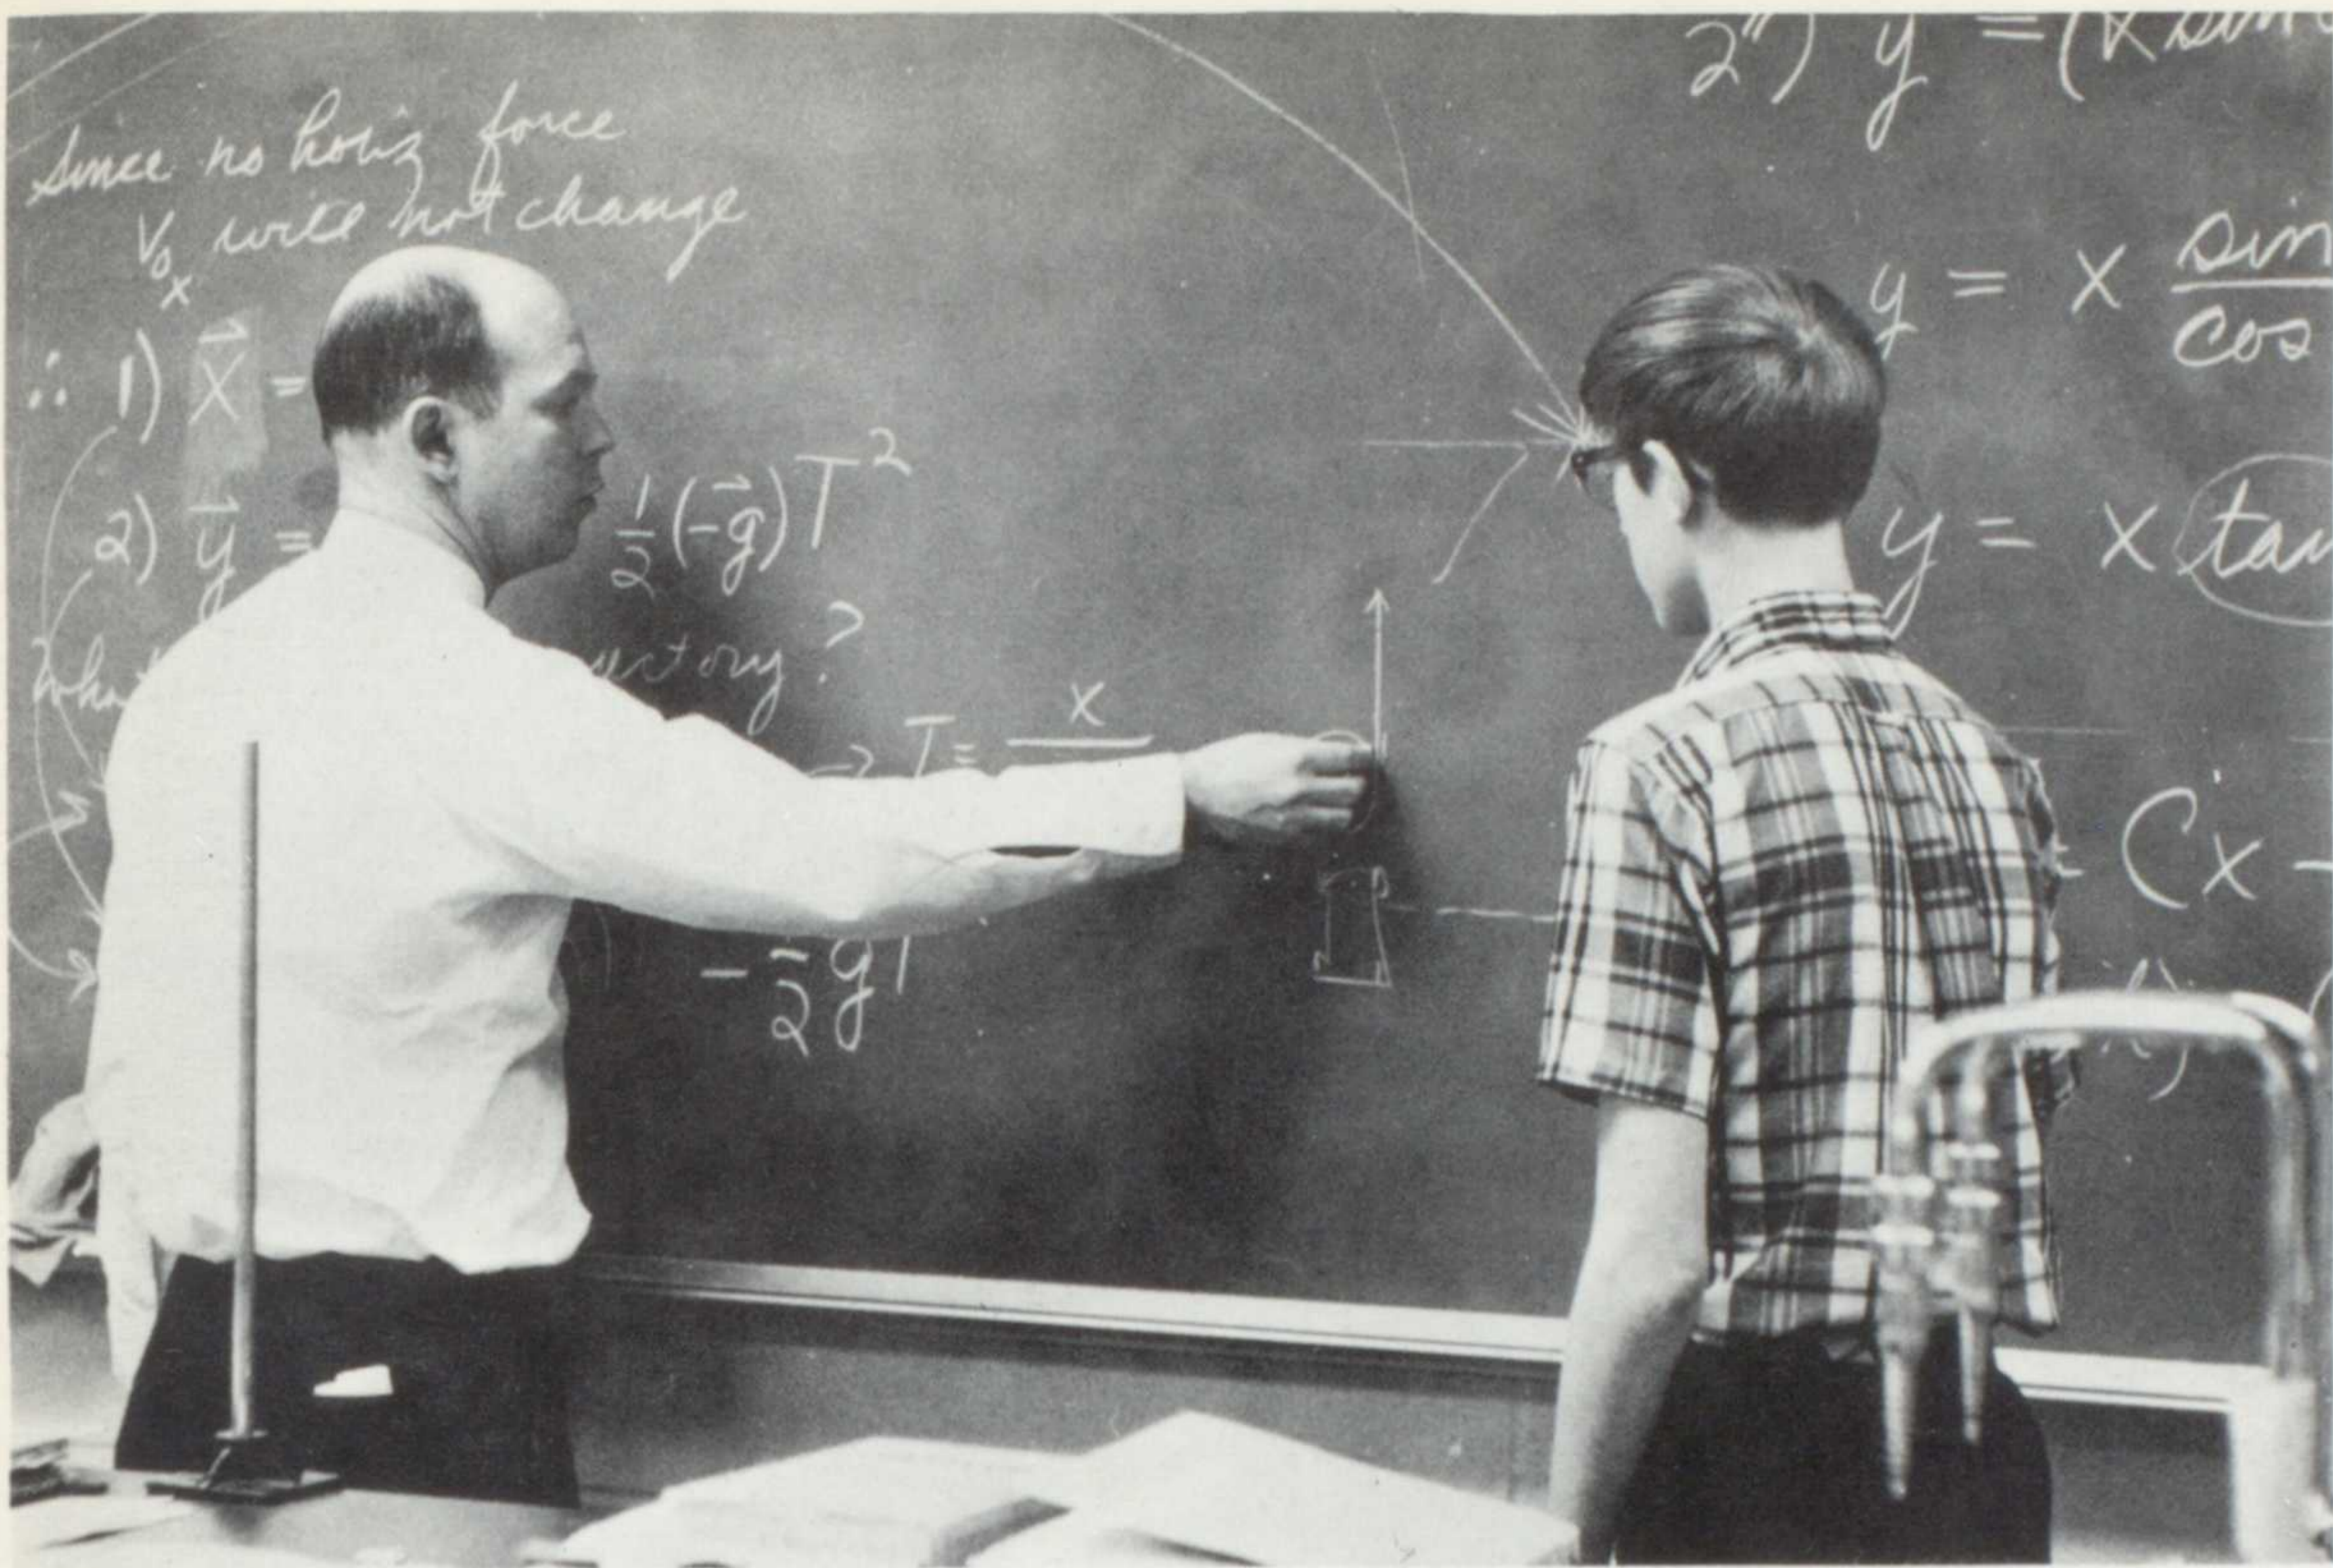

Sitting—Mr. Hoesman, Department Head, Mrs. Wyman—Standing—Mr. Bobniz, Mr. Wagner, Mr. Amos, Mr. Bogovich, Mr. Wacker, Mr. Reiser

Mr. Amos describes rock formation to Marty Haneline and Nancy Crook.

Instilling an appreciation for the work of scientists, developing a better thinking ability, and providing a sound background in the basic sciences were the goals of the Science Department. Courses encompassed both the living and the non-living environment. Laboratory study was used to discover scientific principles in the Physical Science Study Committee physics course, the Chem Study course, and the Biological Science Curriculum Study course. A new course, Earth Science Curriculum Project, was added for freshmen this year. Pilot use of the Science Problems course being developed by the Educational Research Council of America was expanded, giving more students a chance to do extensive individual research on several projects.

A physics problem is explained to Dwight Kubach by Mr. Wagner.

Recreation of a cell is performed by Wayne Baran and Mr. Wacker during biology lab.

Gretchen Freal and Jan Ashman work on a trying chemistry lab.

Humanities Broadens Cultural Experiences

Through research, creativity, and performance, the Art and Music Department provided varied cultural opportunities for student development. With a new class new programs had to be added to include the talents of more students. Two bands, a symphonic band and a new concert band combined in the fall to form a marching band to perform at football games. A second choir, the Blue and White Chorale, and the Glee Club perform at the Christmas and Spring Choir Concerts while preparing for Choir. Stimulating students interests in a more particular direction, a new art course, Interior Decorating was added. Through the study of philosophy, art and music, students broadened their cultural interests in the Humanities course.

Sitting—Mr. Larson, Mrs. Kaesgan—Standing—Mr. Crews, Mr. Hosmer

Ralph Sander's talented hand creates a work of art.

Business Expands Student Skills

Sitting—Miss Smith, Miss Fisher. Standing—Mr. Rush, Mr. Hale—Department Head.

Courses in business not only aided students in school work, but also prepare them for future jobs. With the move to the new building, the Business Department was expanded and acquired new equipment. Courses ranged from General Business and Bookkeeping to Typing and Shorthand with General Business available as a freshman course. Personal typing classes were enlarged and made use of a double classroom. All courses combined learning with practical business experience.

Mr. Hale helps Sue Allart set her margins.

Math Department Develops Logical Reasoning

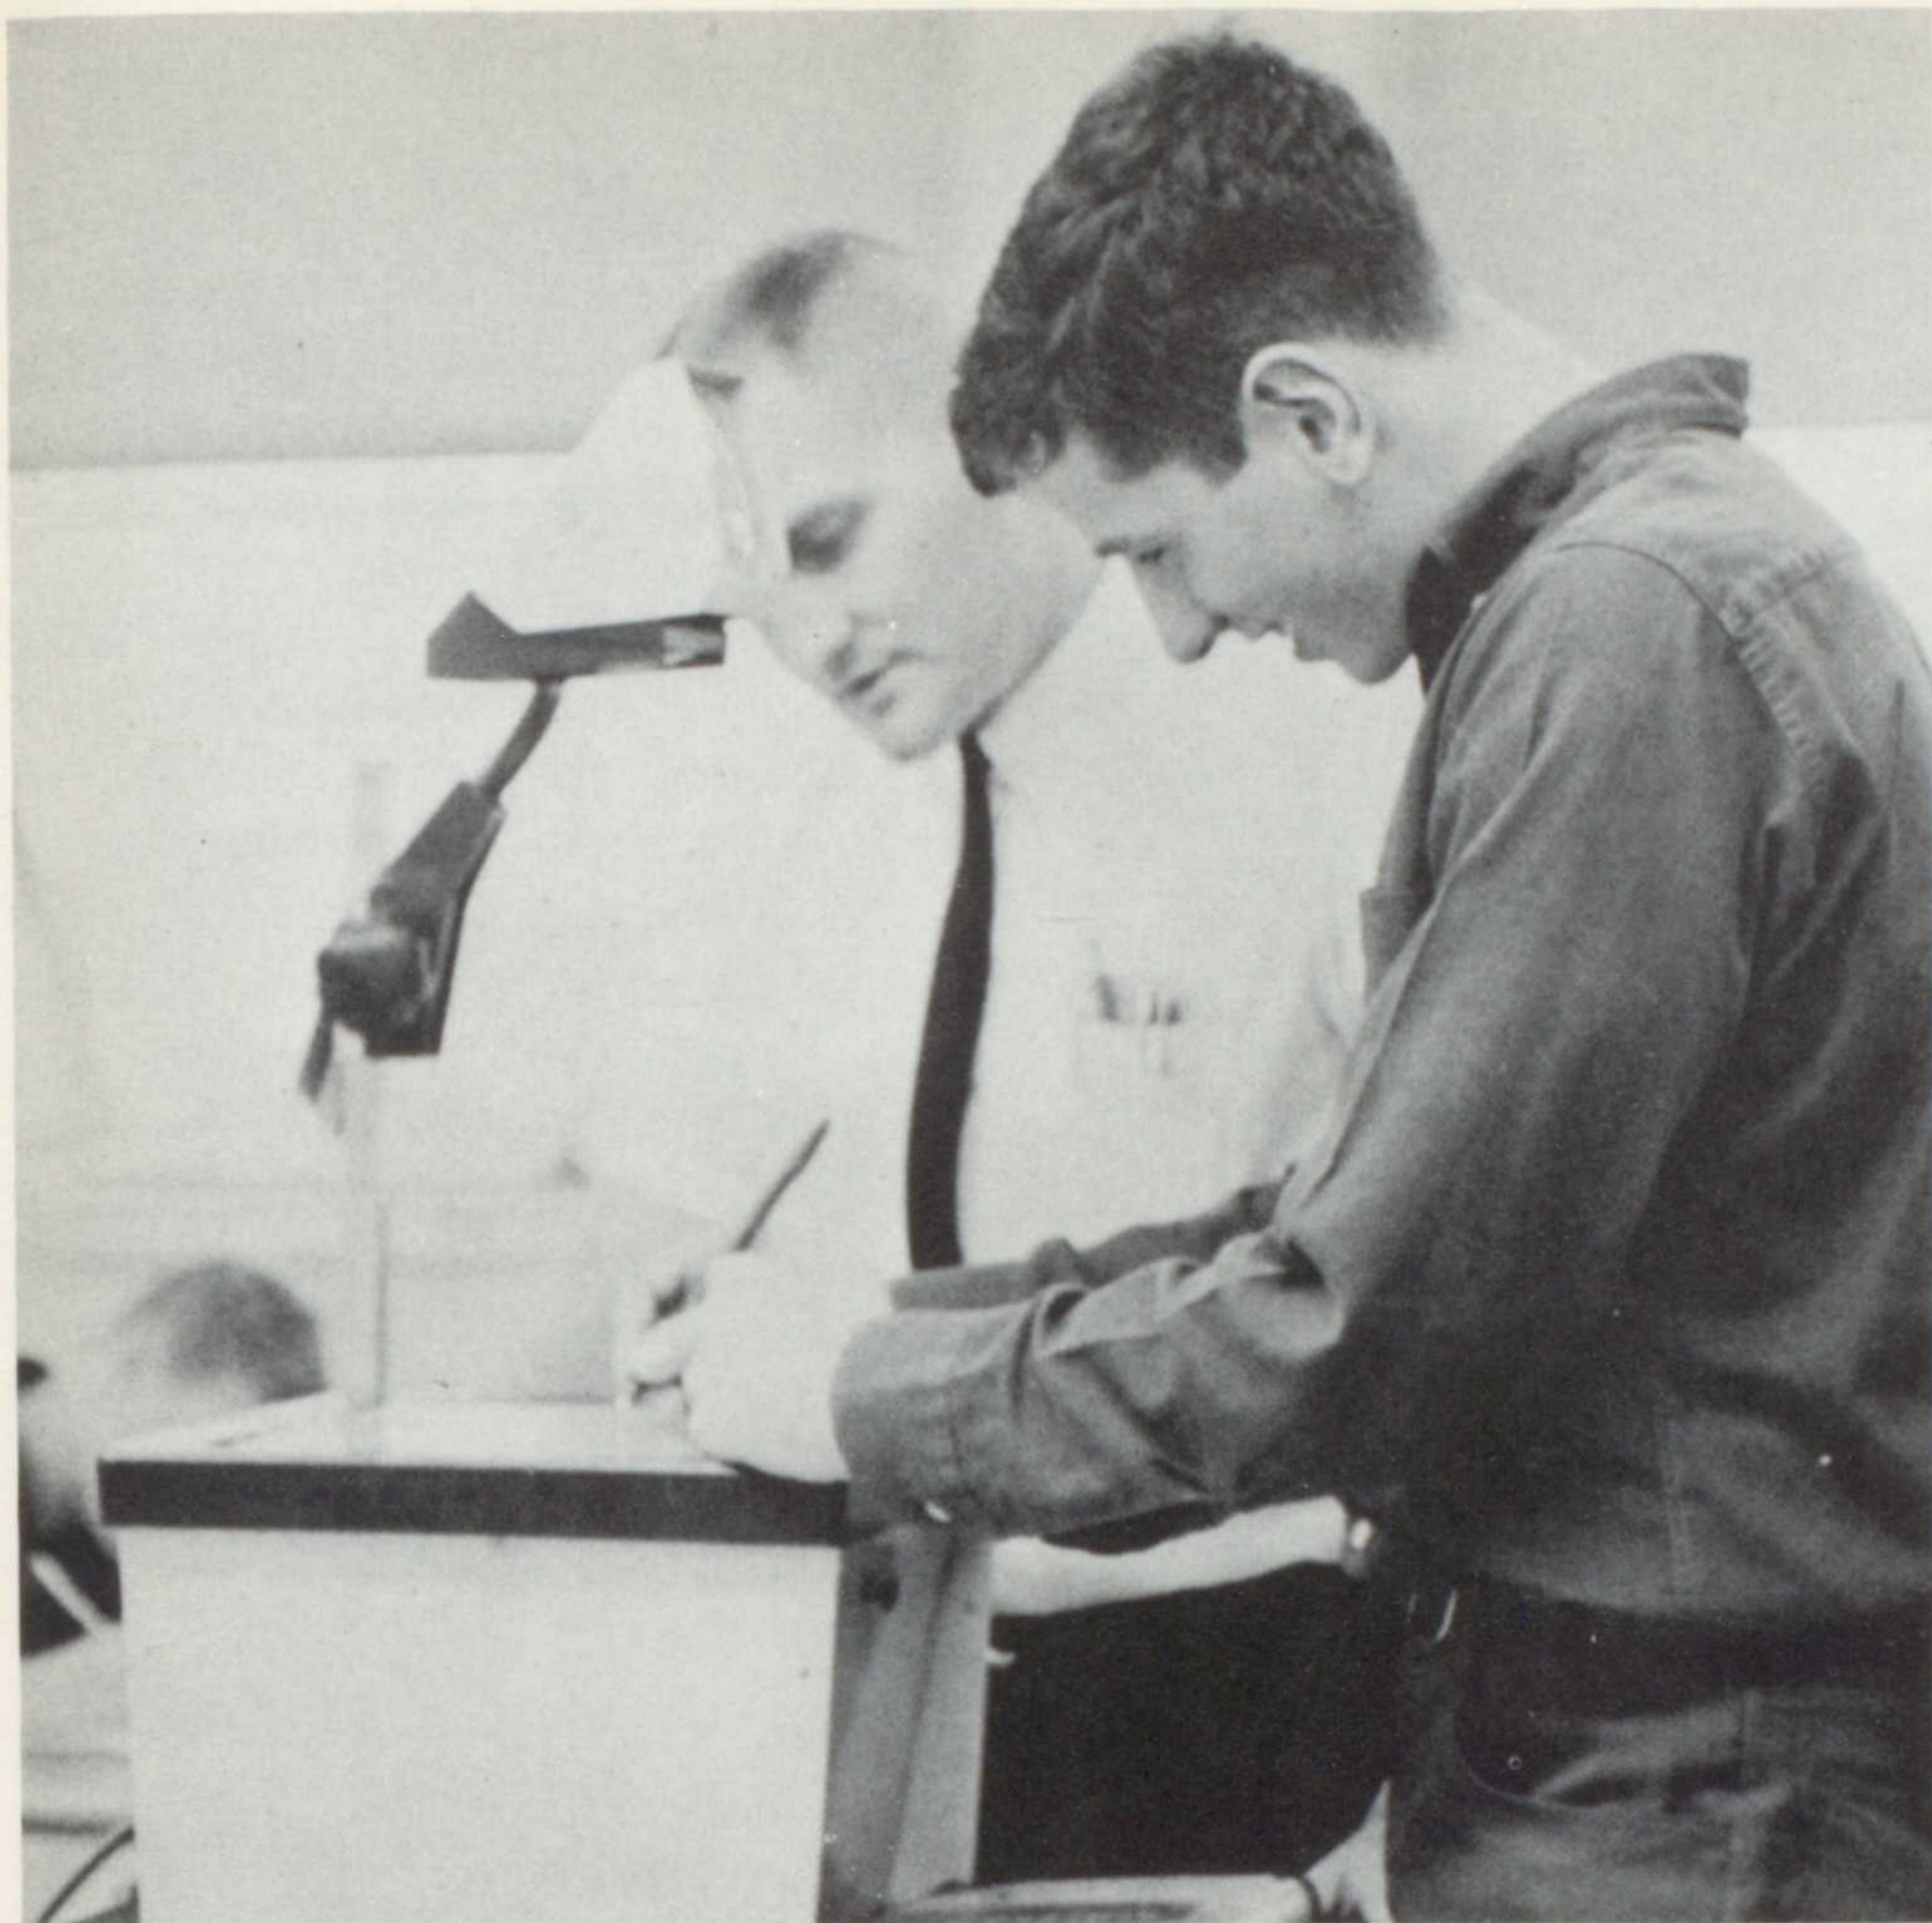

From the exact thinking and logic demanded in mathematics evolved a sound reasoning capacity. The Mathematics Department offered a broad range of courses, all contributing to this capacity. These courses provided students with knowledge of the fundamentals of math, algebra, geometry, trigonometry, and analysis. For those students who had completed these math courses and wished to continue, the fifth year Math Seminar was added this year. Working individually from several books, these students met irregularly to discuss problems with their instructor. A near future computer hook-up program to start in Math Analysis and Math Seminar was greatly anticipated. Learning the proper terms and processes to operate the computer, students would gain a greater appreciation of mathematics.

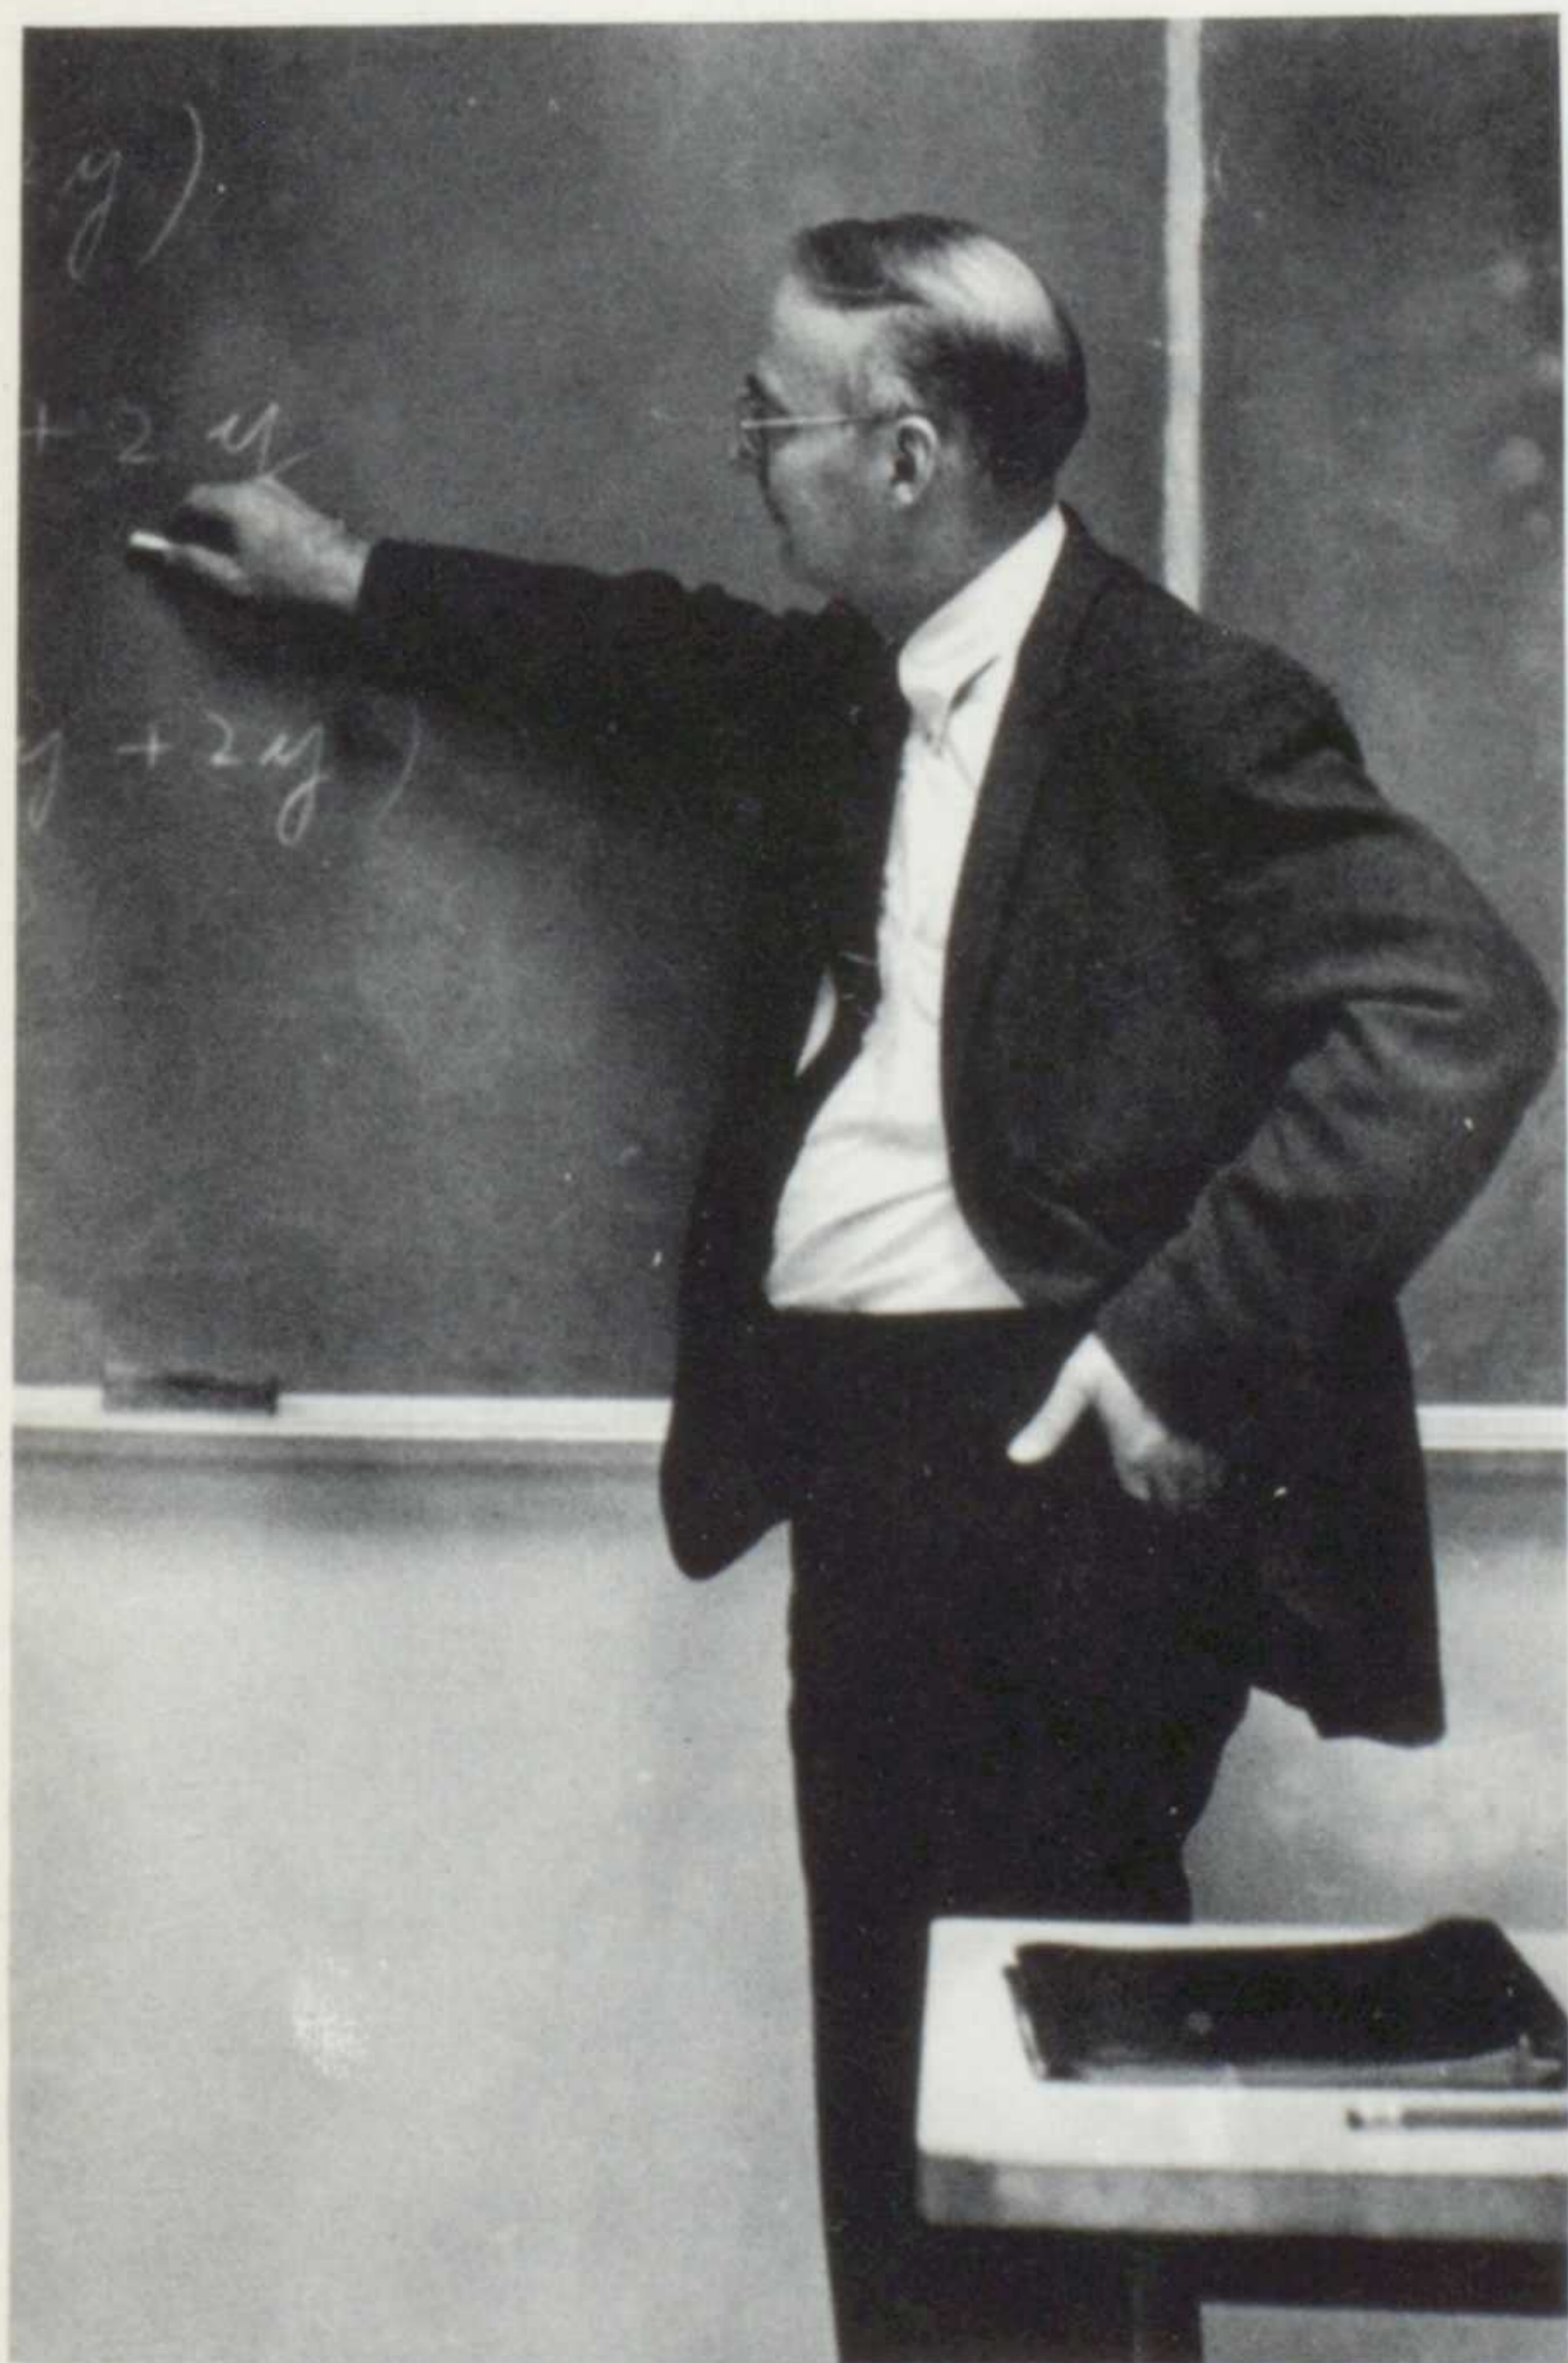

Sitting—Mrs. Janning, Miss Wagner—Department Head, Mr. Martin. Standing—Mr. Lehman, Mr. Chadwick, Mr. Clymer, Mr. Adams.

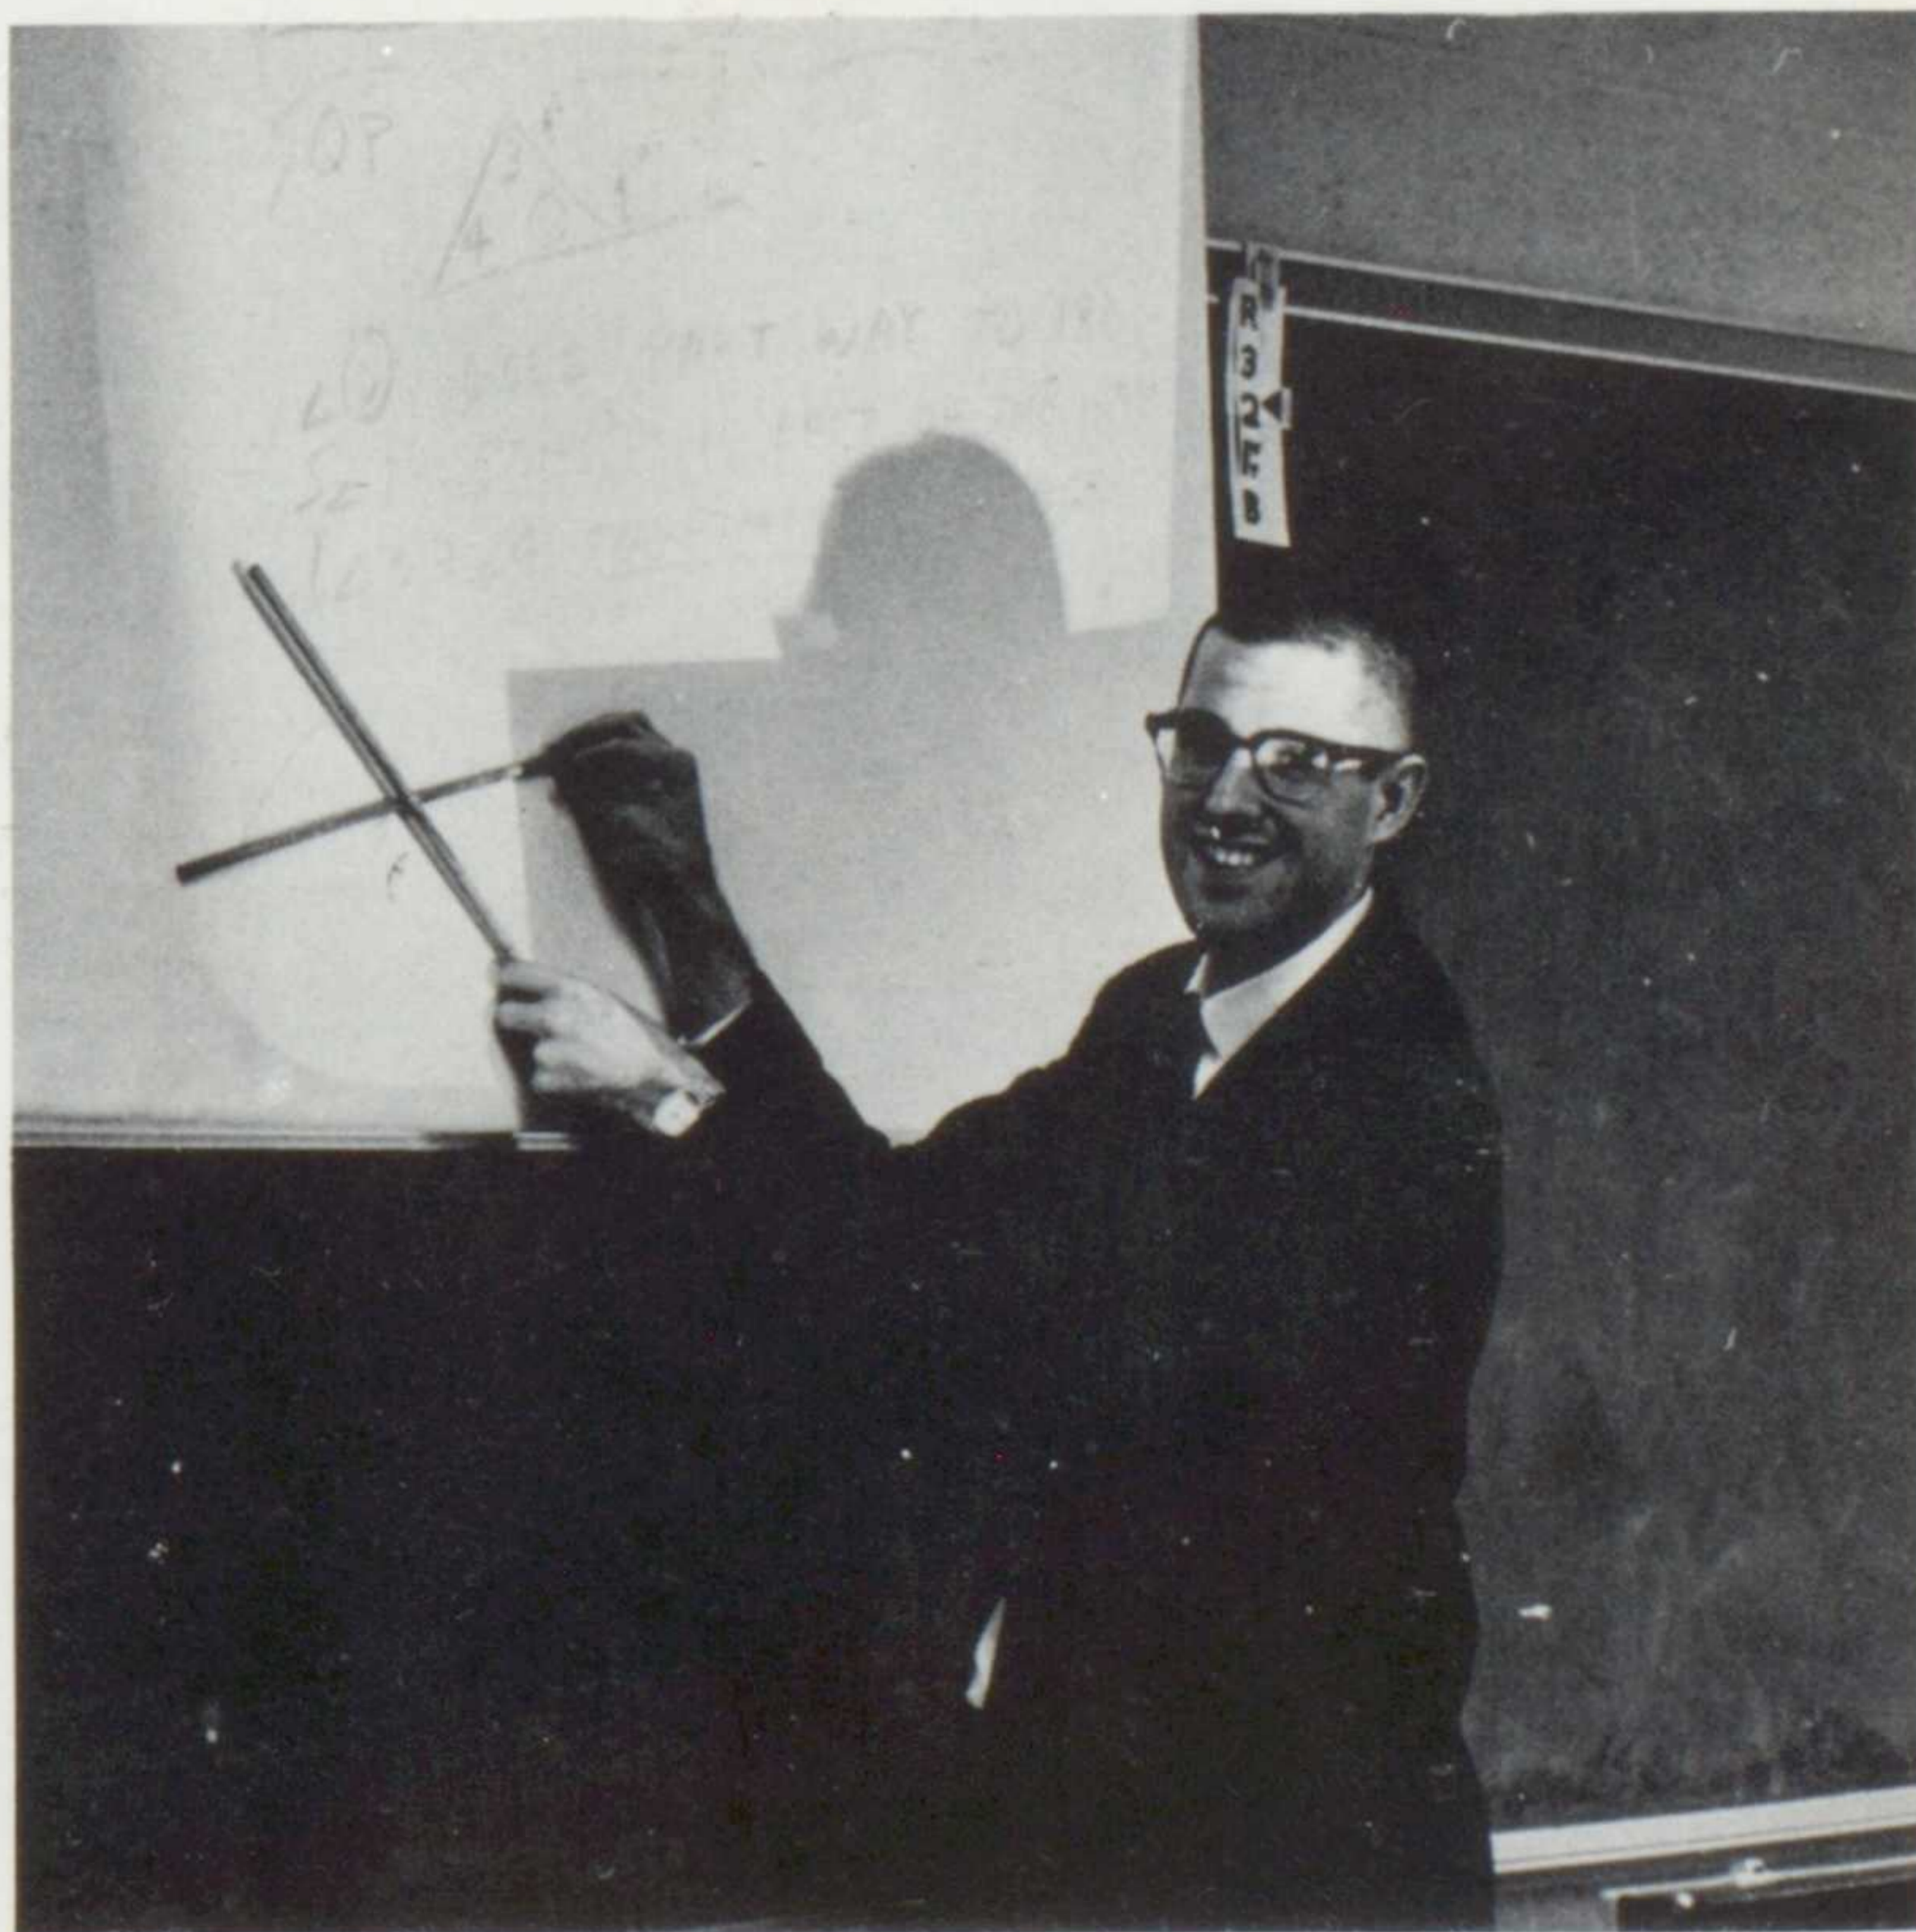

Miss Wagner prepares plans for Math Department.

The over-head projector allows Tim Kopp to explain problems to Mr. Chadwick and the class.

Mr. Adams' wide knowledge of math aids his students in the study of Algebra-Trig.

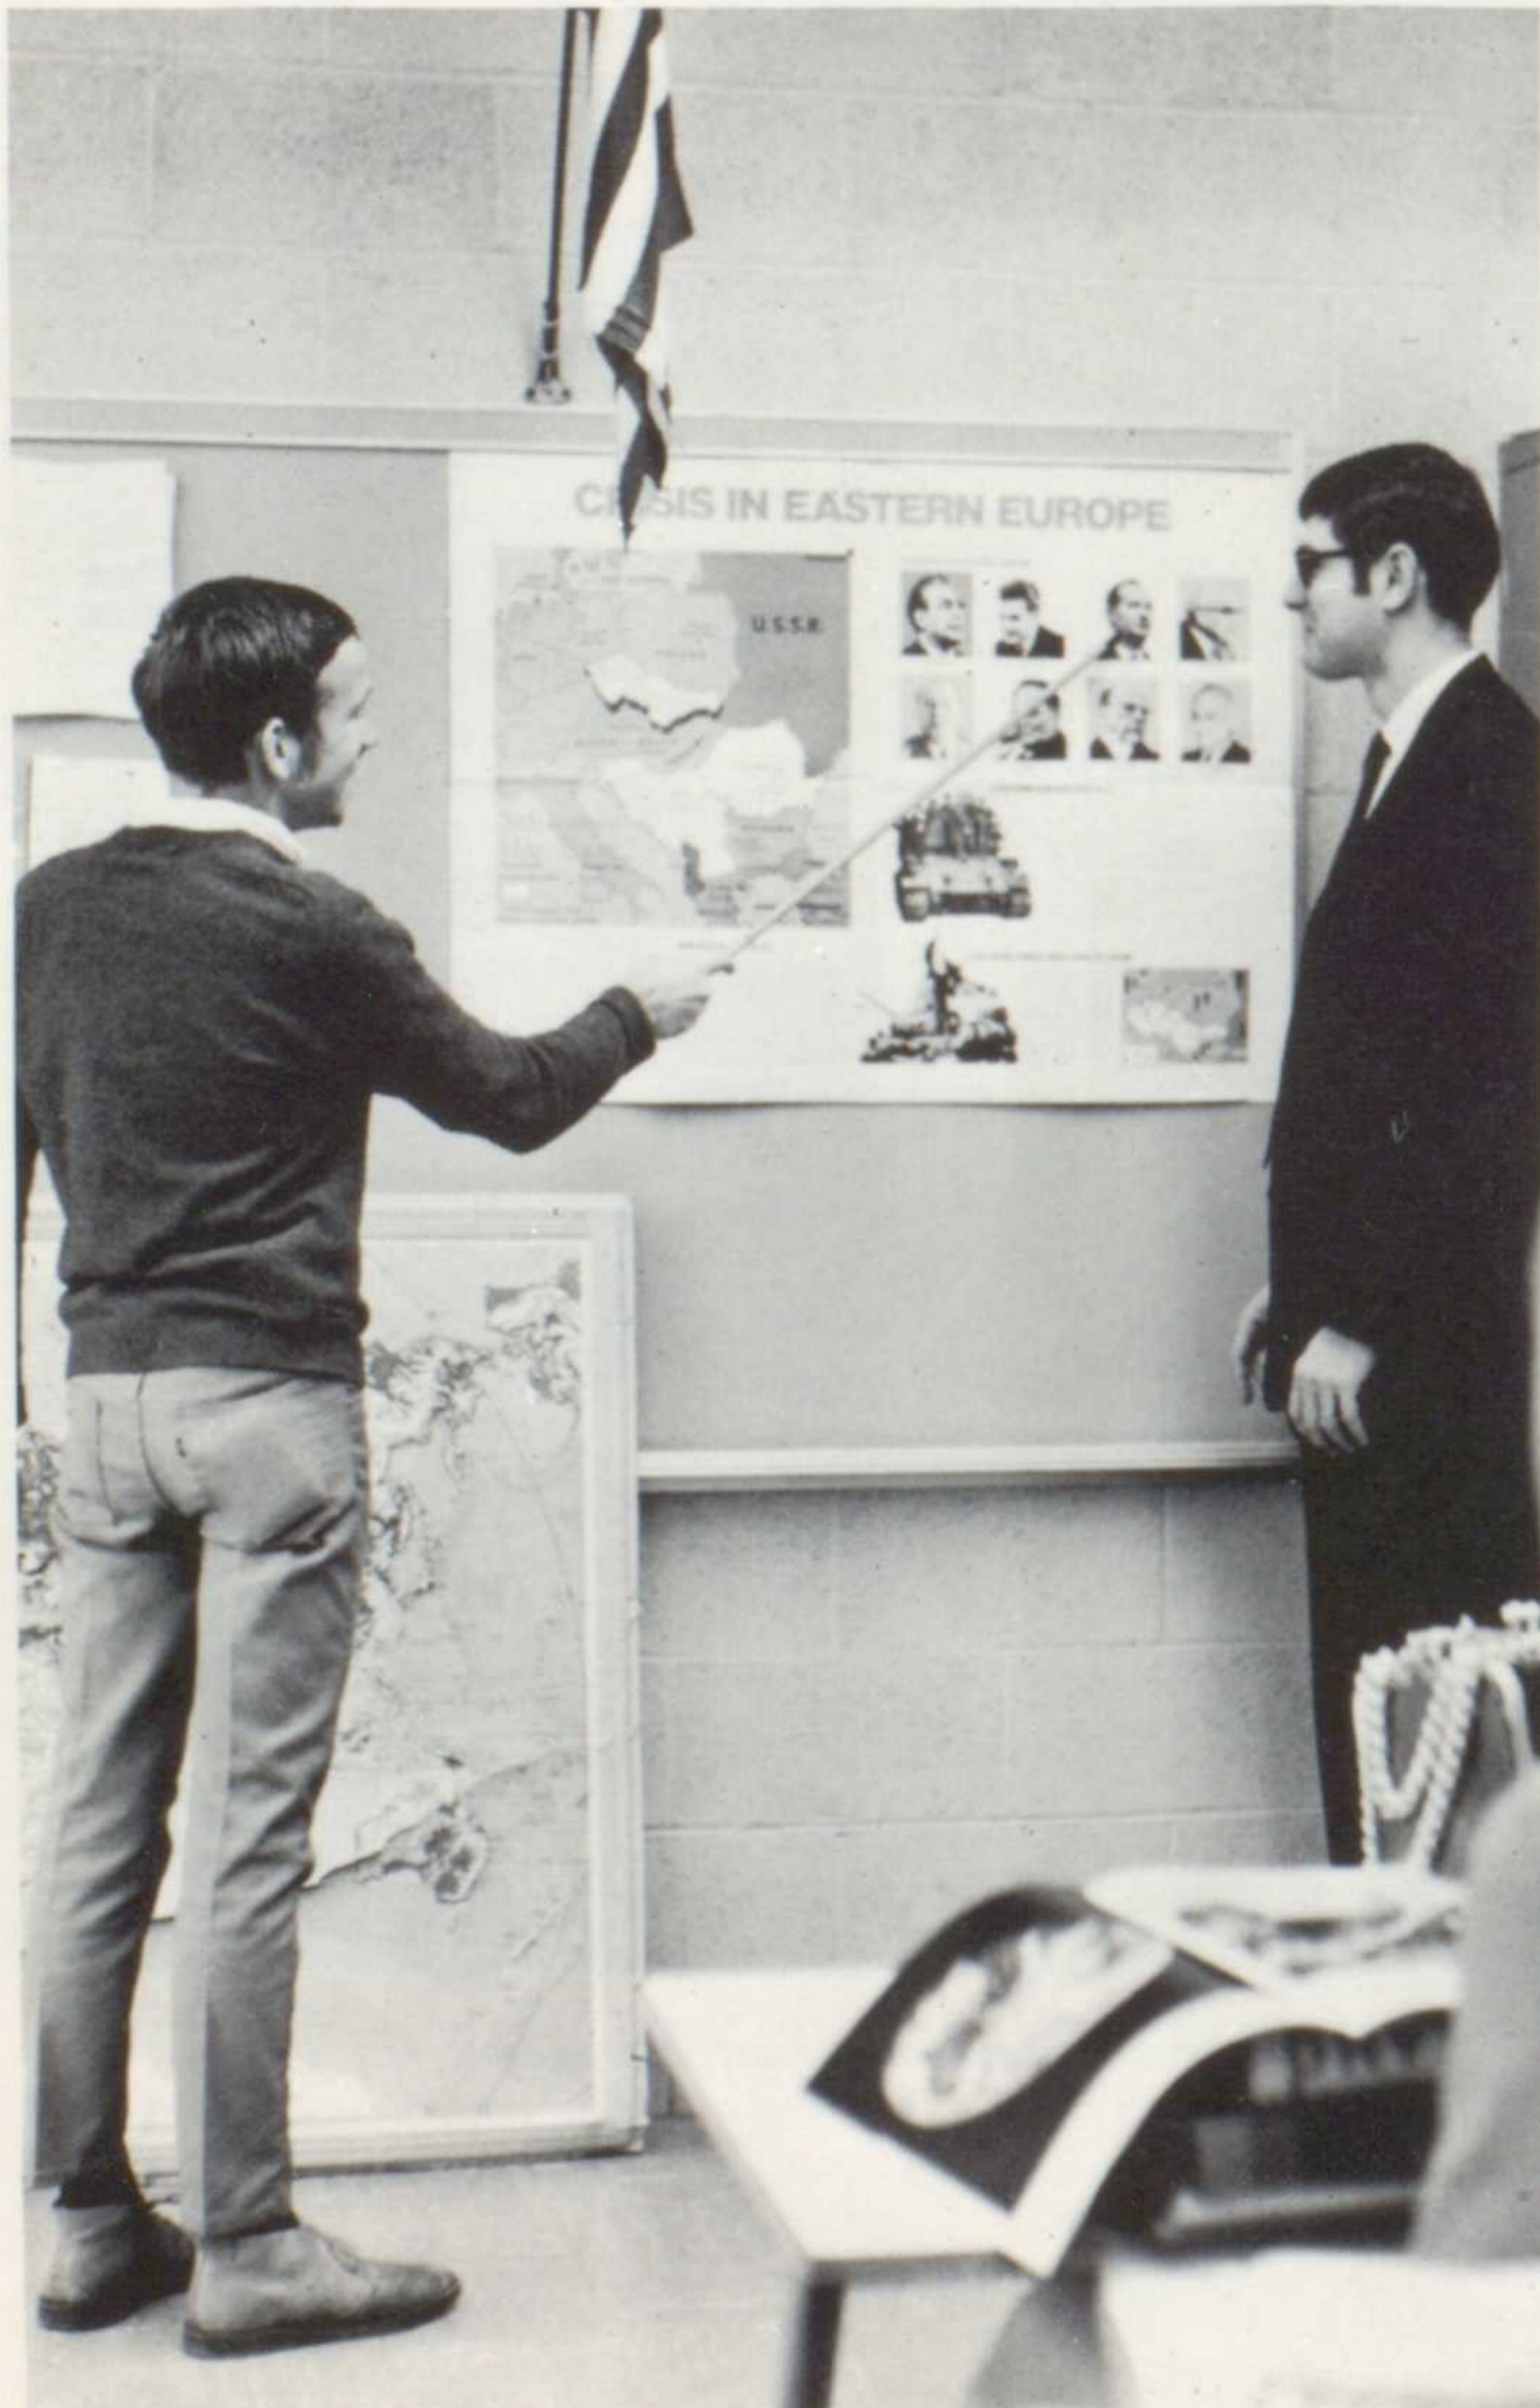

Mr. Clymer proves that math can be fun.

Social Studies Bridges Past And Present

Mr. Wells explains income tax forms to Marcia Danielson.

To probe man's advancement from the beginning of time and to watch as he rocketed into the future, The Social Studies Department offered courses in both past historical events and the world today. Comparative Political Systems and Comparative Economic Systems, two new electives for freshmen, prepared students with analytical skills useful in American Government and other history courses. World and American History gave students insights into the past. Studying breaking world events in Contemporary Affairs, a new course, students participated in enthusiastic debates and discussions. Sociology examined man's relationship with other men to shape a more favorable environment.

Mike Foley answers Mr. Wichman's question in Contemporary Affairs.

Mr. O'Donnell's lively lectures and spirited gestures hold his students' attention and interest.

Sitting—Mr. Brandt, Department Head—Standing—Mr. O'Donnell, Mr. Hansinger, Mr. Wells, Mr. Wichman, Mr. Thomas

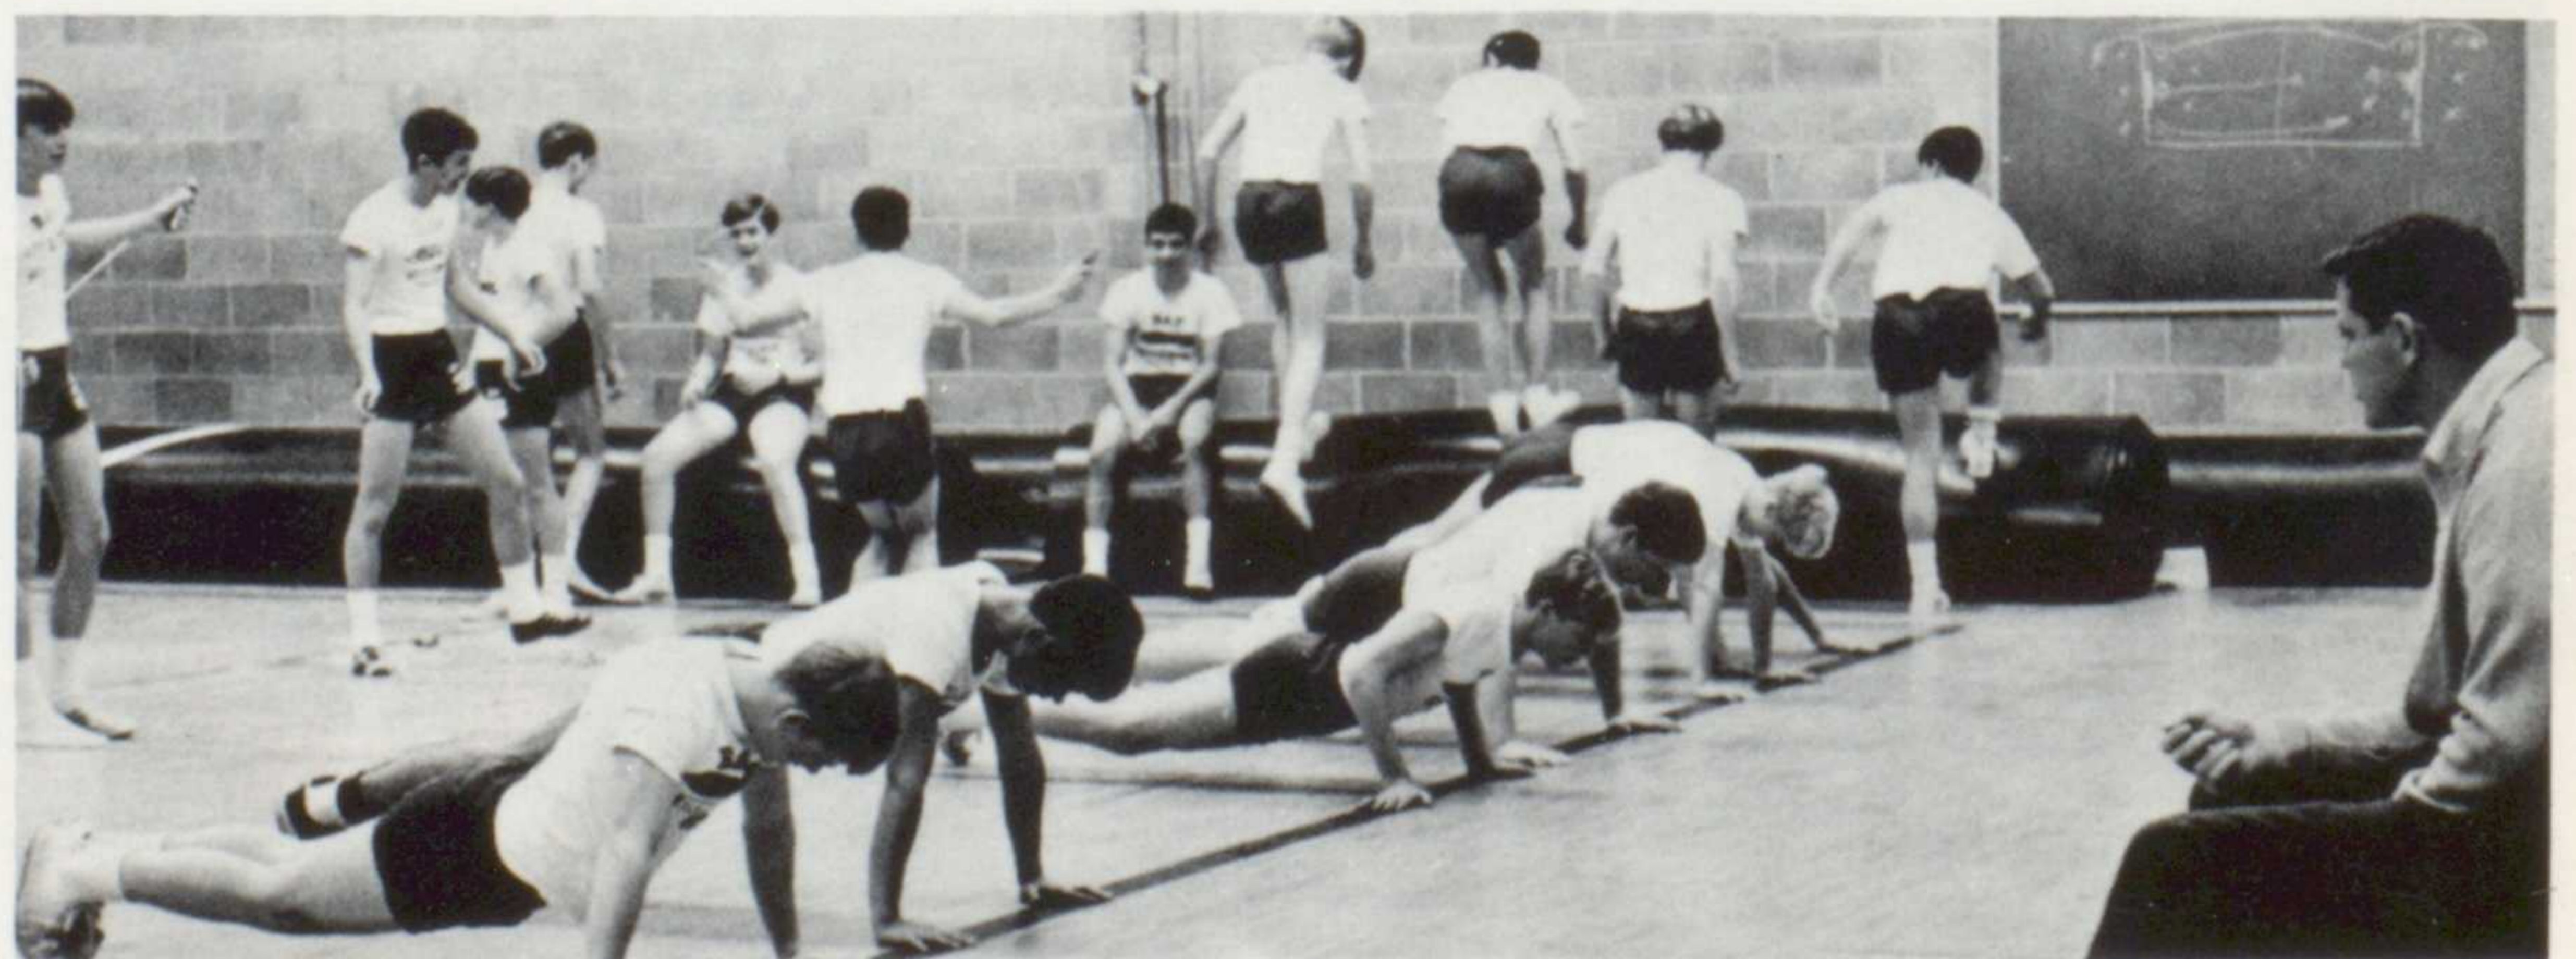

Collected election posters are shown on history room walls and ceiling.

Physical Education Accents Individual Sports

Coordination of mind and body, ability to work in a team and to perform individually, and sportsmanlike behavior were qualities developed by the Physical Education Department. Many changes were made in the department with the move to the new school. These changes included a large new gymnasium and locker room for the boys, and two additional instructors. A new system of joint-teaching was initiated for the girls' classes. By this method the classes were decreased in size and increased in challenges. Students practiced individual skills in working with apparatus along with learning the rules of team sports such as volley ball and field hockey. With stress on carry-over sports of tennis and golf, students acquired proficiency for future enjoyment.

Vocational Arts Expands Programs

Satisfaction was the reward for many students learning skills in the Vocational Arts Department. With two additional teachers, the newly completed industrial arts wing was fully equipped to teach three main courses: Soft Materials, work with leather, fiber glass, wood and metals; Metals Shop, work with production machinery; and Mechanical Drawing, a three year program ending in Architectural Drawing. The Home Economics Department was divided into semester and yearly courses for the first time, including foods and clothing I and II, tailoring, and the new Child Care and Development Course. Bake sales and field trips actively involved nearly three hundred fifty students.

CUSTODIAL STAFF—Sitting—Mr. Ray Klein, Head Custodian, Mr. Harold Futrall—Standing—Mr. Louis Perez, Mr. Jim Guida, Mr. John Gonzales, Mr. William Gimms

Making the school a pleasant place in which to learn became a doubly hard task for the custodial staff with construction work going on into the middle of the year. In spite of a larger student body and shorter lunch periods, the cafeteria continued to provide nourishing lunches for hungry students. These people work often went unnoticed, but was nevertheless essential to students' comfort.

Prospective buyers crowd the concession stand.

Acting as an effective intermediary between the students and faculty, the Student Council greatly aided in the smooth transition to the new building and the addition of the freshman class. More members increased the council's capabilities. A picnic and splash party planned by the New Student Committee welcomed new students to Bay. Council members acted as hall monitors and concession stand operators at football games. Much planning and preparation went into Homecoming and Leader's Night. In filling orders to Santa Claus for toys, the entire student body helped the Student Council to make a merry Christmas for children at Riverview Project. Throughout the entire year, Student Council worked to promote spirit and loyalty for the new Bay High.

Blue Book Commemorates First Year

Recording the first year at the new school was the important task requiring the cooperation of many students on the Bay Blue Book staff. Work began at summer meetings held to discuss new ideas and to sketch plans. With nearly one thousand yearbooks sold, editors and staffs began planning pages and supervising picture taking. Candid shots captured students in their new habitat; teachers' pictures were taken in groups this year. The publications room and room 104 became centers of activity for the yearbook staff. As deadlines grew closer, editors and staffs became busier in preparing final layouts.

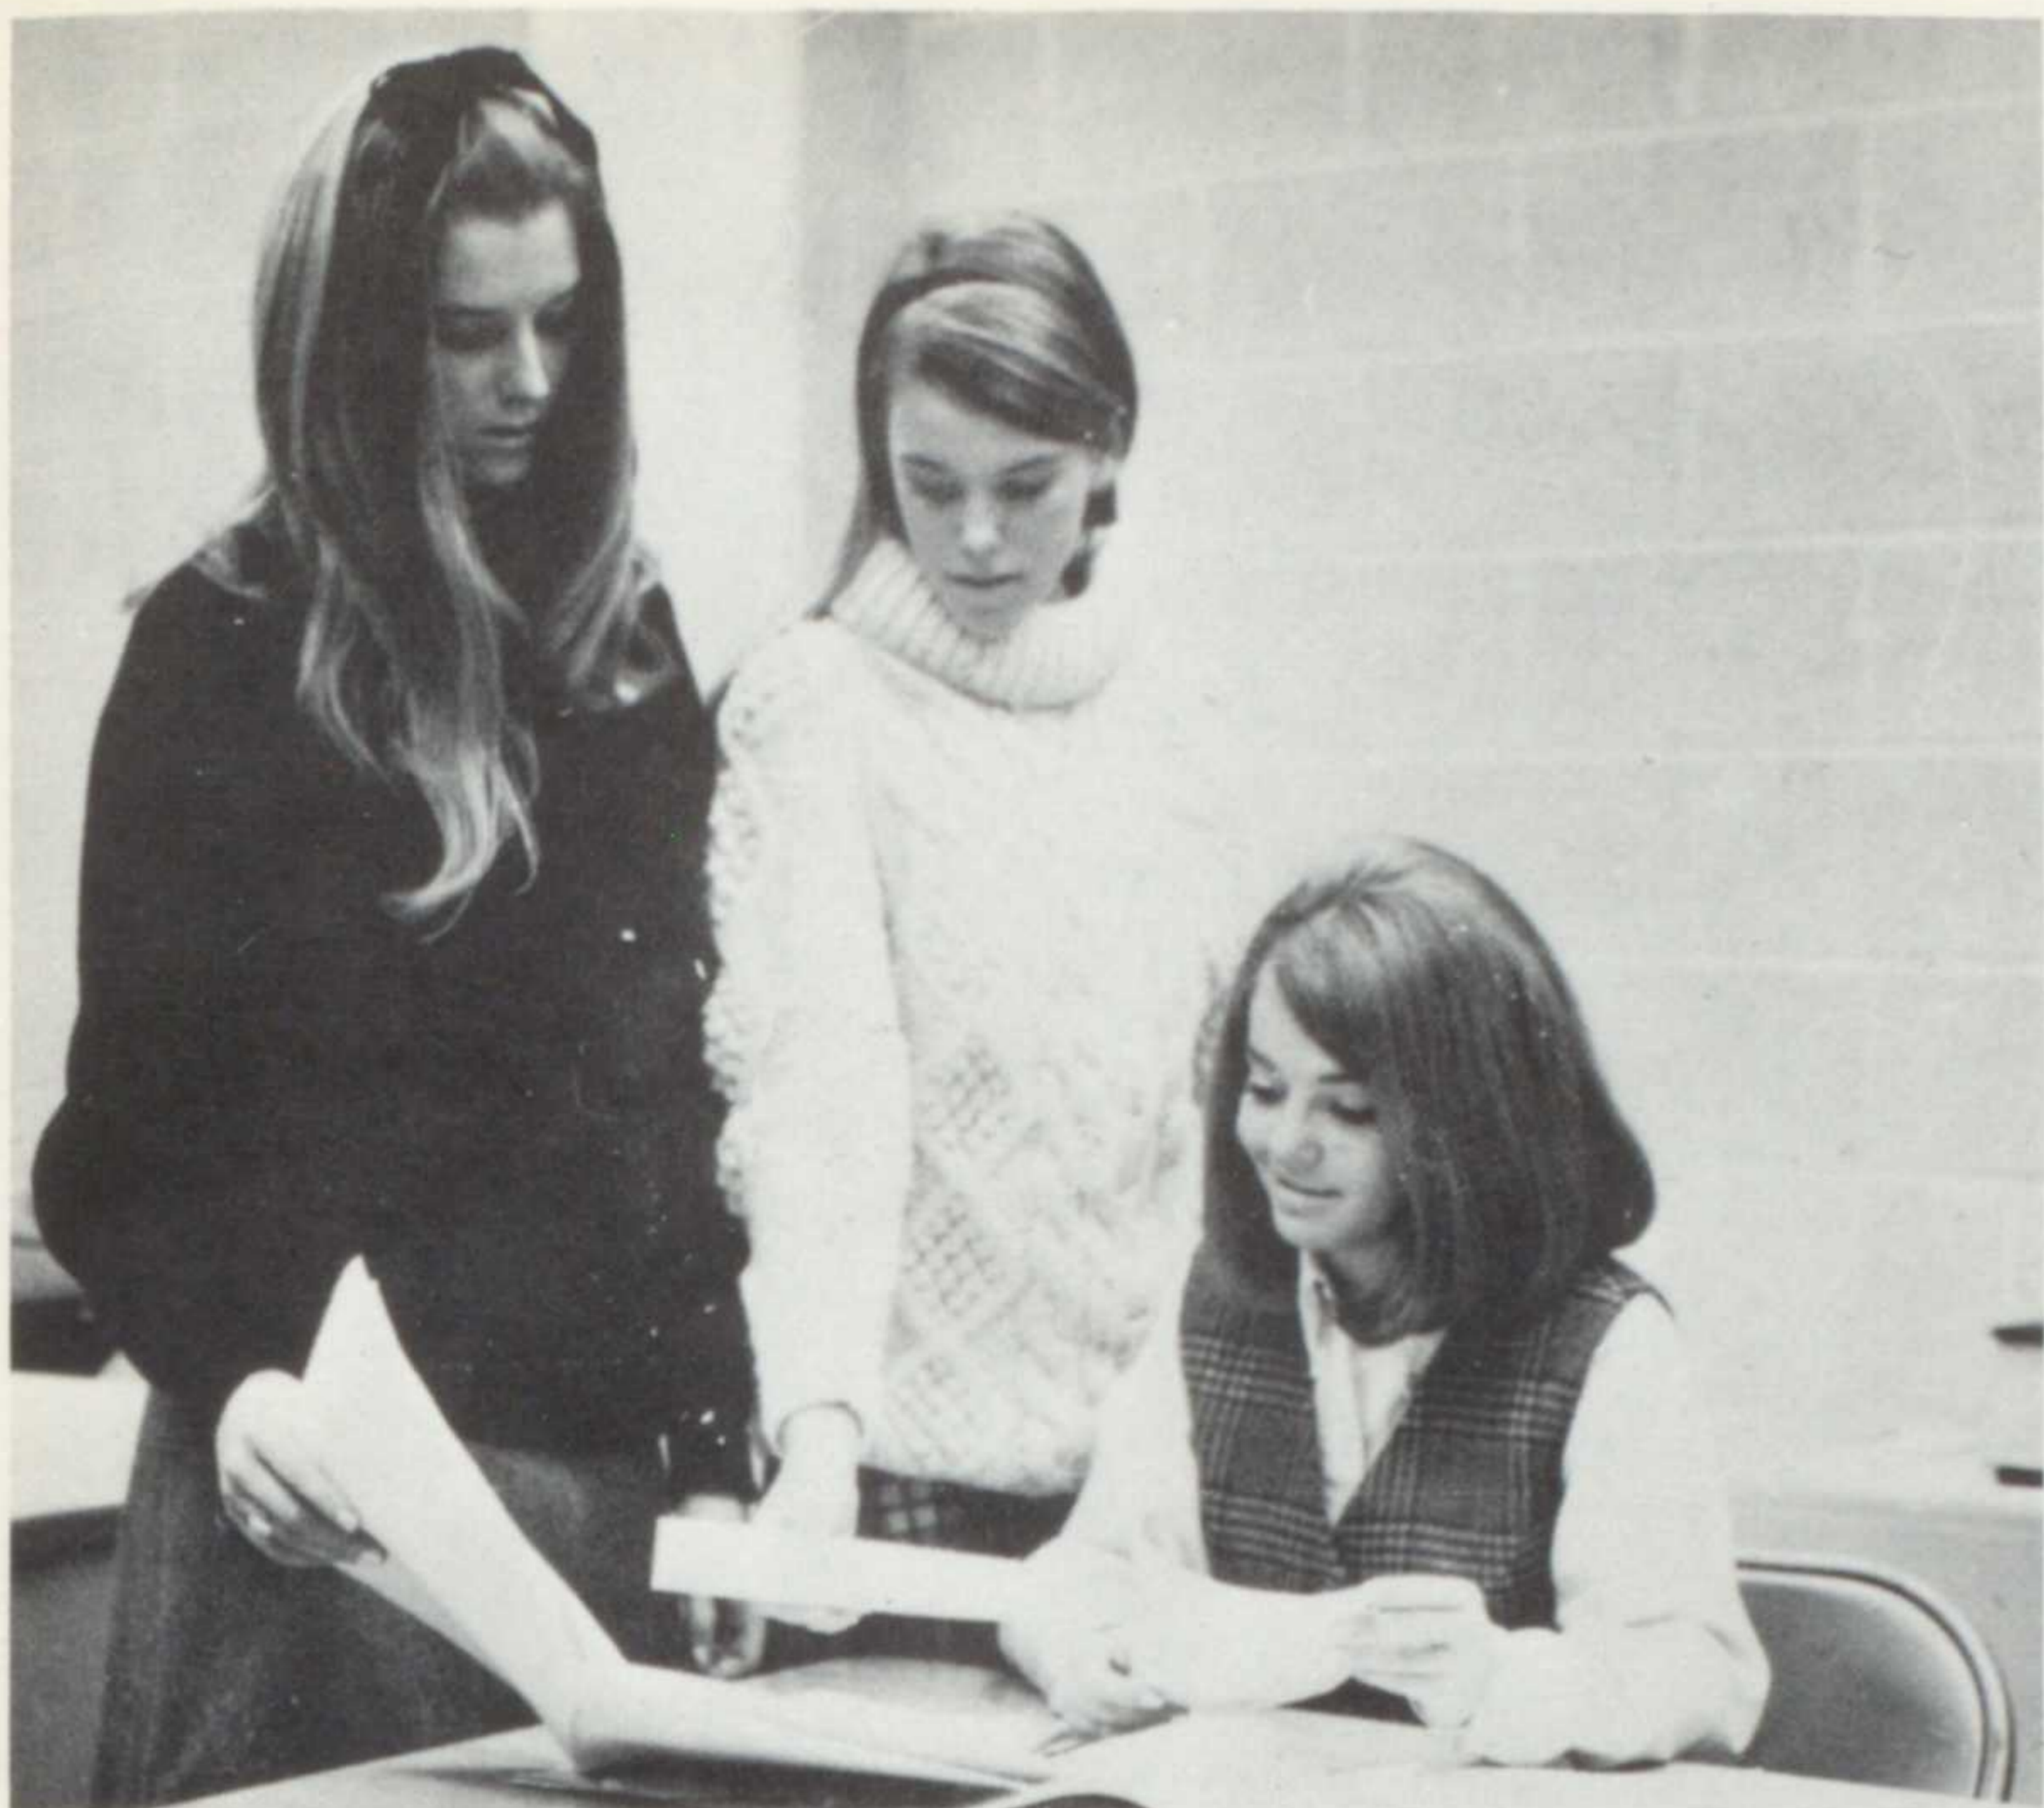

Advisor Mr. Millheim and editor-in-chief Barb Bennett approve final layout.

Bay Window Covers Many Innovations

Mrs. Kellam, advisor, and Gary Wilson, editor-in-chief, puzzle over headlines.

Putting together the Bay Window each week involved many long hours of dedicated staff members and editors. Frequent six page editions required more time and energy. With the new publications room, the staff worked efficiently, showing high degrees of cooperation and imagination. Excellent news coverage outlined the changes and innovations in the new Bay High School.

Fiery editorials drew frequent "Letters to the Editor," expressing the views of many student factions. Highlights of interesting students who would not ordinarily be in the limelight and the regular "Pumpkin's Patch" added color to the feature page. Sports page coverage included varsity, junior varsity and freshman sports. These pages added up to an interesting Bay Window and informed student body.

Carla Hirschfeld, feature ed., Evelyn Hoefke, news ed., and Russ Brannen, sports ed., paste up final copy.

Council Headed Successful Publications

The work of the Publications Council was reflected in the fine quality of the three school publications. The principal, the advisers of the publications and photography, the editors and head photographer work together to set policies and to handle financial affairs for the publications. Along with choosing the campaign staff and coordinators for the publications drive in the fall, the council elected outstanding members to the Quill and Scroll Society and selected staff members for next year.

Consisting of the coaches, administration representatives, and two elected representatives from the senior class, the athletic council effectively organized and coordinated all athletic activities. They directed all the sports banquets and decided about the necessity of new equipment. All problems and suggestions concerning the athletic department were covered by the council in meetings held twice a month.

FCA Developed Character

Learning how to become better persons, members of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes promoted a closer relationship between Christian ideals and athletics. Bi-weekly meetings included speakers and frank discussions among members. During the football season, the boys attended different religious services together each week. The Fellowship of Christian Athletes sponsored an all-school assembly with the New Day folksinging group as members of the Campus Crusade for Christ.

Hicks, J. Horton, S. Gruber, C. Walsh, L. Belser. Row Four: S. Cavano, R. Nelson, R. Perry, S. Kettle, M. Schmid.

To create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to promote fine leadership to develop a desire to offer service, and to encourage development of character are the objectives of the National Honor Society. Ten percent of the senior class and five percent of the junior class were inducted into this nationwide organization of high school students. These students best exemplified the four outstanding qualities through their studies and school activities.

Quill And Scroll Honored Journalists

Inductees performed impromptu skits.

Recognizing students for their outstanding work on the three school publications, the Quill and Scroll Society welcomed thirty-five new members. At the induction ceremony, present members spoke on the qualities of good journalists. In impromptu skits, new members presented take-offs on life at Bay High to complete their initiations.

Buckeye State Teaches Government Process

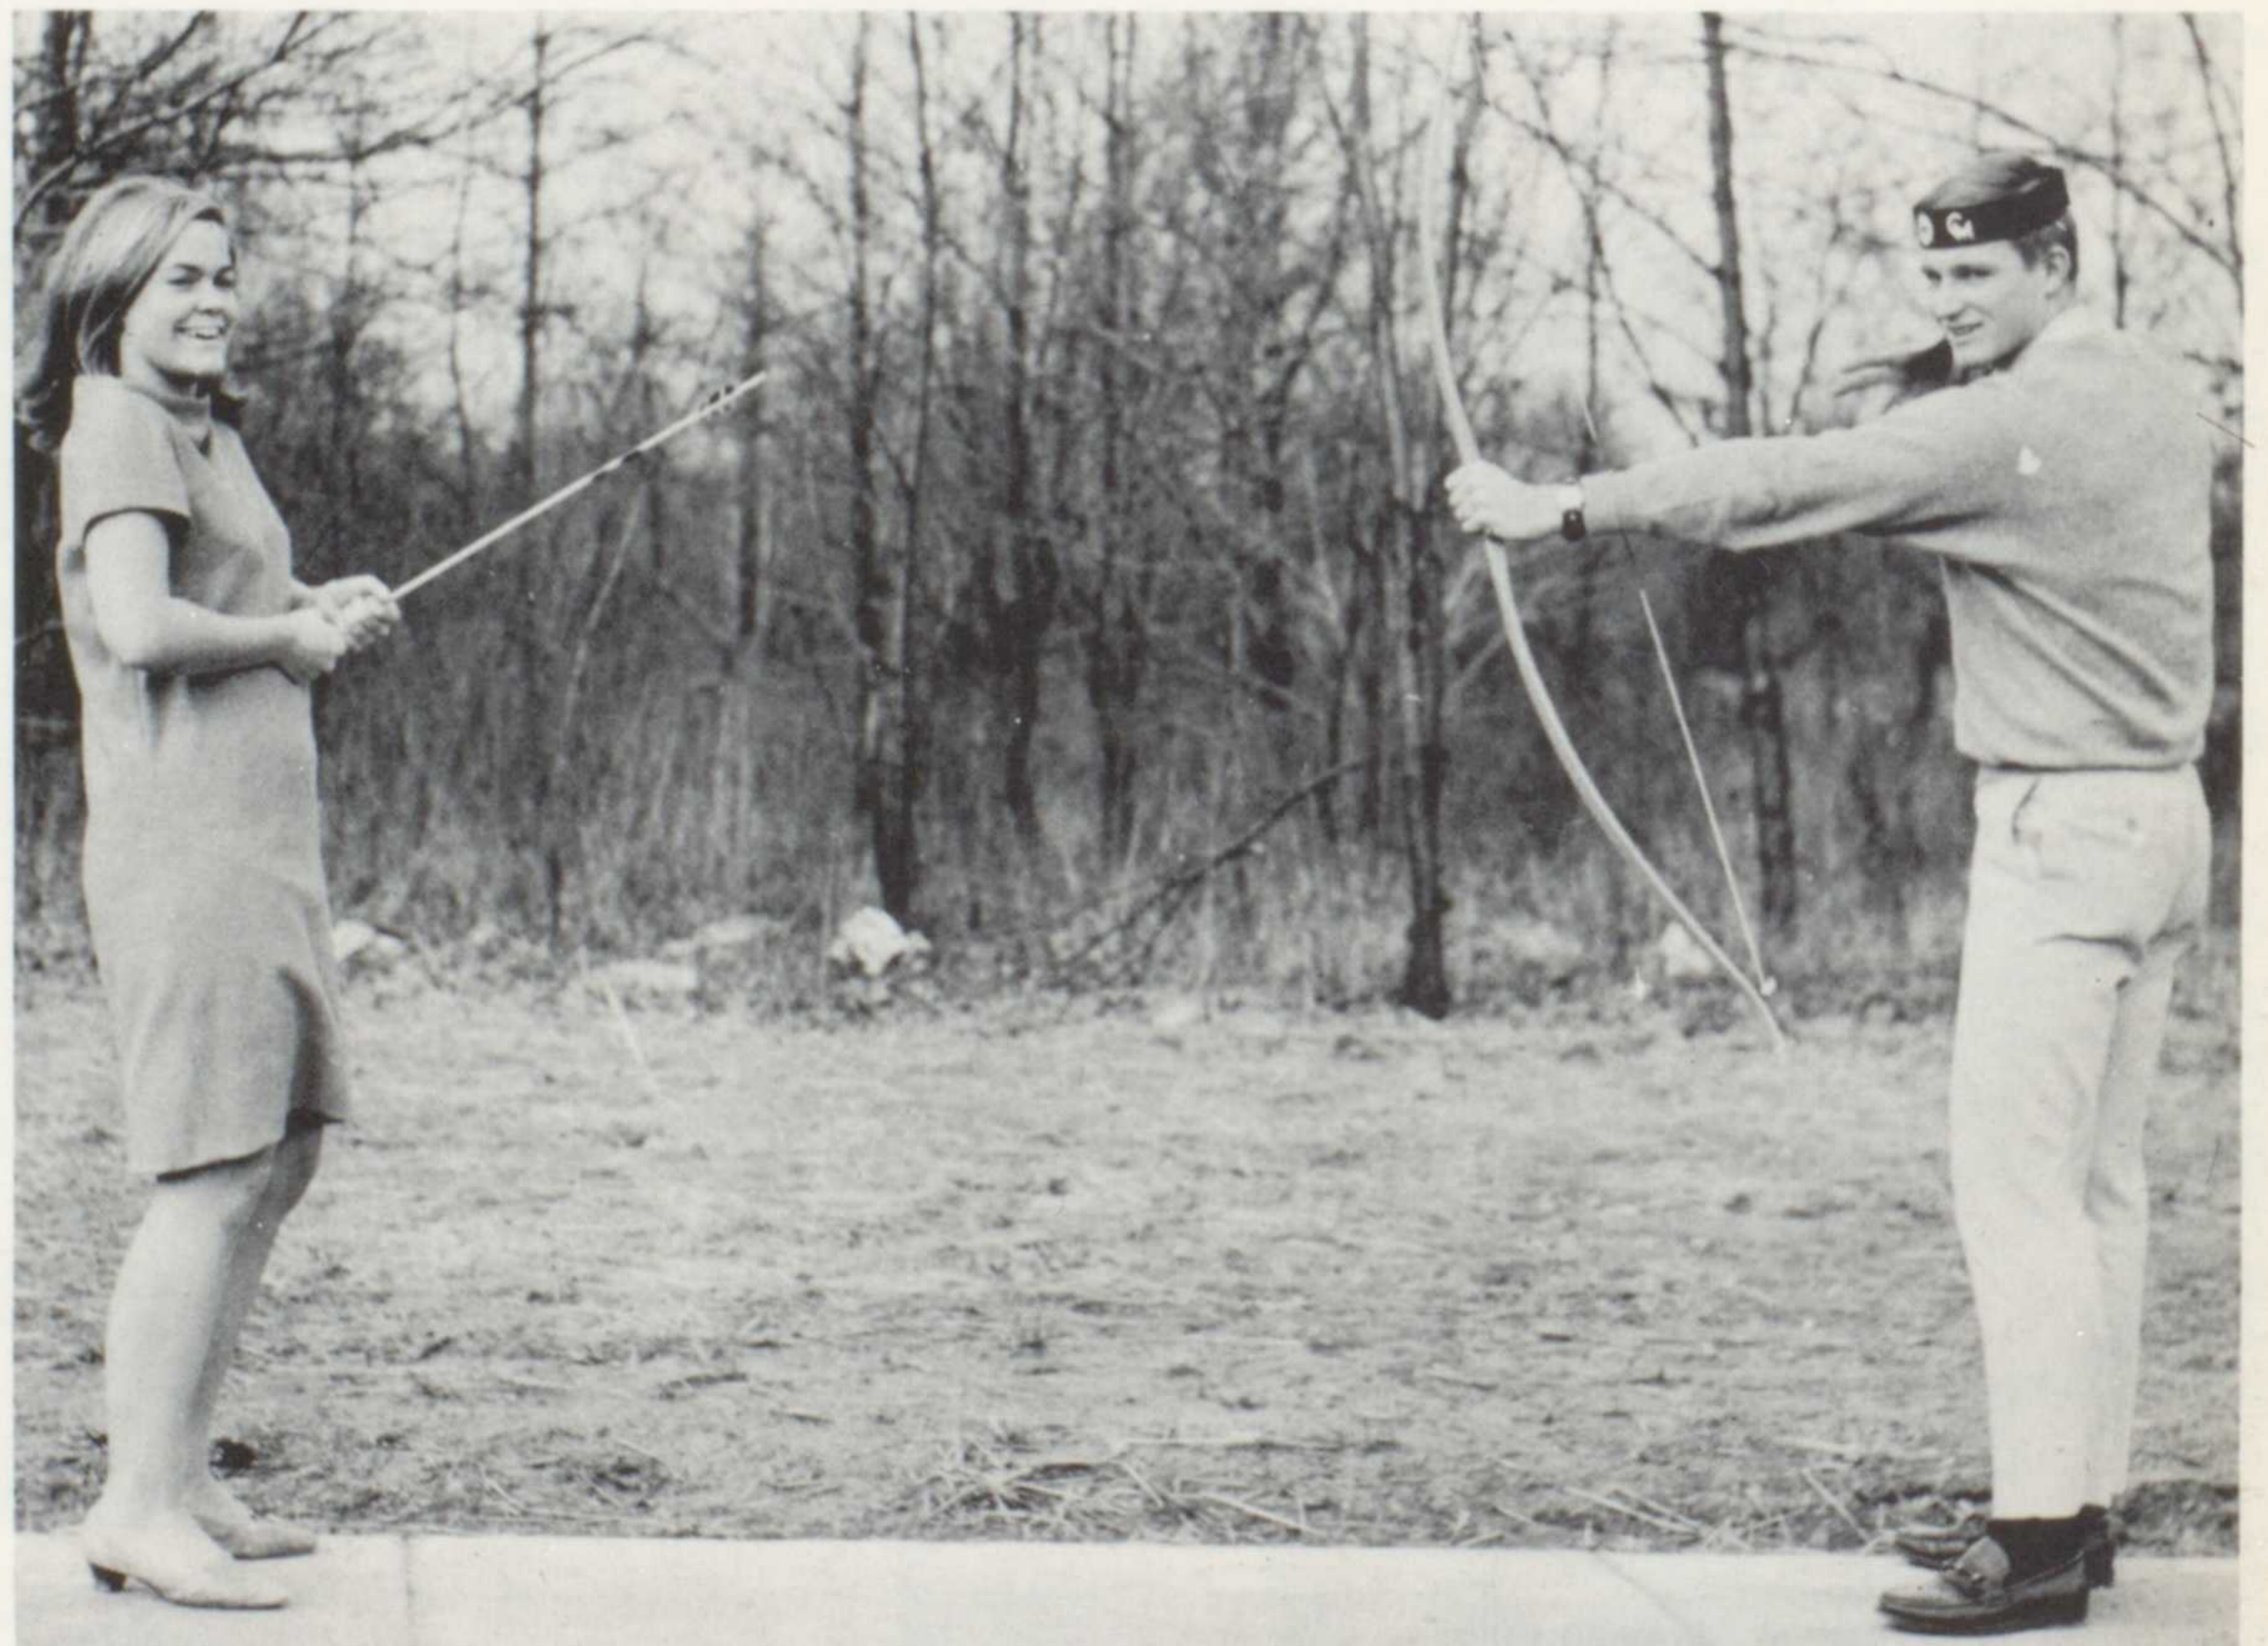

While rewarding students for their interest in American government and their leadership abilities, America's leaders of tomorrow were trained at Buckeye State. Representatives learned the process of Ohio government through speakers. Appreciation for the operations of government grew through active participation in a mock state assembly.

Camp Miniwanca Stresses Leadership

"My own self at my very best all the time" was the main objective of Camp Miniwanca. Representatives were chosen for their character, leadership, service, and scholastic achievement. In classes held each day, the camp stressed fourfold development of body, mind, religion and friendship.

Debbie Bishop and Ned Chapman represented Bay High at Camp Minawanca.

Academic Achievement Honored Students

The Academic Achievement Award was designed to recognize students for their work in the classroom and hours of study. At the annual banquet, the Bay community organizations awarded students who made the honor roll for the first five grading periods. Different types of pins indicated the level of achievement: first year award was bronze, second year silver, and third year gold. This recognition spurred students on to higher achievements.

Seniors Received Letters Of Commendation

For their high academic achievement on the National Merit Tests, twelve seniors received Letters of Commendation, the highest number ever at Bay High. These students scored in the top two per cent of those taking the test in the nation. The tests covered English, Mathematics, Social Studies, and Natural Sciences. The Letters of Commendation bettered these students' chances for college scholarships.

Medical Careers Stimulated Professional Interests

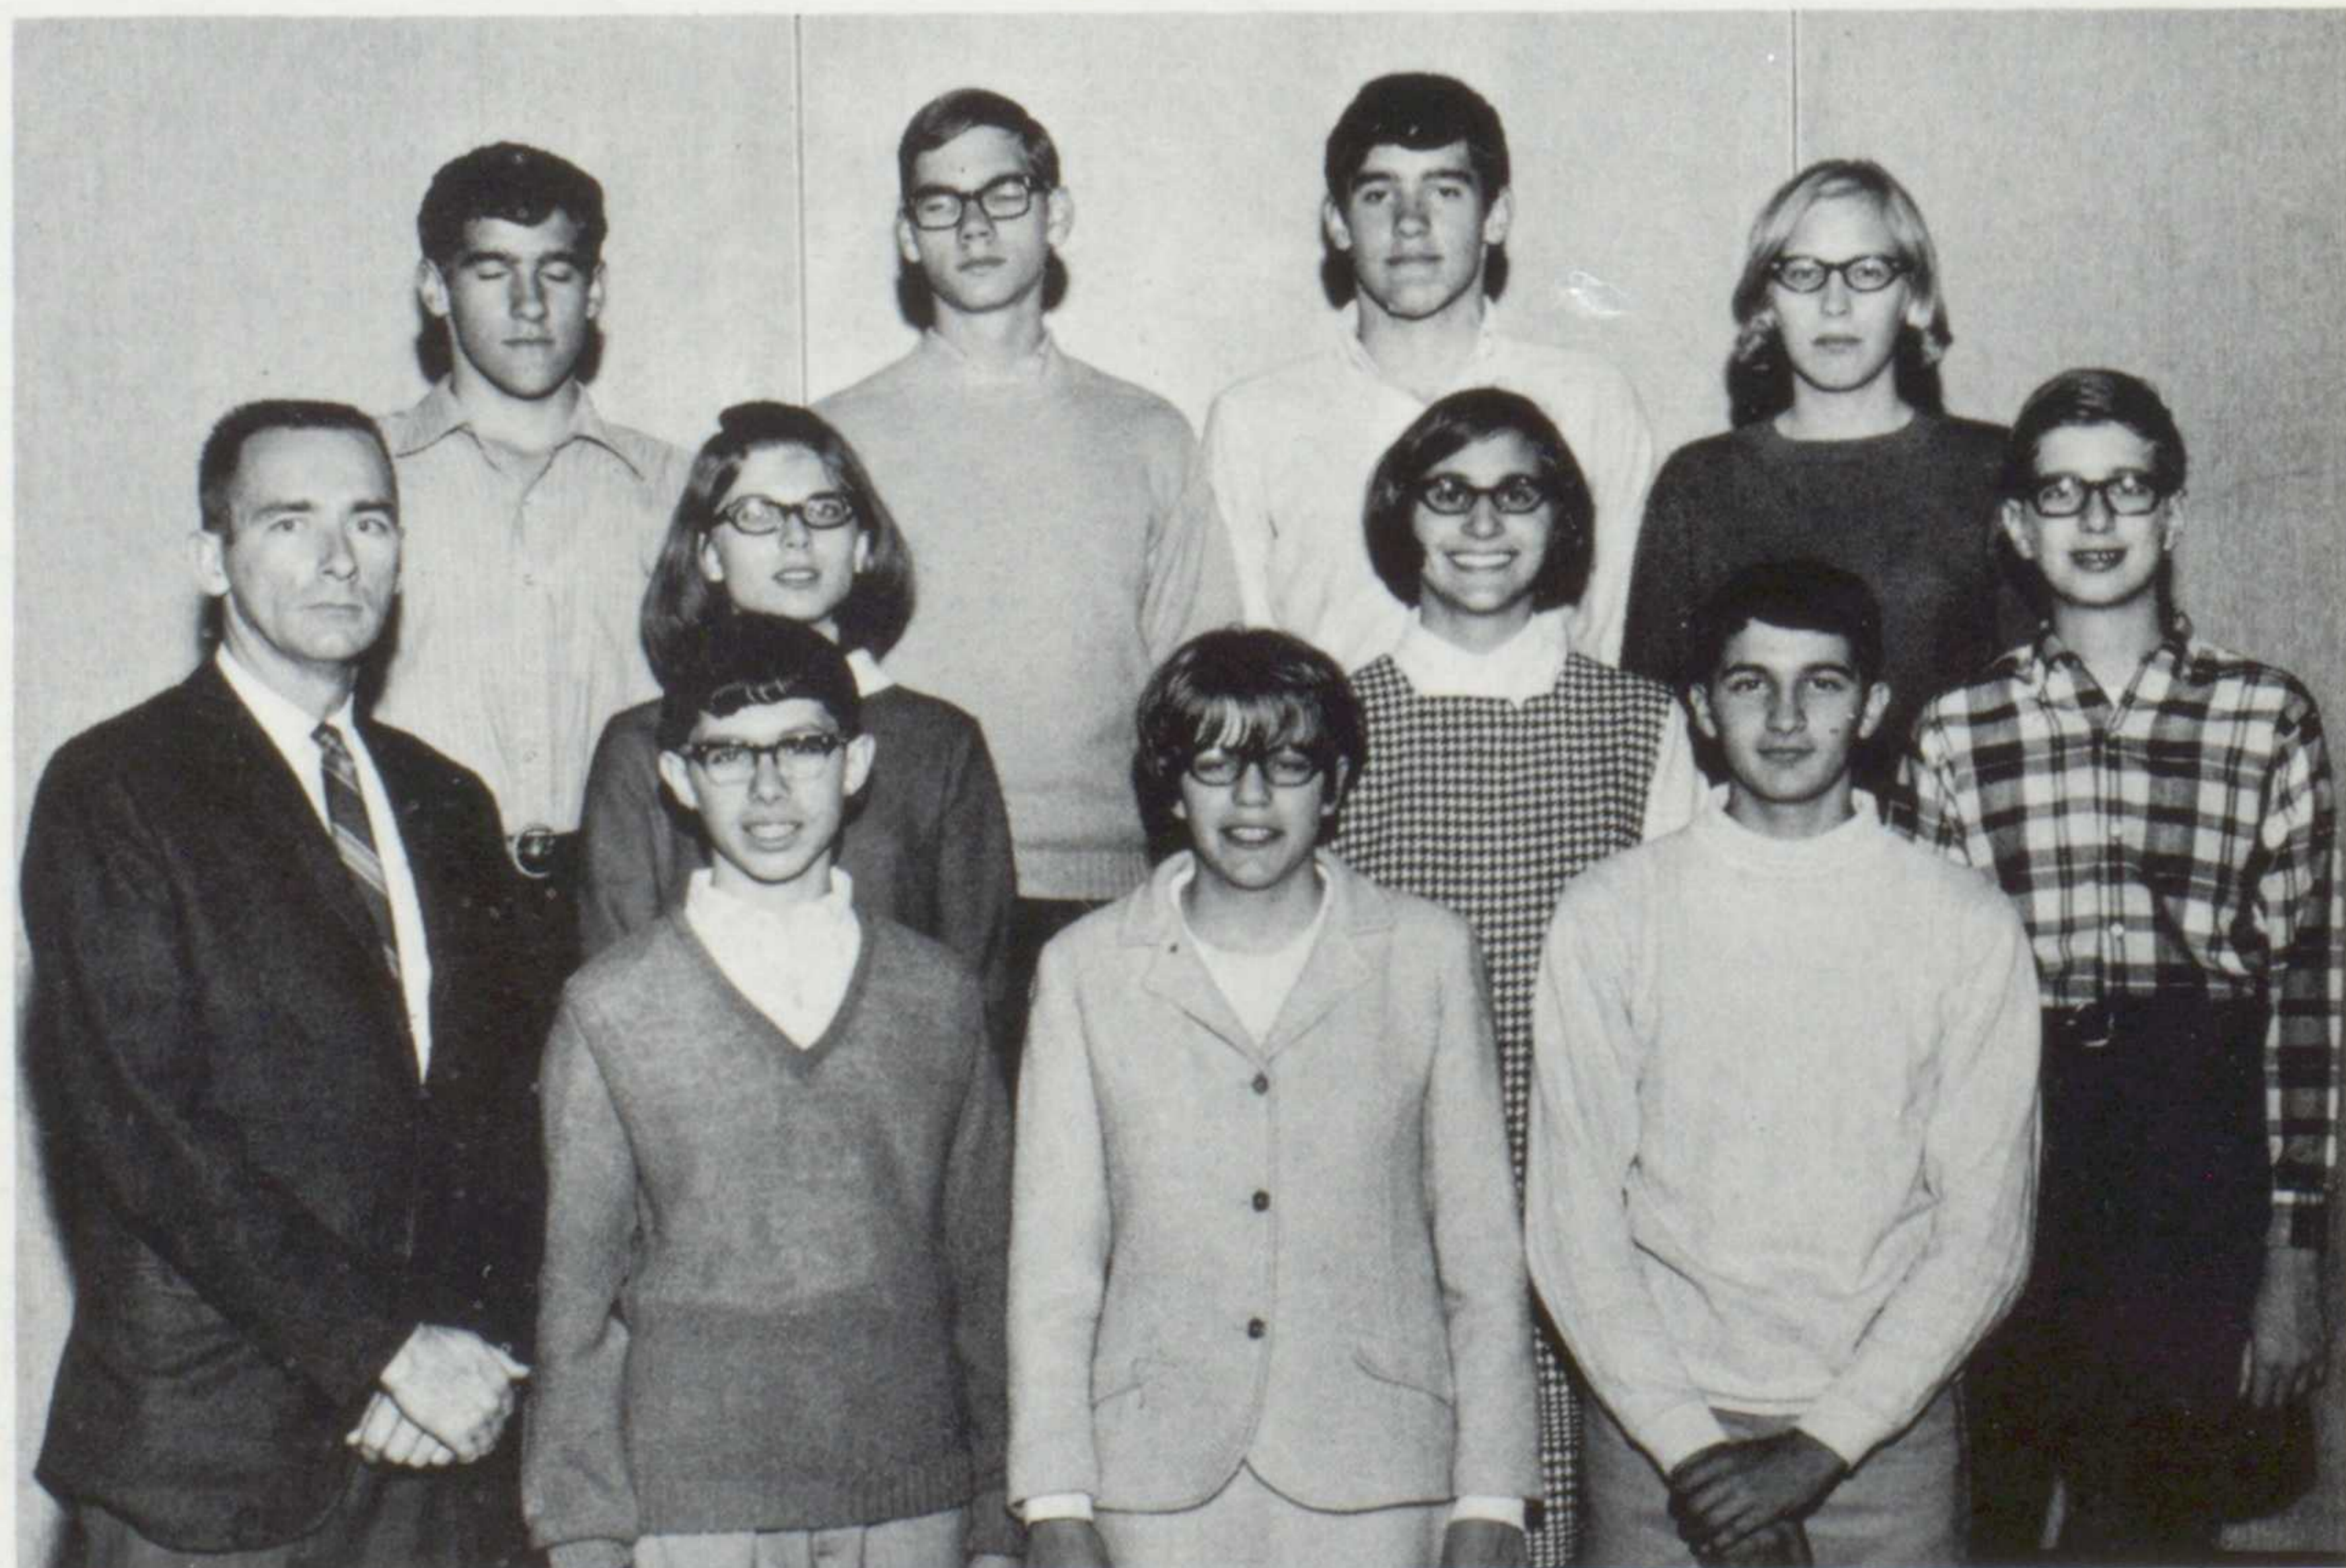

Students aiming for a career in medicine met others who shared their interest in the Medical Careers Club. This year the club learned much of the many opportunities in the field of medicine. Speakers on various subjects dealing with medicine and health careers were included at several meetings.

Science Club Increased Knowledge

Field trips, projects, and experiments caught Science Club members' interest and increased their knowledge in many fields of science. While growing crystals and raising a boa constrictor, each member had an opportunity to work in any area of science that he wished. Members explored the wonders of science in excursions to the Aquariums and the Natural History Museum.

Business Club Inspired Career Interests

Offering students insight of many business vocations was the purpose of the Business Club. Since the business courses included many of the club's activities, members devoted their efforts to improve the business department. Funds earned at an after-game dance furnished Gregg Awards, dictionaries, tapes and records.

BUSINESS CLUB. Front Row: M. Ferenci, sec.; P. Holmes, v. pres.; S. Hunsdorf, treas. Row Two: C. James, M. Friswold, B. Ditzel, L. Dowman, R. Bye. Row Three: J. Brueggemann.

As one of the most active clubs in the school, the American Field Service raised funds to send Bay High students abroad and to finance foreign students' trips here. AFS undertook two major projects to raise these funds: the underclassmen pictures and the annual talent show in April. As AFS representatives from Bay, Jean Barker spent her summer in Greece, while Dan Webster spent his in Holland. Bay High welcomed Marian Andersen from Denmark and Giampaolo Galli from Italy. Jenni Teschner and Bob Urquhardt awaited learning their destinations as semi-finalist's for the summer program. An after-game dance and reception during the football season, and a bonfire and hootenanny brought AFS members together.

Accompanied by Carla Hirschfeld, president of AFS, Marian Andersen and Gippi Galli are recognized at halftime of a football game dedicated to them.

Marian and Gippi welcomed our newest exchange student Raja Sibai from Lebanon.

Bay's AFS candidates, Jenni Teschner and Bob Urquhart filled out many application forms.

The Art Club was designed for creative students who wished to further develop their artistic talents. By taking field trips to art shows, and calling upon local artists for lectures, members gained a greater appreciation for all types of art. The various projects undertaken by the members tested their talents, taste, and imaginative abilities.

Photography Club Exposes Life At Bay

The Photography Club received a larger dark room and better facilities this year in the new school. Younger members became proficient with photographic equipment as future photographers for the school publications. With camera in hand, photographers covered all important school events to get the perfect picture for the BAY WINDOW and BLUE BOOK.

While Sherry Gruber listens in, student teachers relate their experiences.

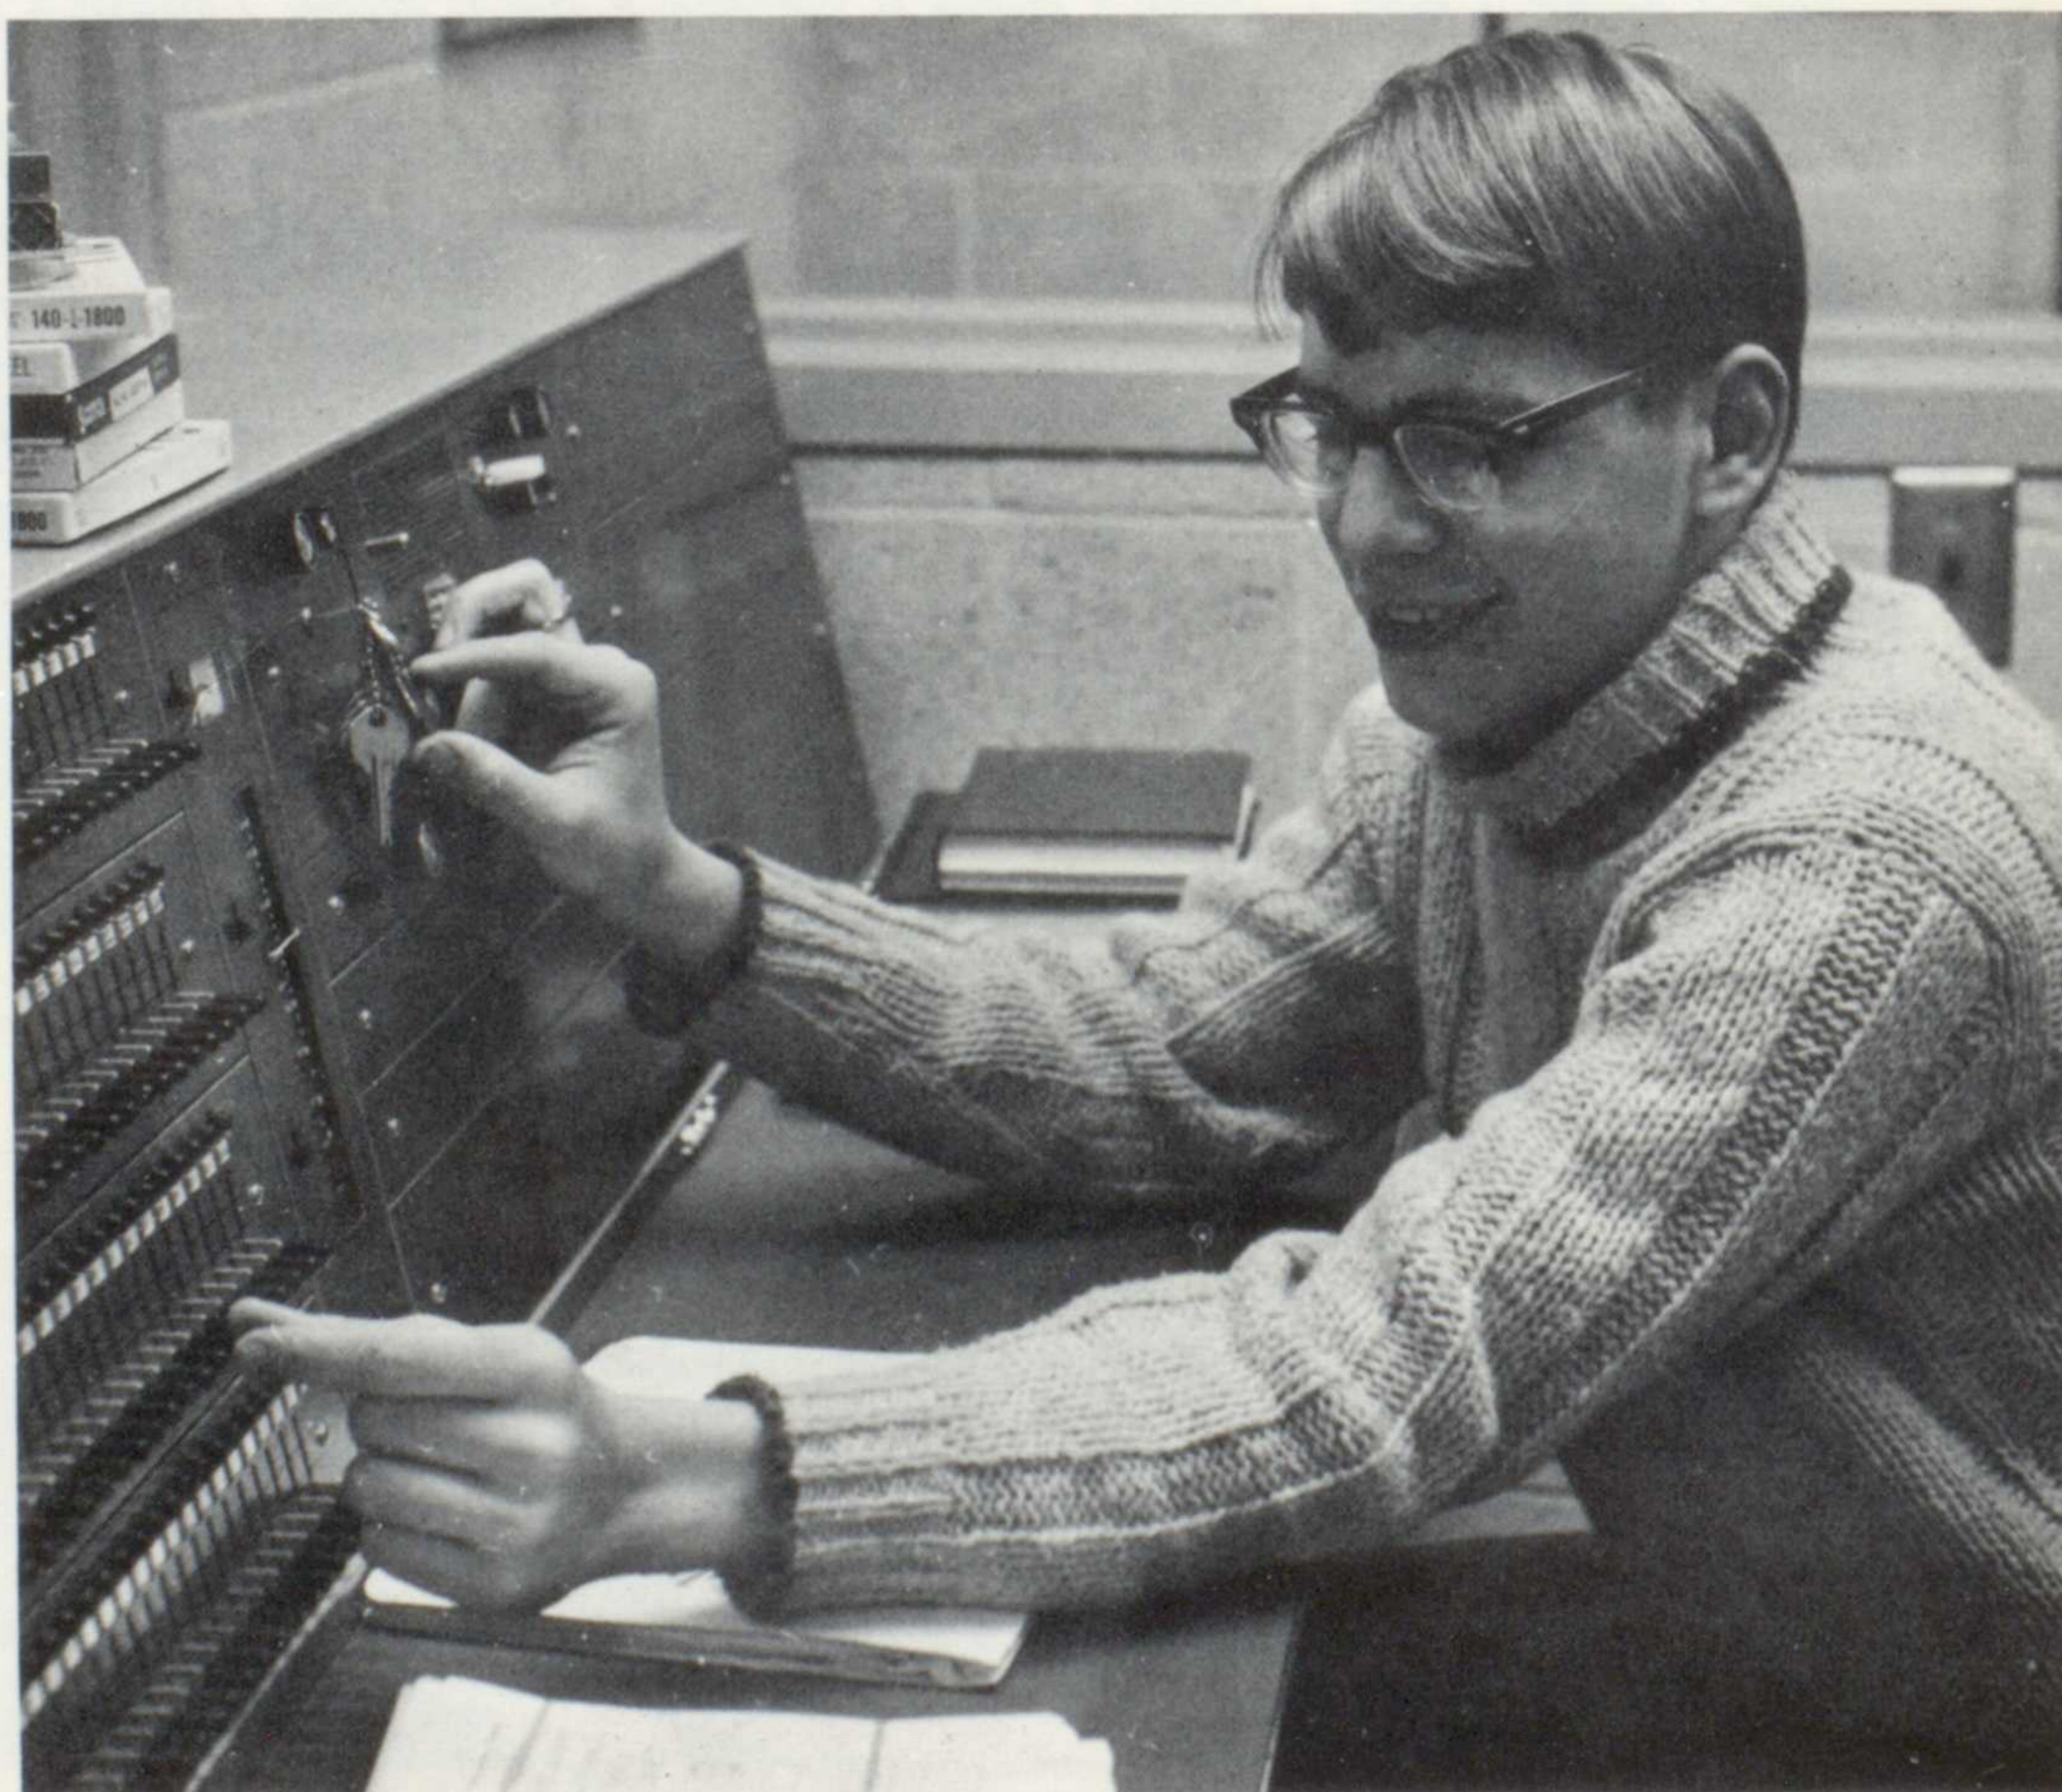

Pursuing their interests in educational careers, members of Future Teachers of America gained valuable insights and experiences. A field trip to WVIZ, the educational television studio, and a panel discussion of student teachers revealed first impressions and rewards of teaching. An enlarged and active membership served the school as teacher aids and tutors. Substituting for teachers formed their own first impressions of teaching careers.

Two newly formed organizations, a second choir and the Glee Club, ultimately prepared students for choir. The second choir, entitled the Blue and White Chorale was composed of members from all four classes. They performed at the Christmas and spring choir concerts as did the Glee Club or Girls' Chorus. Under the direction of Mr. Curtis Crews, freshman girls learned the essentials of good singing in the Girls' Chorus.

In harmonizing their voices in song, Choir members widened their musical experience and enjoyment. Funds from the annual bottle drive went towards a prized Steinway grand piano. As an entertaining and educational experience, the Bay High School Choir joined choirs of Avon Lake and North Olmsted in the fifth annual Chorale Symposium. The combined choirs performed under the direction of Mr. Ivan Trussler, Bowling Green State University's chorale director. For the first time, the "singing Christmas tree" traveled out of Bay to the Cleveland Sheraton Hotel. A candlelight procession, the "singing Christmas tree" and an accompanying brass ensemble highlighted the Christmas concert. Hours of rehearsals went into the choir musical and Spring concert. With a breakfast honoring senior members and welcoming new members, the year for the choir ended.

The choir forms its well-known "Christmas tree" during the holiday concert.

Choraleers Entertained Many By Singing

The Choraleers, seventeen talented singers of the choir, blended their voices for vocal enrichment. As representatives of Bay High School and the Choir, the Choraleers performed at the annual Choral Symposium with selected singers of the North Olmsted and Avon Lake Choirs. During the Christmas season, the Choraleers' appearances included caroling at the Christmas Concert, Manner's Restaurant, and Bay teachers' homes. Their talents were judged in the Solo Ensemble Contest held by the Ohio Music Education Association.

Monitors Perform Office Errands

By giving time and energy, the Office and Guidance Monitors aided in the efficient operation of the main office and the Guidance Office. Office Monitors collected and checked attendance slips and delivered notes and passes along with a new duty. For each period one monitor was permanently posted at the telephone switchboard. Running errands and manning telephones, the Guidance Monitors helped to keep the Guidance Office running smoothly.

Assisting the librarians and students, members of the Library Club added to the convenience of the new LRC. Members served before and after school and during free periods. Three aids served every period at an assigned post this year. Behind the desk, they checked out books and pamphlets. They kept things orderly while getting materials for students in the magazine room. They shelved stacks of books and ran errands for the librarians.

Speakers Bureau Informed Students

Keeping the students informed of future events was the duty of the Speaker's Bureau. Students who had taken either speech or dramatics were eligible to try out at the beginning of the year. Chosen for their ability in public speaking, they gave the morning announcements over the public address system.

Thespians, an honorary dramatics organization, instilled interest and appreciation for dramatic arts. To earn the required ten points to become Thespians, neophytes put on skits and parts of plays at meetings, and worked in school productions constructing sets, acting, and selling tickets. Club activities included two initiation banquets and two trips to the Cleveland Playhouse to see "The Birthday Party" by Harold Pinter and "The Zoo Story" by Edward Albee. The Thespians' fall play, "Night Must Fall" by Emlyn Williams was the best ever performed at Bay High. Danny, the main character, is a gentle young man who lives in a dream world. As the murder mystery at Forest Corner is solved, Danny's world is smashed by reality for 'night must fall.'

The United Appeal Drive was a time for students to show that they cared by contributing to the combined campaign serving not only underprivileged areas but also their own community. The colorful cast of the "Give-In," a takeoff on Rowan and Martin's "Laugh-In," urged students to give at the United Appeal assembly. The clinking of coins and appeals over the P.A. to give could be heard from homeroom each morning. Although the United Appeal Drive failed to reach its goal, an all out effort was made to reach the student body.

In the United Appeal Assembly the "Give-In Girls" gave their fullest in order to make the drive a success.

Snowball Is "Christmas In Camelot"

The warm feeling of giving and friendship was experienced many times by members of the Junior and Senior Y-Teens clubs. The two clubs combined to canvass Bay for canned foods to be given to poor families on Thanksgiving. Junior Y-Teens took children from Riverside Housing Project to sing Christmas carols at the Lutheran Old Folks Home. Senior Y-Teens baked Christmas cookies for the Student Council Christmas project and took underprivileged children to the zoo. In surprise come as you are breakfasts, Junior and Senior Y-Teens officers popped in early Saturday morning to wake girls for the party. The Snowball was an enchanted "Christmas in Camelot" complete with a silver castle and courtyard.

To grow as a person, in fellowship with all men and with the knowledge and love of God was the purpose of the Y-Teens Club. The Freshman Y-Teens made a Thanksgiving basket for a poor family and gave a party for underprivileged children. Fun was the main objective a nickle-and-nibble potluck and a splash party. The Sophomore

Y-Teens gained satisfaction through a visit to the Bradley Road Old Folks home and took charge of refreshments at the Snowball. Along with the other three clubs, they heard Coach Llewellyn's talk on football and sold potato chips in a city-wide sale.

Linda Belser, with her escort Kirk Shepard, reigned as Snowball Queen.

Pat Groya served as a model while Y-Teens were given make-up tips.

The Snowball's junior attendant was Lori Teutsch whose escort was Lowell Dillon.

Sophomore attendant was Alison Case who was escorted by Kevin Morely.

Channelling school spirit toward a Bay victory, the Pep Club worked Thursdays after school to fill the halls with signs for every athletic event. Members held a pep breakfast and sectioned off a portion of the stands at each game for the most enthusiastic fans during the football season. Tokens of support—decorated goalposts and field house, encouraging notes to each player, cookies and cake left in the field house and locker room, and a red carpet for the basketball team incited teams to win.

Cutting-out paper rockets for the players' lockers was one of the major pre-game activities.

Girls chosen for their exceptional athletic skills and knowledge of game rules served as teacher aids in the physical education department. Leaders helped by taking attendance and by keeping the locker room in order. While leading exercises, demonstrating skills, and refereeing games, girls gained experience in working with others and in leadership.

While Sue Cavano checks attendance, Sue Kettle leads exercises.

GAA Promotes Sportsmanship

The exhilaration of action and friendly competition made the Girls' Athletic Association a popular after school activity. Programs included group and individual sports for both the ninth and tenth grade club and the eleventh and twelfth grade club. Volleyball and basketball tournaments in the winter and softball games in the spring united girls in teams. Learning to knot an arrow and to swing a golf club, girls developed individual skills.

The Rockettes, the drill team of junior and senior girls, learned and perfected their routines until each kick was executed with precision and grace. With a flurry of blue and white pom poms, the Rockettes performed to "Mame" and "Girl Watchers" at football half-time shows. They received the honor of appearing at the Cleveland Browns-New Orleans Saints football game. To the tune of "The Old Piano Roll Blues," the Rockettes entertained at the first basketball game held in the new gymnasium.

Cheerleaders Kept The Spirit High

As the basketball team won another game, the cheerleaders proclaimed "VICTORY!"

With unmatched spirit, the Varsity Cheerleaders linked enthusiastic fans with the athletes on the football field and basketball court. A new method of choosing cheerleaders, selecting the most talented girls of either grade, resulted in the unusual combination of two seniors and four juniors. At after school pep assemblies, these girls maintained school spirit under the difficult situation of an uncompleted gym. Their efforts helped spur the Rockets on to successful seasons.

The cheerleaders never failed to keep the excitement high with their spirited chants.

With enthusiastic cheers and high leaps, the Freshman and Junior Varsity Cheerleaders urged their teams on to victory. Selected for their pep and agility, these girls put in many hours of practice. In the summer, they learned routines on the lawns of Bay Middle School; their shouts echoed through the empty gym after school during the fall and winter. Their bright faces and liveliness ignited school spirit for the Freshman and Junior Varsity football and basketball games.

During football season, the majorettes twirled to such tunes as "Hang on Sloopy".

Cheryl Muscenti and Carol Haberstroh twirled with River majorettes at the Cleveland stadium.

Under the direction of Mrs. Maxine Seibel, the majorettes began practices in June and put their routines to music at band practices in August. Twirling and tossing their batons to "Mission Impossible" and "Sloopy," the girls performed at pre-game and half-time shows during football games. Their blue flags furred in the wind while the crowds stood for the Bay Alma Mater. This year the majorettes also performed with the band at the Cleveland Browns—New Orleans Saints Football Game.

The members of the Symphonic Band were a select group of instrumentalists from the ninth through the twelfth grade chosen for their playing ability. Their appearances included the winter and spring concerts and a joint concert with Fairview Park and Avon Lake. They displayed their high instrumental achievement at the district contests in Avon Lake. Their stately music graced commencement ceremonies. Members found enjoyment and rewards in musical expression through the Symphonic Band.

Student director, David Wang, led the band in preparation for the winter concert.

Although the freshman football team got off to a slow and disappointing start, they corrected their mistakes and soon orbited to success. They placed second in the conference, illustrating the driving spirit and enthusiasm of the team. An explosive 14-6 upset over the previously undefeated North Olmsted Eagles was the unequalled high point of the season. Another smashing victory in the last game over Rocky River by a score of 16-0 definitely ended the season happily. Coaches Mr. John Bogovich and Mr. Alan Schneider worked hard teaching the inexperienced team the fundamentals of football, feeling that the boys had much potential. The coordination of a stubborn defense and an aggressive offense rocketed the freshman football team through a successful season.

A terrific season, resulting in the fourth successive Southwestern Conference title, was made possible by the 1968 junior varsity football team under Coaches Mr. William Polk and Mr. William Buttermore. Team effort and an outstanding defensive squad successfully shut out five of their nine opponents. The high point of the season was the 47-6 victory over North Olmsted. Due to the tie with Avon Lake early in the season, the tension grew as both teams soared undefeated. When the Shoremen finished with no losses, the Rockets had one game remaining; the championship depended on beating Rocky River. In this critical game with only one referee, the team muscled its way to a 14-0 victory to share the S.W.C. crown with Avon Lake.

One of the most well-balanced teams ever coached by Mr. Jack Llewellyn at Bay High, entered the season with great hopes for the Southwestern Conference championship. Easily riding over Berea and Rhodes, the Rockets tested their strength in two non-conference games. Revenging last year's only loss, the team launched its attempt for the crown by whipping Avon Lake 27-0. The team's battering ground game and high spirits wrapped up three more victories before challenging the top contender for the championship. Battling hard in driving rain, the Rockets' efforts were not enough to bring down the North Olmsted Eagles. The team bounced back in the last two games of the season to show their spirit and strength. With victories over Olmsted Falls and Rocky River, the team brought home individual honors and a successful second place finish in the conference.

With only three returning lettermen, the Cross Country team's lack of experience was the greatest challenge faced by Mr. Robert Adams in his second year as coach. Grueling practices began in August on the Cahoon Park course, one of the roughest in the conference. Challenging teams were found to be up from last year with the exception of Avon Lake. They were soundly trounced by the Harriers in an early-season meet. Although some improvement was shown during the season, not enough could be mustered to push Bay to the top of the league. The important District Meet matched the team against some of the area's toughest competition. Spirit ran high, but despite its tremendous effort, the team placed only seventh in the league.

WON 11 LOST 3

Under the direction of Coach Conrad Adler, the freshmen basketball team finished the season with an 11-3 record. Every player saw action in nearly every game, keeping morale high and adding depth to the team. Revenging an earlier trouncing by Medina, the Rockets showed improvement during the season with a 37-33 victory over the Bees. Bay never trailed against Rocky River for an impressive 44-30 victory. Winning four games by only two points, the Frosh team kept excitement and spirit at their peaks.

The leadership of Coach Ron Rush brought the junior varsity cagers to an enviable 14-3 finish for the '68-'69 season. (With enormous amounts of energy and drive, the Rockets finished second in the Conference with their only loss to league titled Medina.) A double victory over menacing River highlighted the season. In a decisive victory over Lorain, the J.V.'s stopped a Buckeye Conference team for the first time. The Rockets demonstrated a tremendous scoring ability in a 70-47 victory over Westlake, and a 60-40 victory over Avon Lake. The poise and confidence displayed by each member and the distinguished efforts of Bob Williams and Tim Zannes made this a good year for the J.V.'s.

BAY VARSITY BASKETBALL

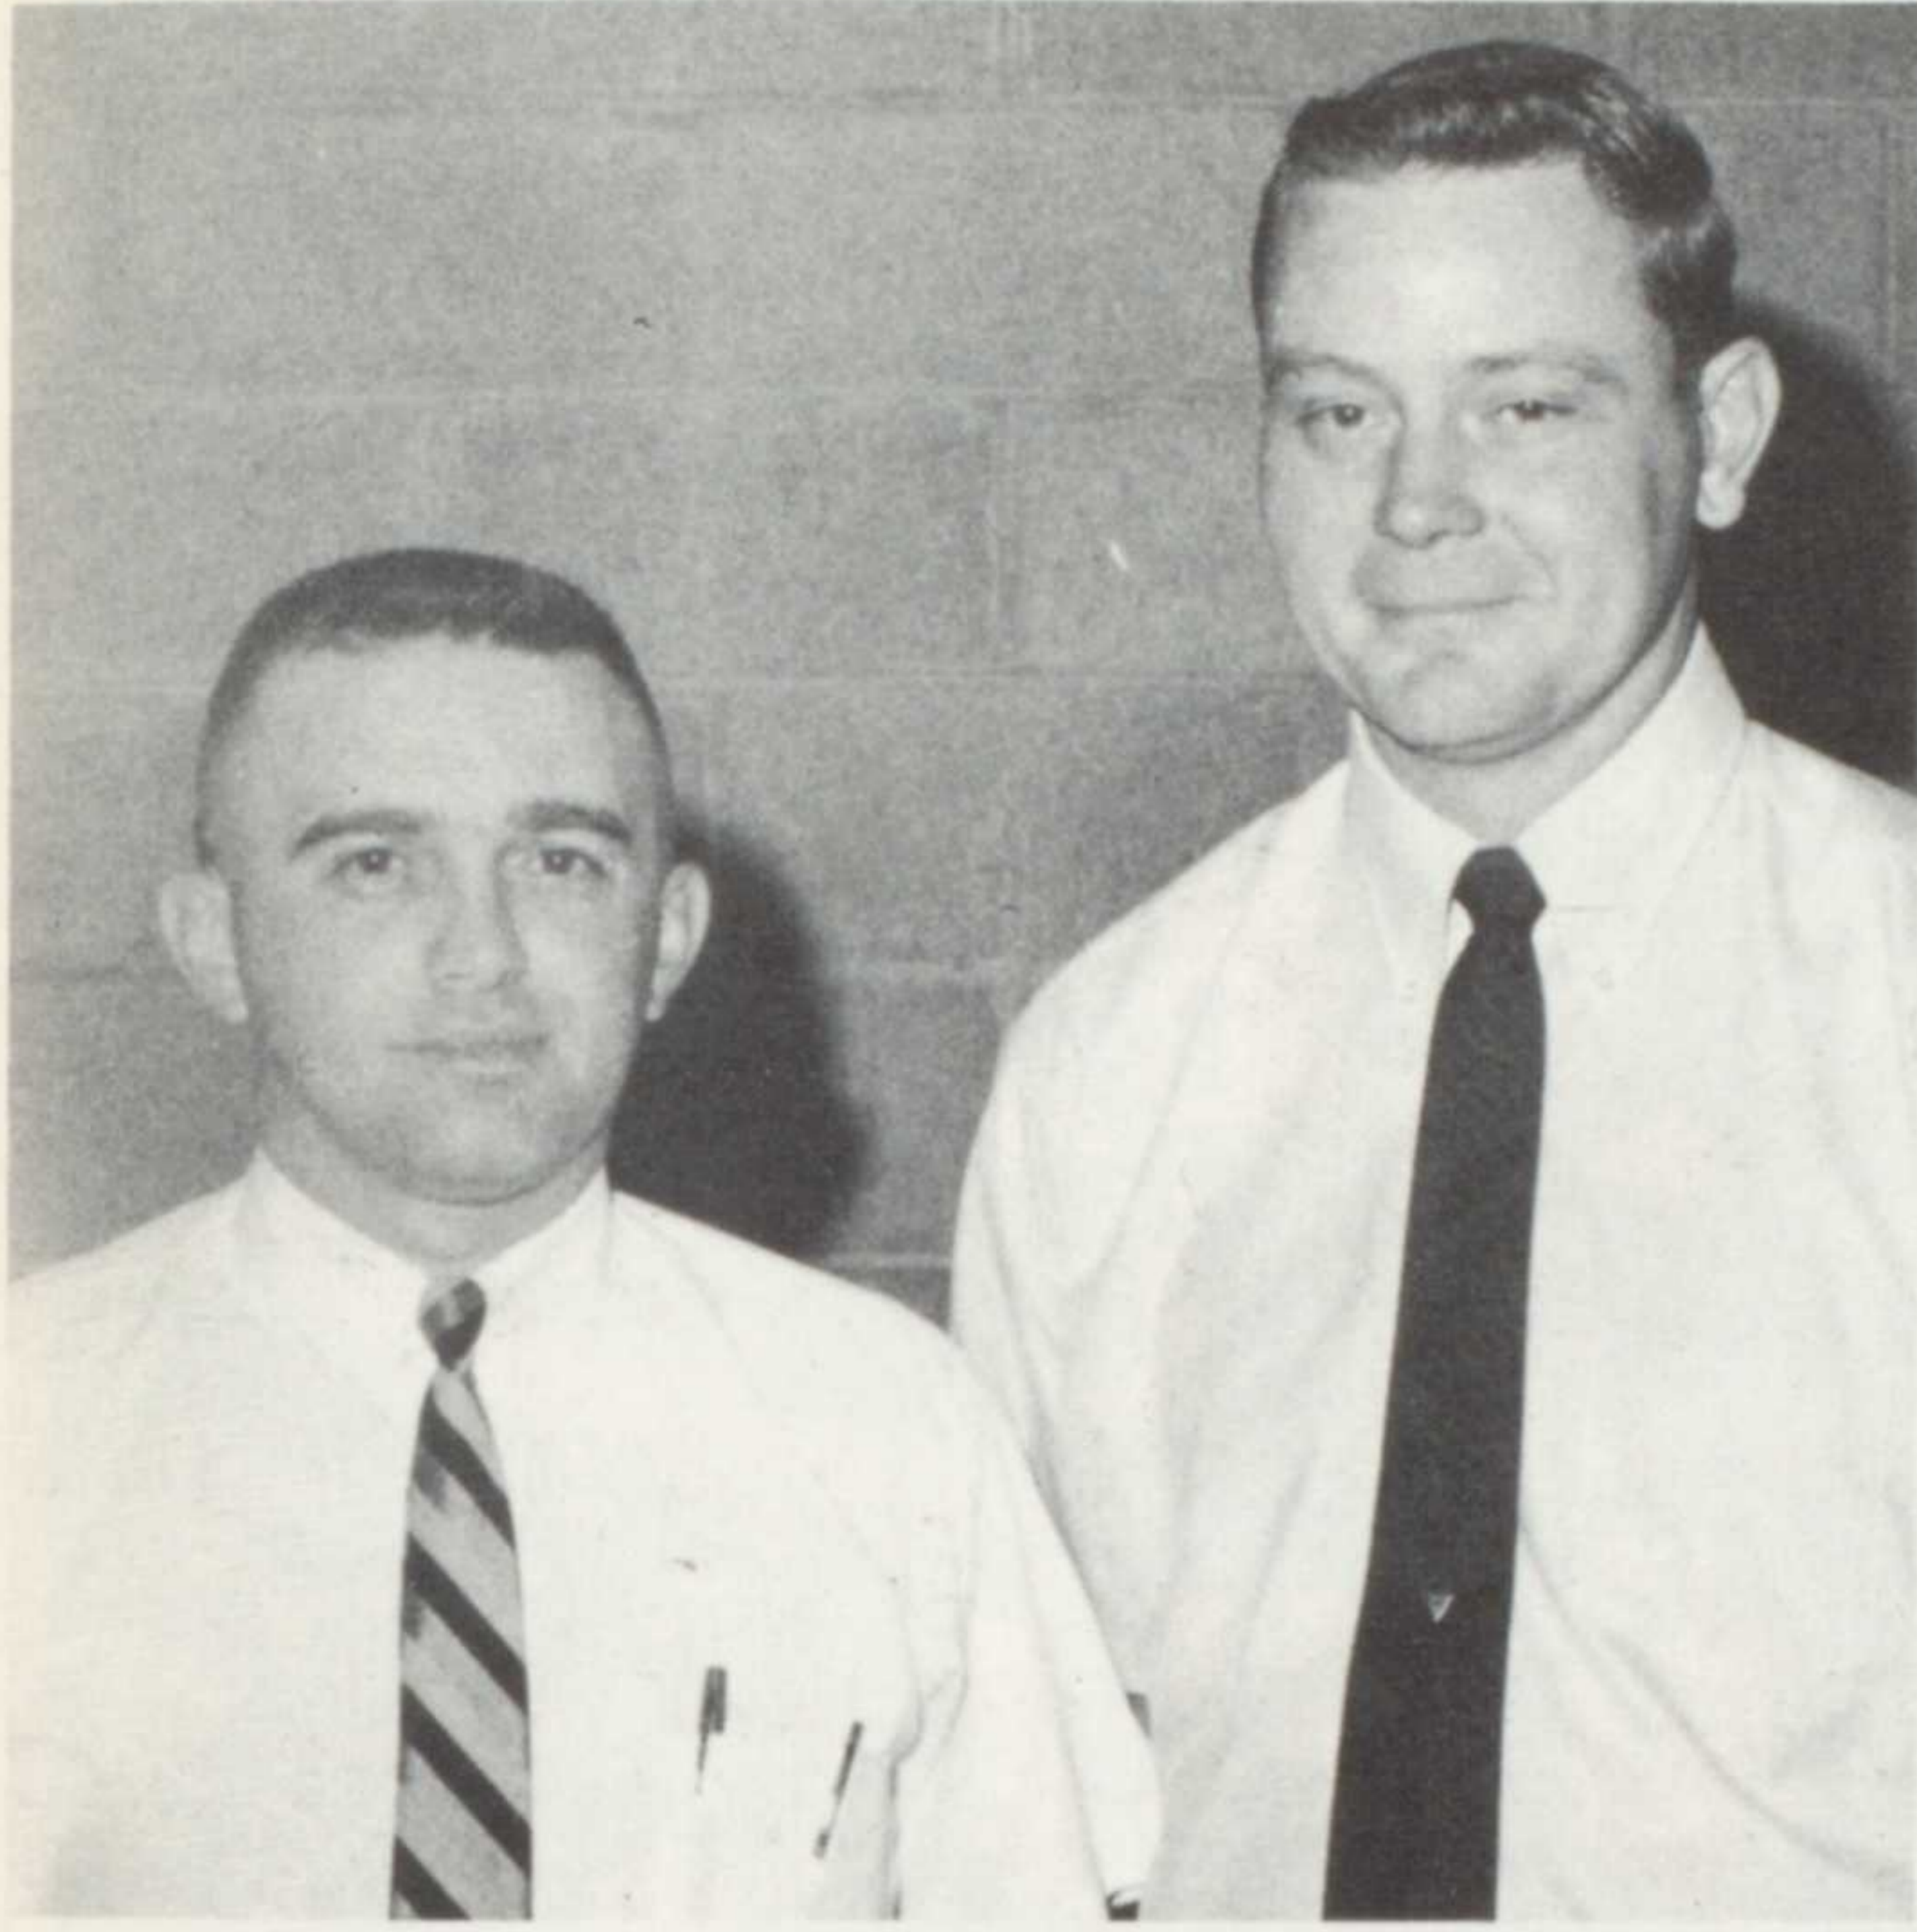

Continuing Bay's winning ways, the Rockets brought home their third Southwestern Conference Crown in five years under the direction of Coach Richard Voiers. After a disappointing loss to North Olmsted in the first conference game, the young team surged ahead in remaining conference games. The Rockets revenged their early loss with a heated 63-59 victory over the Eagles. In Bay's new tournament-size gym, the cagers defeated Fairview and Lorain to begin the final title drive. With a victory over Westlake and a Medina upset over Rocky River, Bay clinched the championship with one game left in conference play. As the top-seeded team in the Lorain Sectional Tournaments, Bay rode over Westlake and Midview, but fell to Lorain in the final showdown. No one player dominated the scoring this season; Kirk Gorman, Scott Walmsley, Scott Showalter, Bob Komar, and Jeff Ferchau each had their nights as high scorer. The head coaches of the SWC elected Kirk Gorman to the first all-conference team and Scott Walmsley to the second team.

The Frosh Wrestling Team Boasted A 5-3 Season

Row One: D. Ratcliffe, S. Mills, C. DiLauro, J. Schoenemann, T. Tornatzky, B. M. Johnson, B. Brown, J. Christie, R. Schmid, mgr. Row Three: C. Brown, D. Dean, P. Kennedy, R. Tygret. Row Two: T. Stuckart, M. Haneline, D. Bronson, Gertz, P. Zimmer, J. Sour, C. Saum, Coach Chadwick.

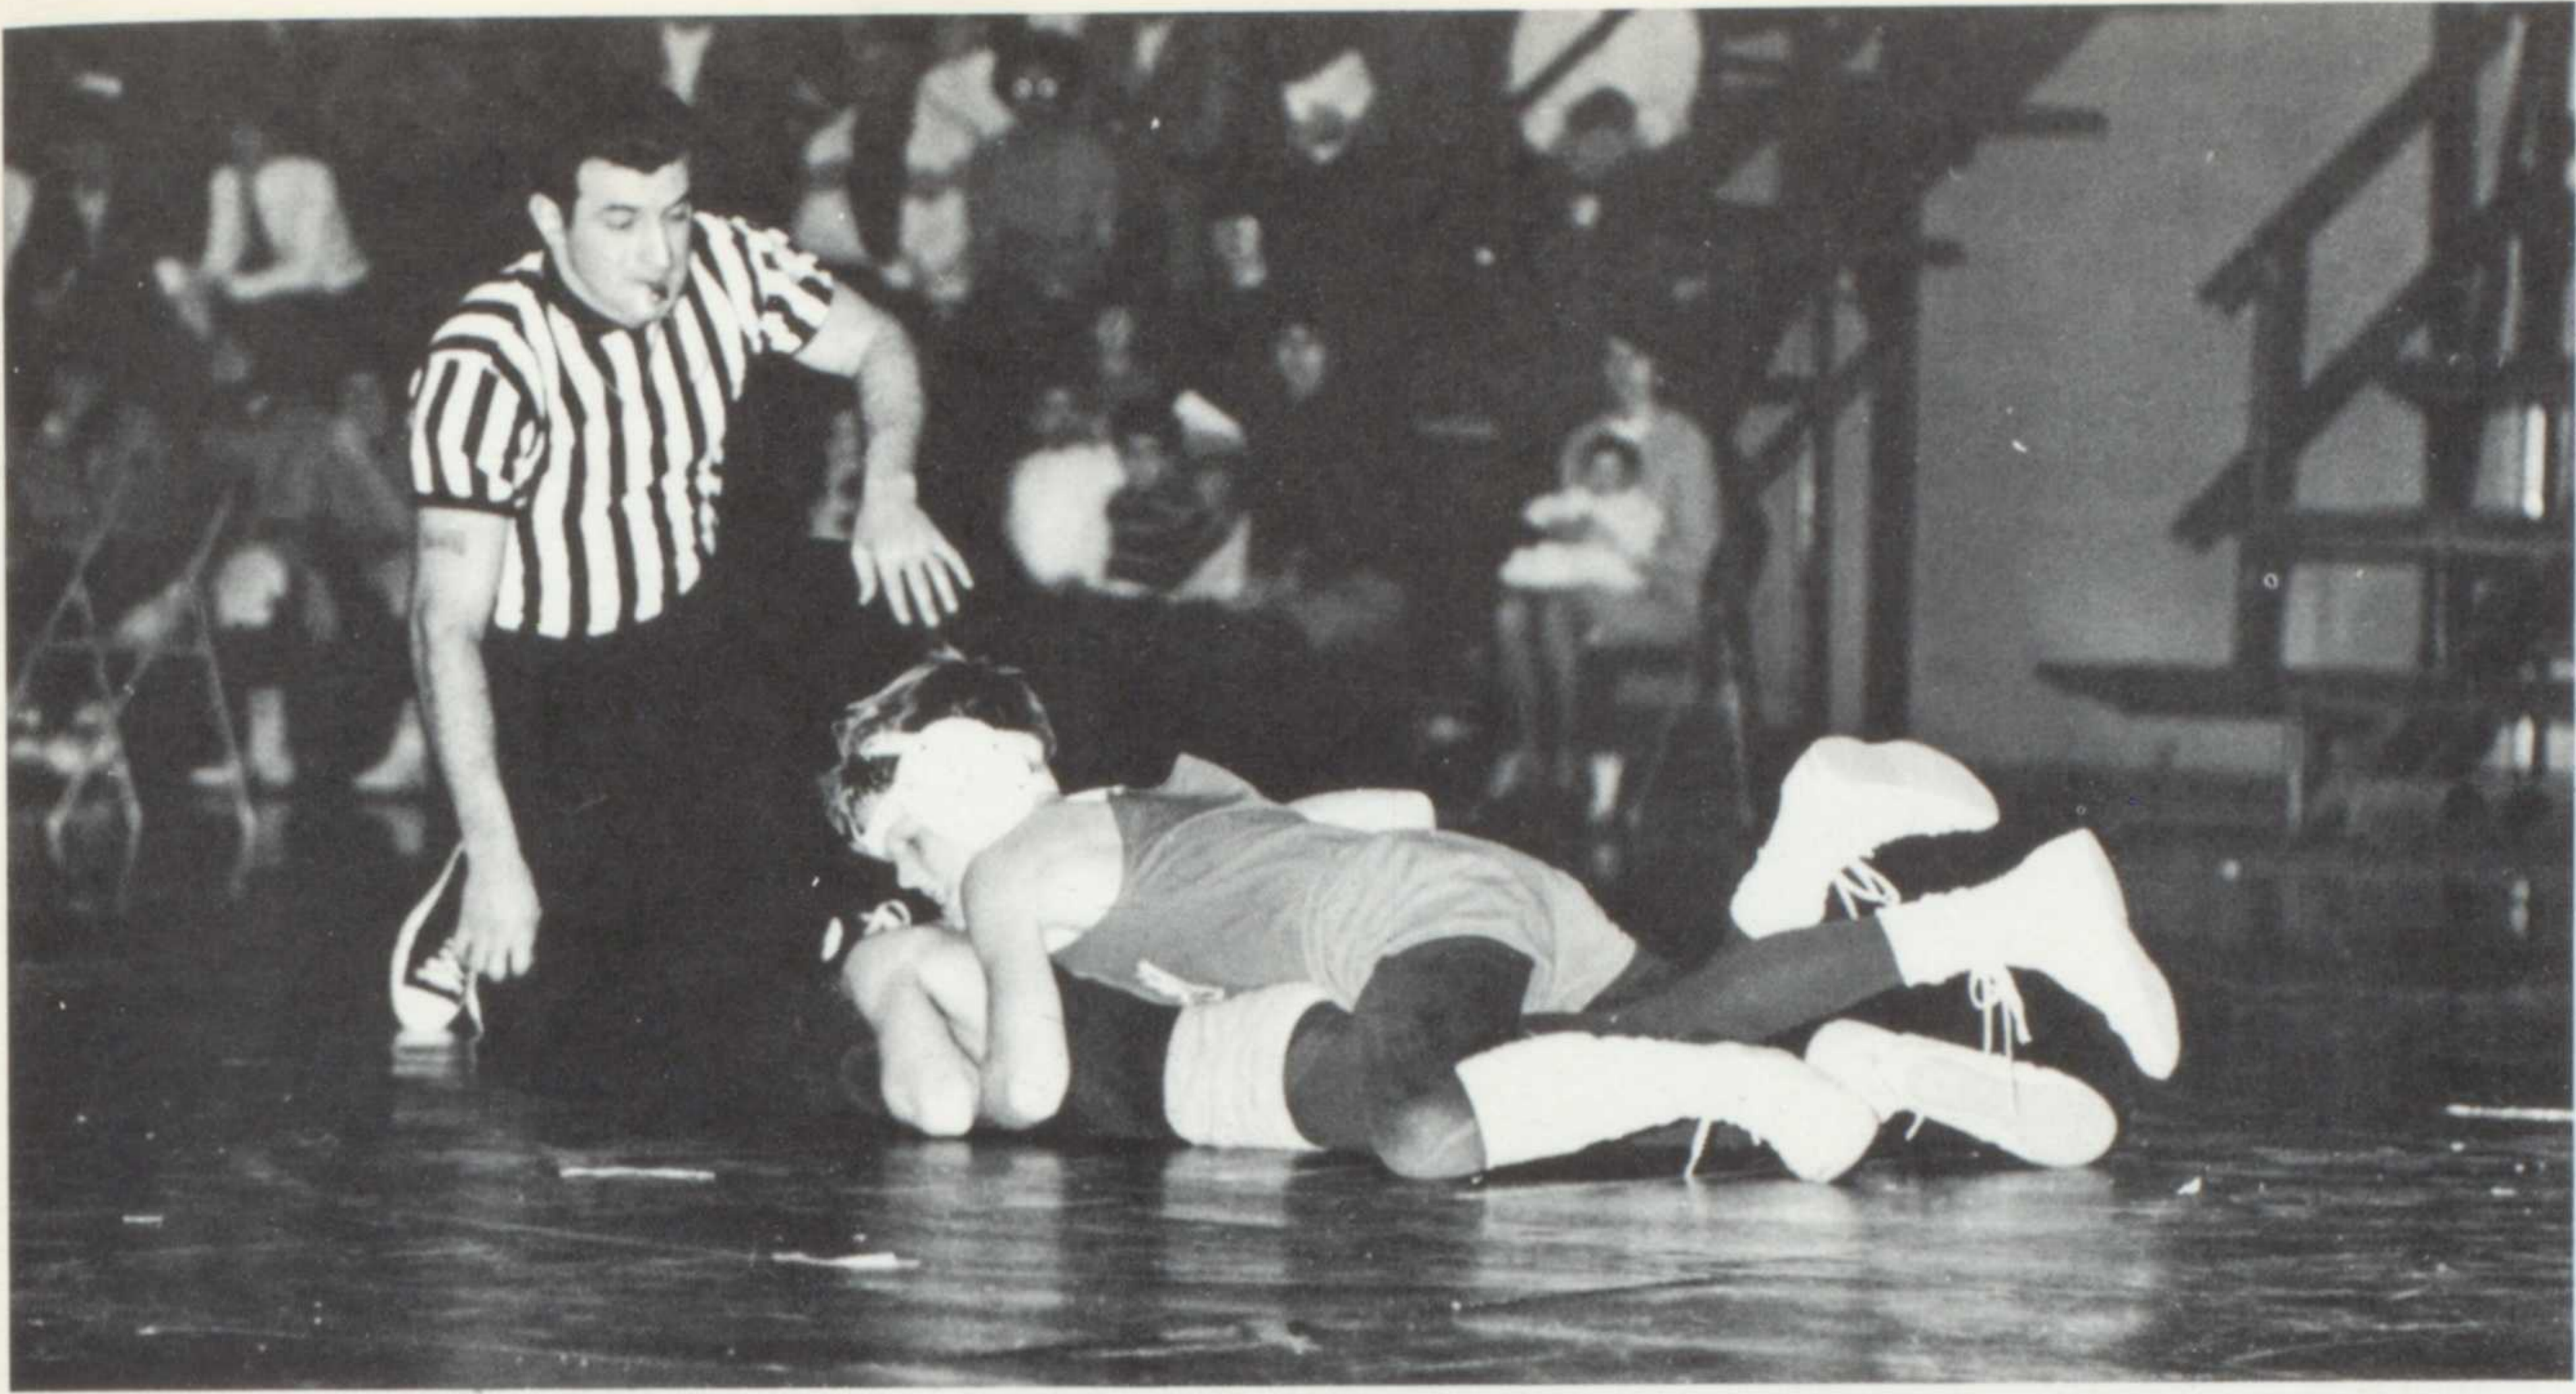

Participation in dual and invitational meets provided an opportunity for beginning wrestlers to learn the fundamentals of the sport and put that knowledge into practice. The freshmen grapplers opened the season with a smashing 38-10 victory over visiting Elyria Catholic. They proved themselves in important matches against more experienced wrestlers from Horace Mann of Lakewood and Rocky River. In the Avon Lake Invitational Tournament, the grapplers brought home individual honors in competition against four teams. Coached by Mr. Donald Chadwick, the freshmen wrestling team in its first year as an organized school sport showed a great potential for future varsity sports.

Kribbs, S. Dennis, P. Groshong, P. Groya, T. Krauss, D. Jonas, M. Talafer, mgr.; M. Daw, mgr.; D. Newcomb.

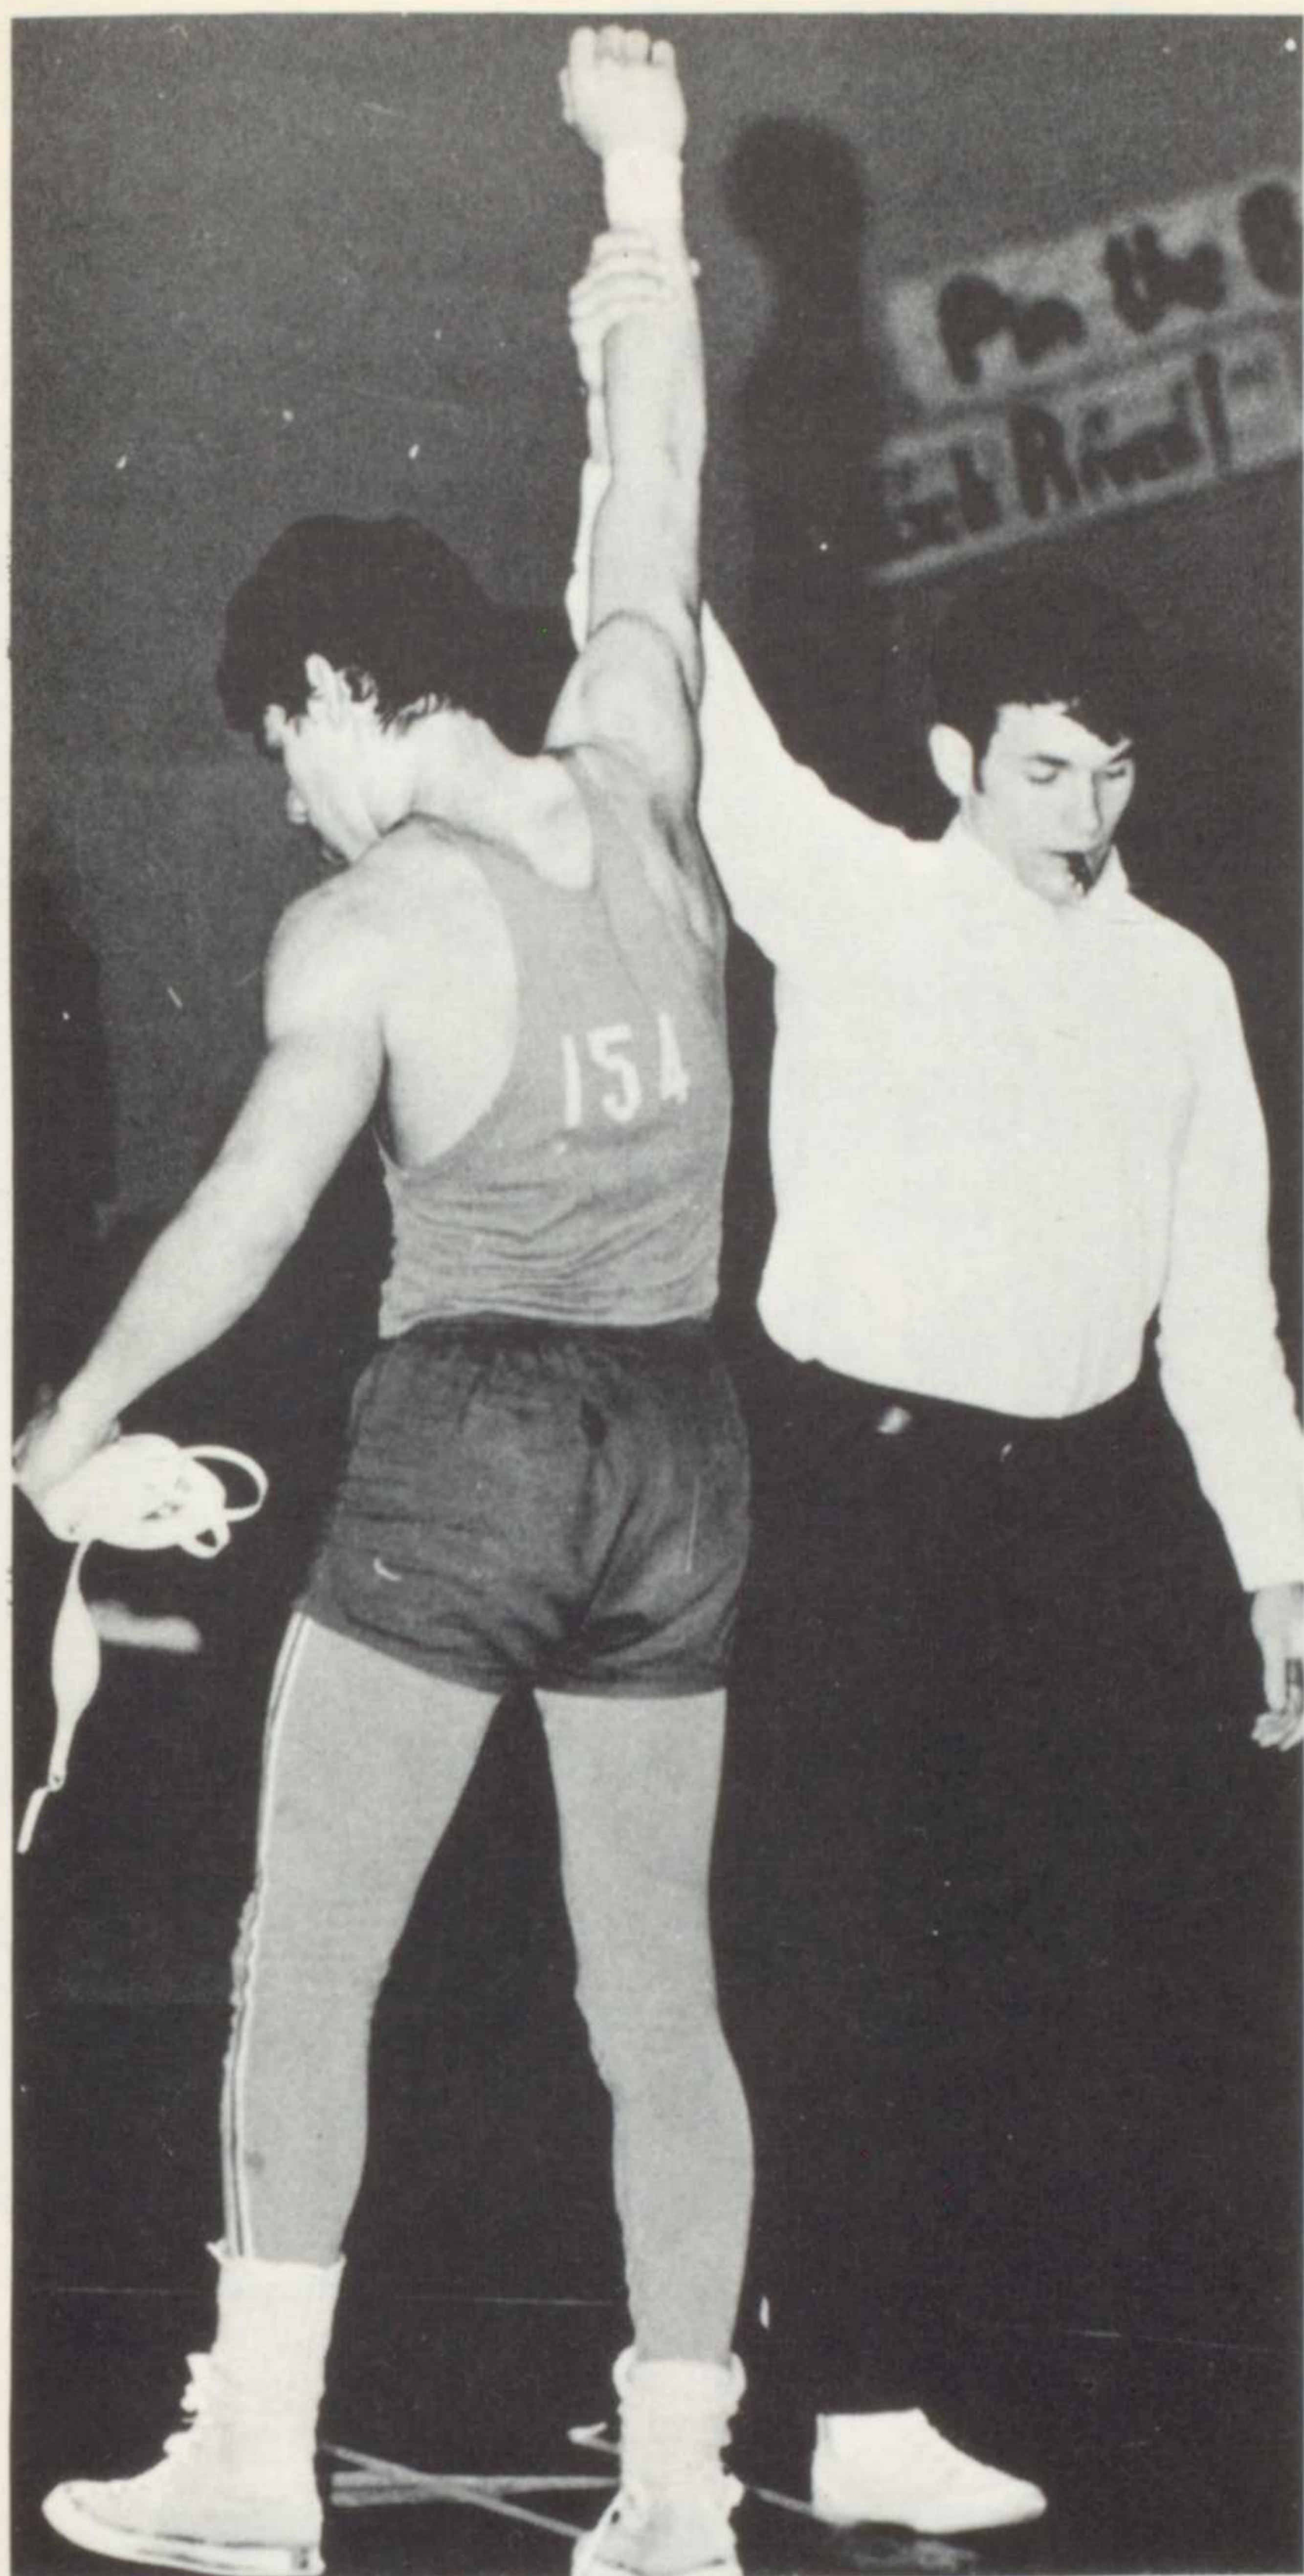

A good balance of talent was the outstanding characteristic of the 1968-69 Junior Varsity Wrestling Team. Under the fine direction of Coach Michael R. Hansinger, many of the J.V. grapplers were able to move up to the varsity team, thus illustrating the squad's hard work and spirit. The matmen victoriously downed conference foes Medina and Olmsted Falls. Competing against varsity squads, the J.V. matmen captured second place in the Columbia Station Invitational Tournament. The team handed the Rocky River grapplers their first defeat since Mr. Hansinger has coached at Bay. Posting a 6-3 mark, the J.V.'s gained a third place standing in the conference for a successful and satisfying season.

The '68-'69 season saw Coach William Polk lead the varsity grapplers to a 5-3 record for a tie for third place in the conference. Seven returning lettermen balanced team strength. After a loss to the Fairview Warriors, defending their co-championship, the Rockets began a winning streak in four dual meets, highlighted by victories over threatening Avon Lake and North Olmsted. Taking third place at the Brunswick Invitational topped the year for Bay. Rick Szilagy and Kirk Shepard pinned several honors as individual SWC champions for the second time. Bob Urquhart, Mike Manos, and Craig Thorn also aided in making this a good year.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Whether excelling in sports, working on school publications, or leading exercises in gym class, the Junior class met each new responsibility with spirit and determination. In keeping with tradition, Juniors broke the mark set by the class of '69 in the magazine drive with record sales. They displayed new class rings with pride. Long hours were spent learning chemistry formulas and studying viewpoints of American History. Much reading and reflection went into Research and Personal Heritage Papers. College being only one year away, Juniors measured academic success in the ACT, SAT, and NMSQT tests and began planning for the future. With leadership skills, the Junior class set the stage for a successful Senior year.

In their first year of high school, the Sophomores were faced with many new experiences and unfamiliar challenges. Showing their desire to be a part of Bay High, they met these experiences and challenges with friendliness and enthusiasm. Greater academic competition brought longer hours of independent study, such as constructing a plot for a short story. Singing in the Blue and White Chorale, excelling in sports, or working on the Student Council Christmas Project, the sophomores took an active part in extra-curricular activities. Proving themselves in academics, sports, and activities, the sophomore class developed unity as a class and spirit for all school activities.

As the first freshman class at Bay High, the class of '72 prepared a place for all future freshman classes. Caught in the unity and spirit of high school for the first time, the freshmen cheered on the J.V. and Varsity teams, as well as their own. Several new courses stimulated their curiosity: in Earth Science they discovered our planet; in Comparative Political and Economic Systems they examined different types of government and economic systems. Wishing to do something for the school, they sponsored the Sweetheart, this year. In meeting each new situation, the Freshmen learned responsibility and gained respect of upperclassmen.

SENIORS

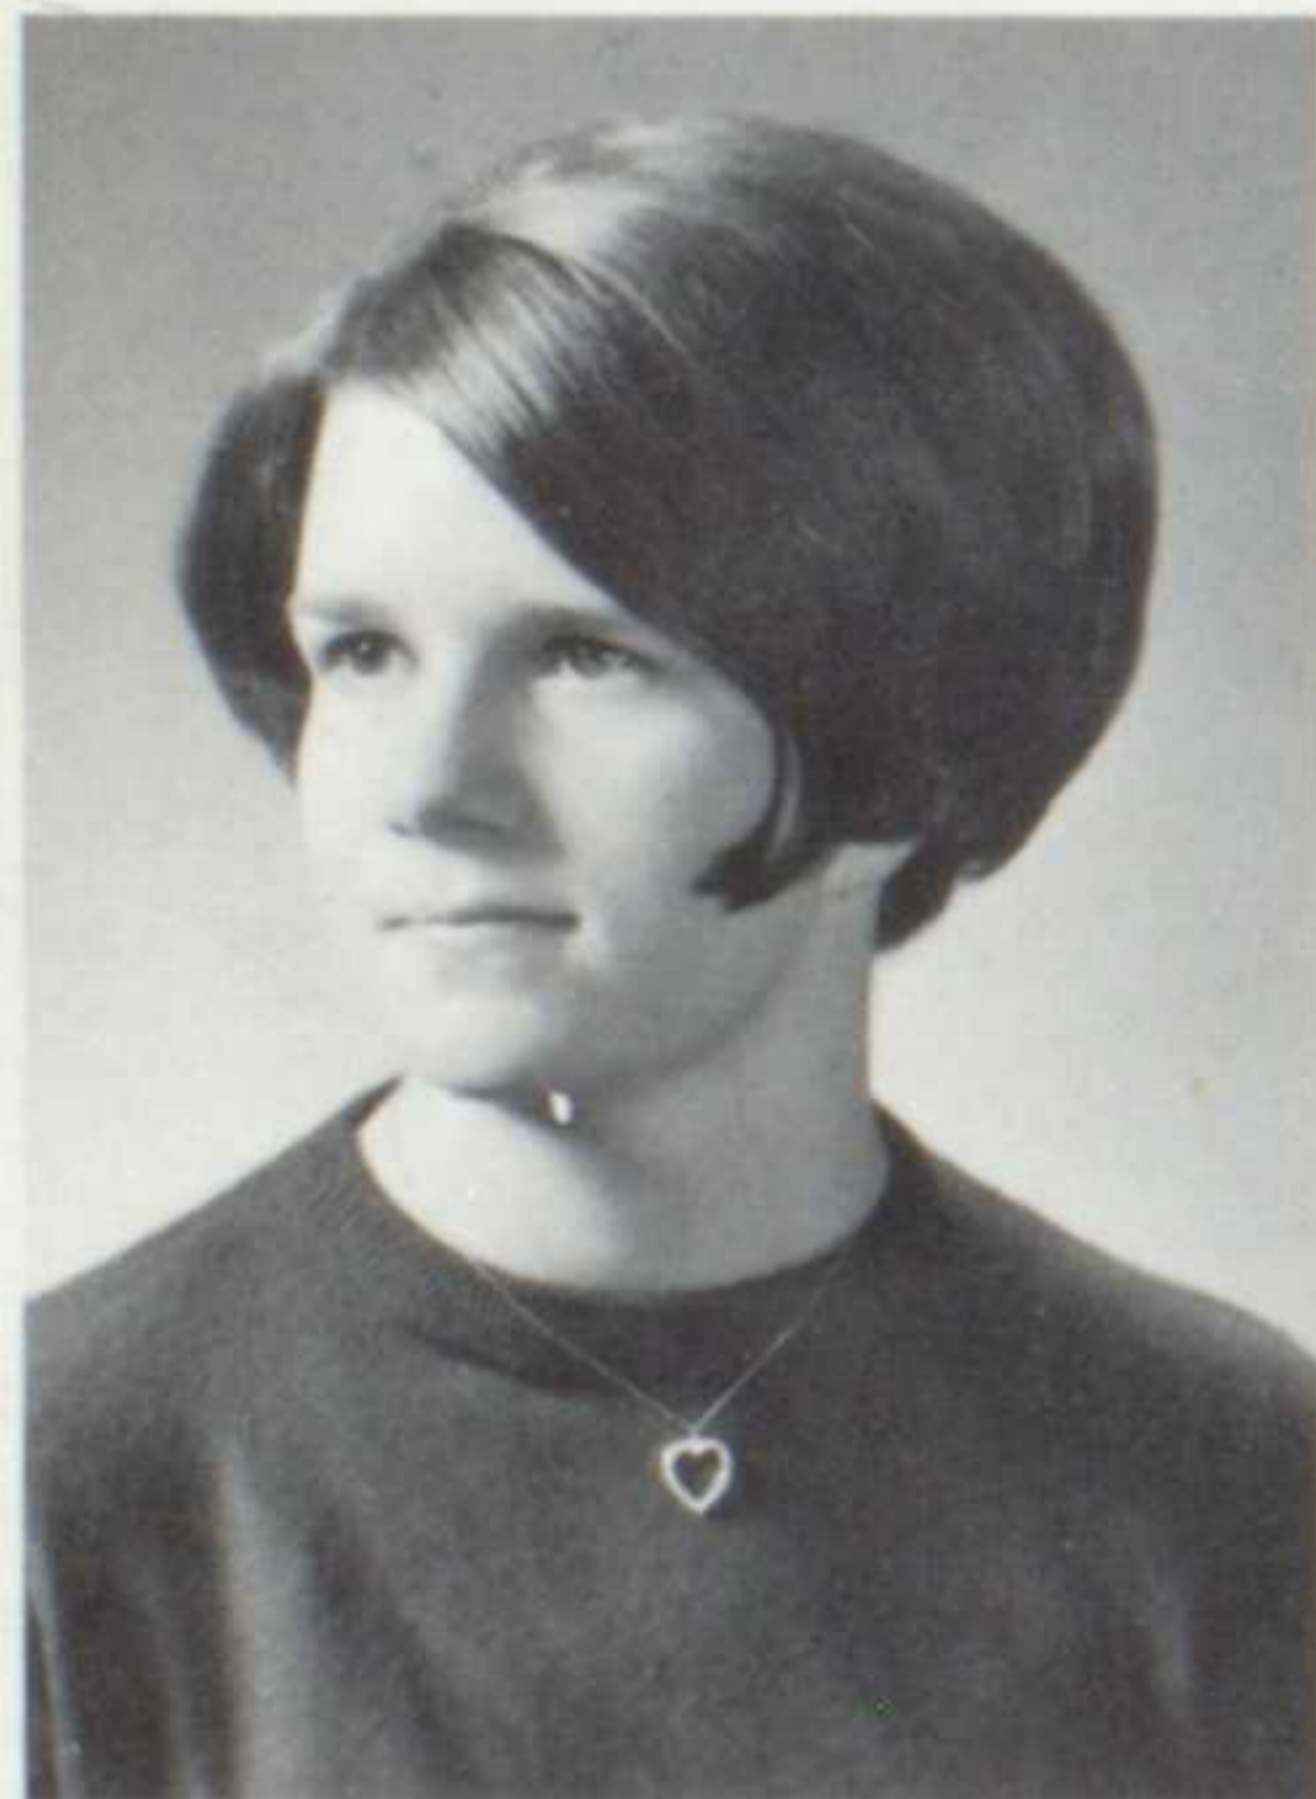

We Were The

SUSAN JANE AKERS

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS. S. Cavano, girls' soc. chair.; K. Shepard, pres.; S. Kettle, treas.; S. Kors-

SUSAN MERRILL ALLART

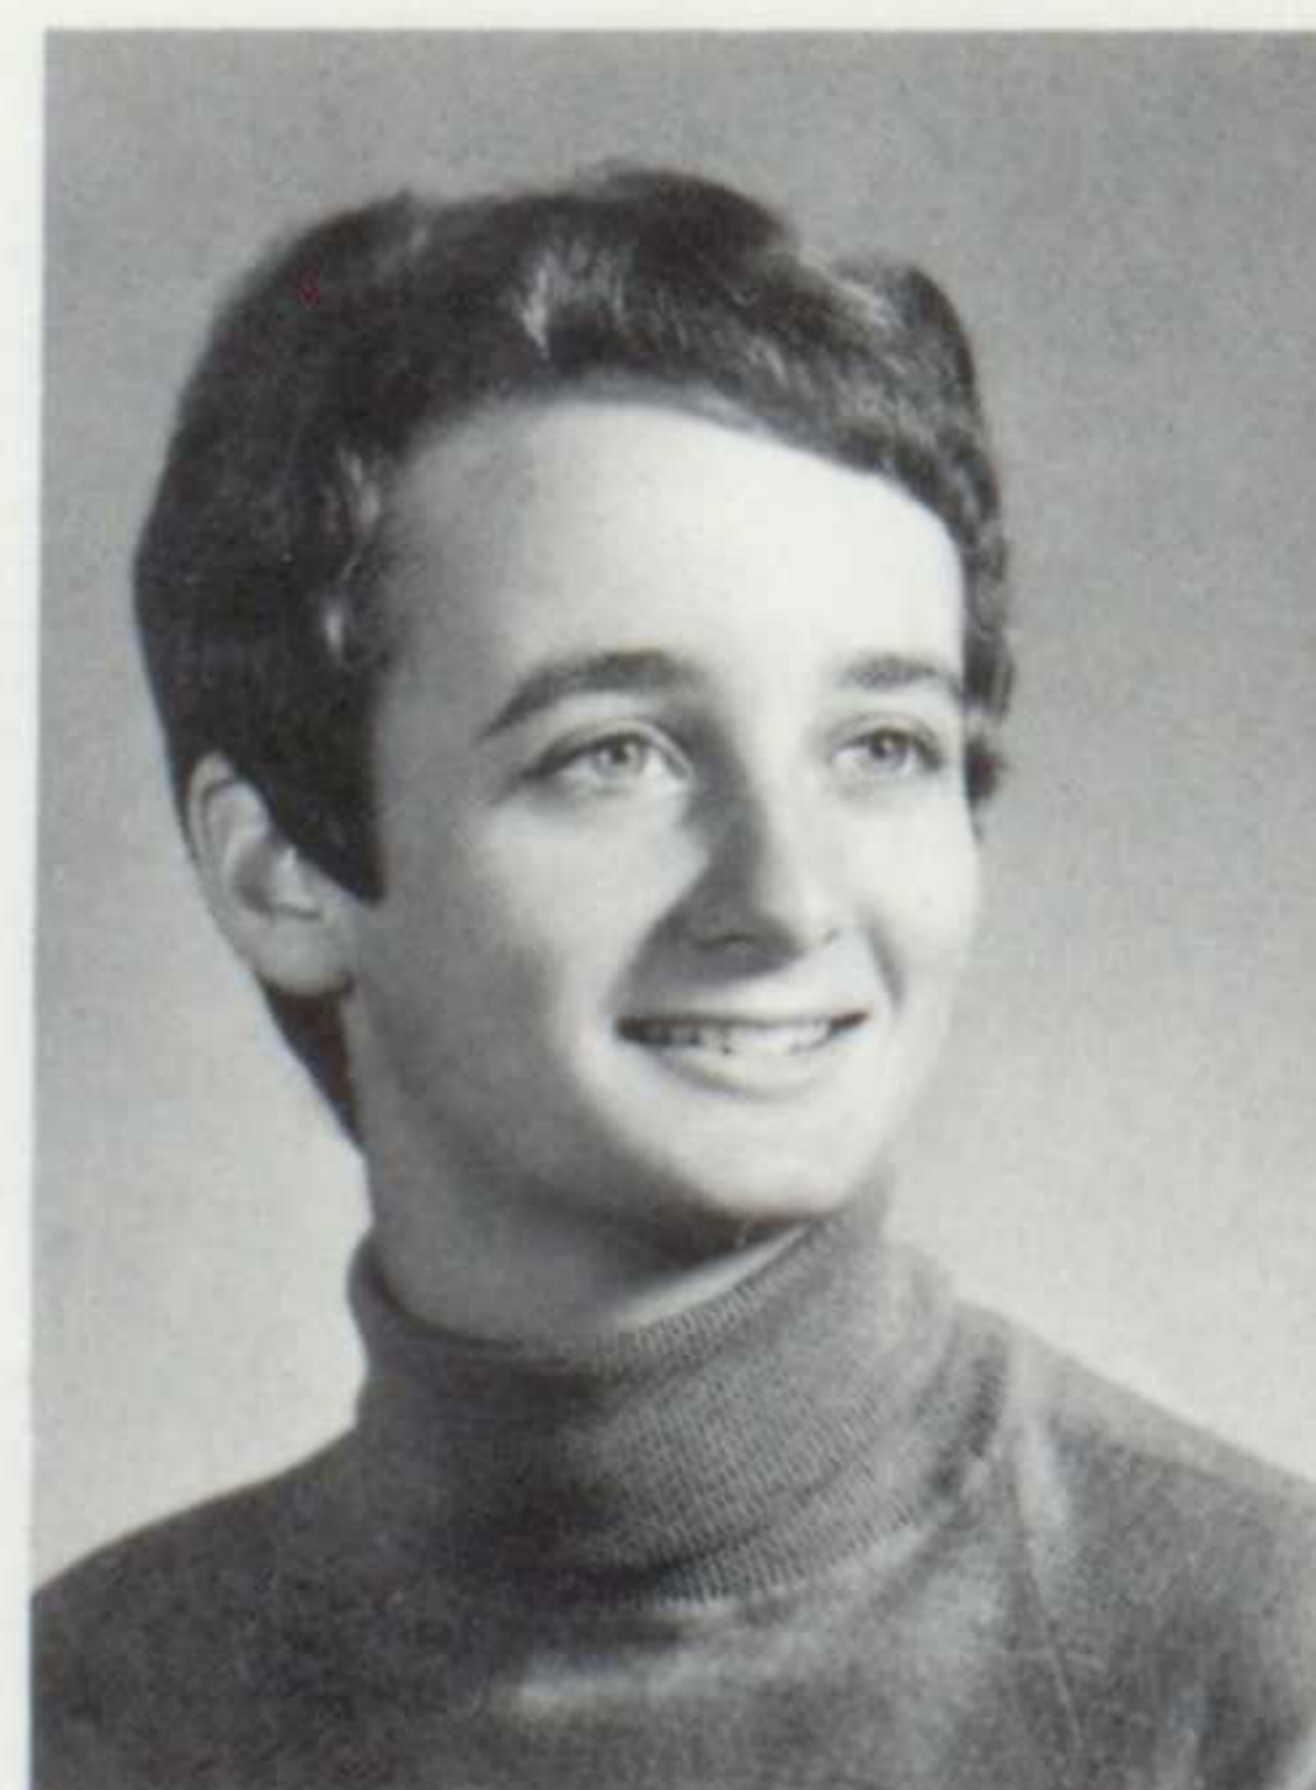

The seniors took on added responsibilities as leaders in the new school. As a unit, the seniors kept the tradition of spirit and friendliness. Sports, plays, concerts, homecoming, the snowball, goldiggers, and the prom—special efforts in all activities—made this a year to remember. Individually, seniors struggled through sociology papers, government tests, and novel studies while maturing, developing their talents, and striving toward special goals. Graduation marked the beginning of college and careers.

Homecoming 1968

The royal kiss.

Elated meeting of Queen Sue and King Kirk.

Homecoming 1968 began with a feeling of anticipation Thursday night. A chilling wind and the blazing heat of flames touched red cheeks as all gathered around the bonfire. Friday was filled with activity, excitement and pride. Students and teachers looked on as Seniors made their stately walk into the gym at the Homecoming Assembly. The long awaited moment came as the court appeared through the crowded doorway: Pat and Chris, Jan and Greg, and finally our queen and king, Sue and Kirk. The coronation by Student Council president, Randy Perry, speeches and the Homecoming Proclamation marked the assembly with tradition. Before the game, Randy crowned Sue and Kirk once more. Spirits soared as the Rockets downed Olmsted Falls in a blitz game. The Homecoming dance brought an end to a thrilling day. Happy, whirling memories remained—cheers at the bonfire, the regal coronation, a victorious game, soft lights and music—Homecoming 1968.

Cheering crowds surrounded the '68 bonfire.

Senior girls received their traditional mums.

Talle Gilmore and Tom Soeder marched to "Pomp and Circumstance."

The court crowning ceremony was carried out by Randy Perry.

Our Rockets conquered.

The dance, our King and Queen's last ceremony.

...And then it was all a memory.

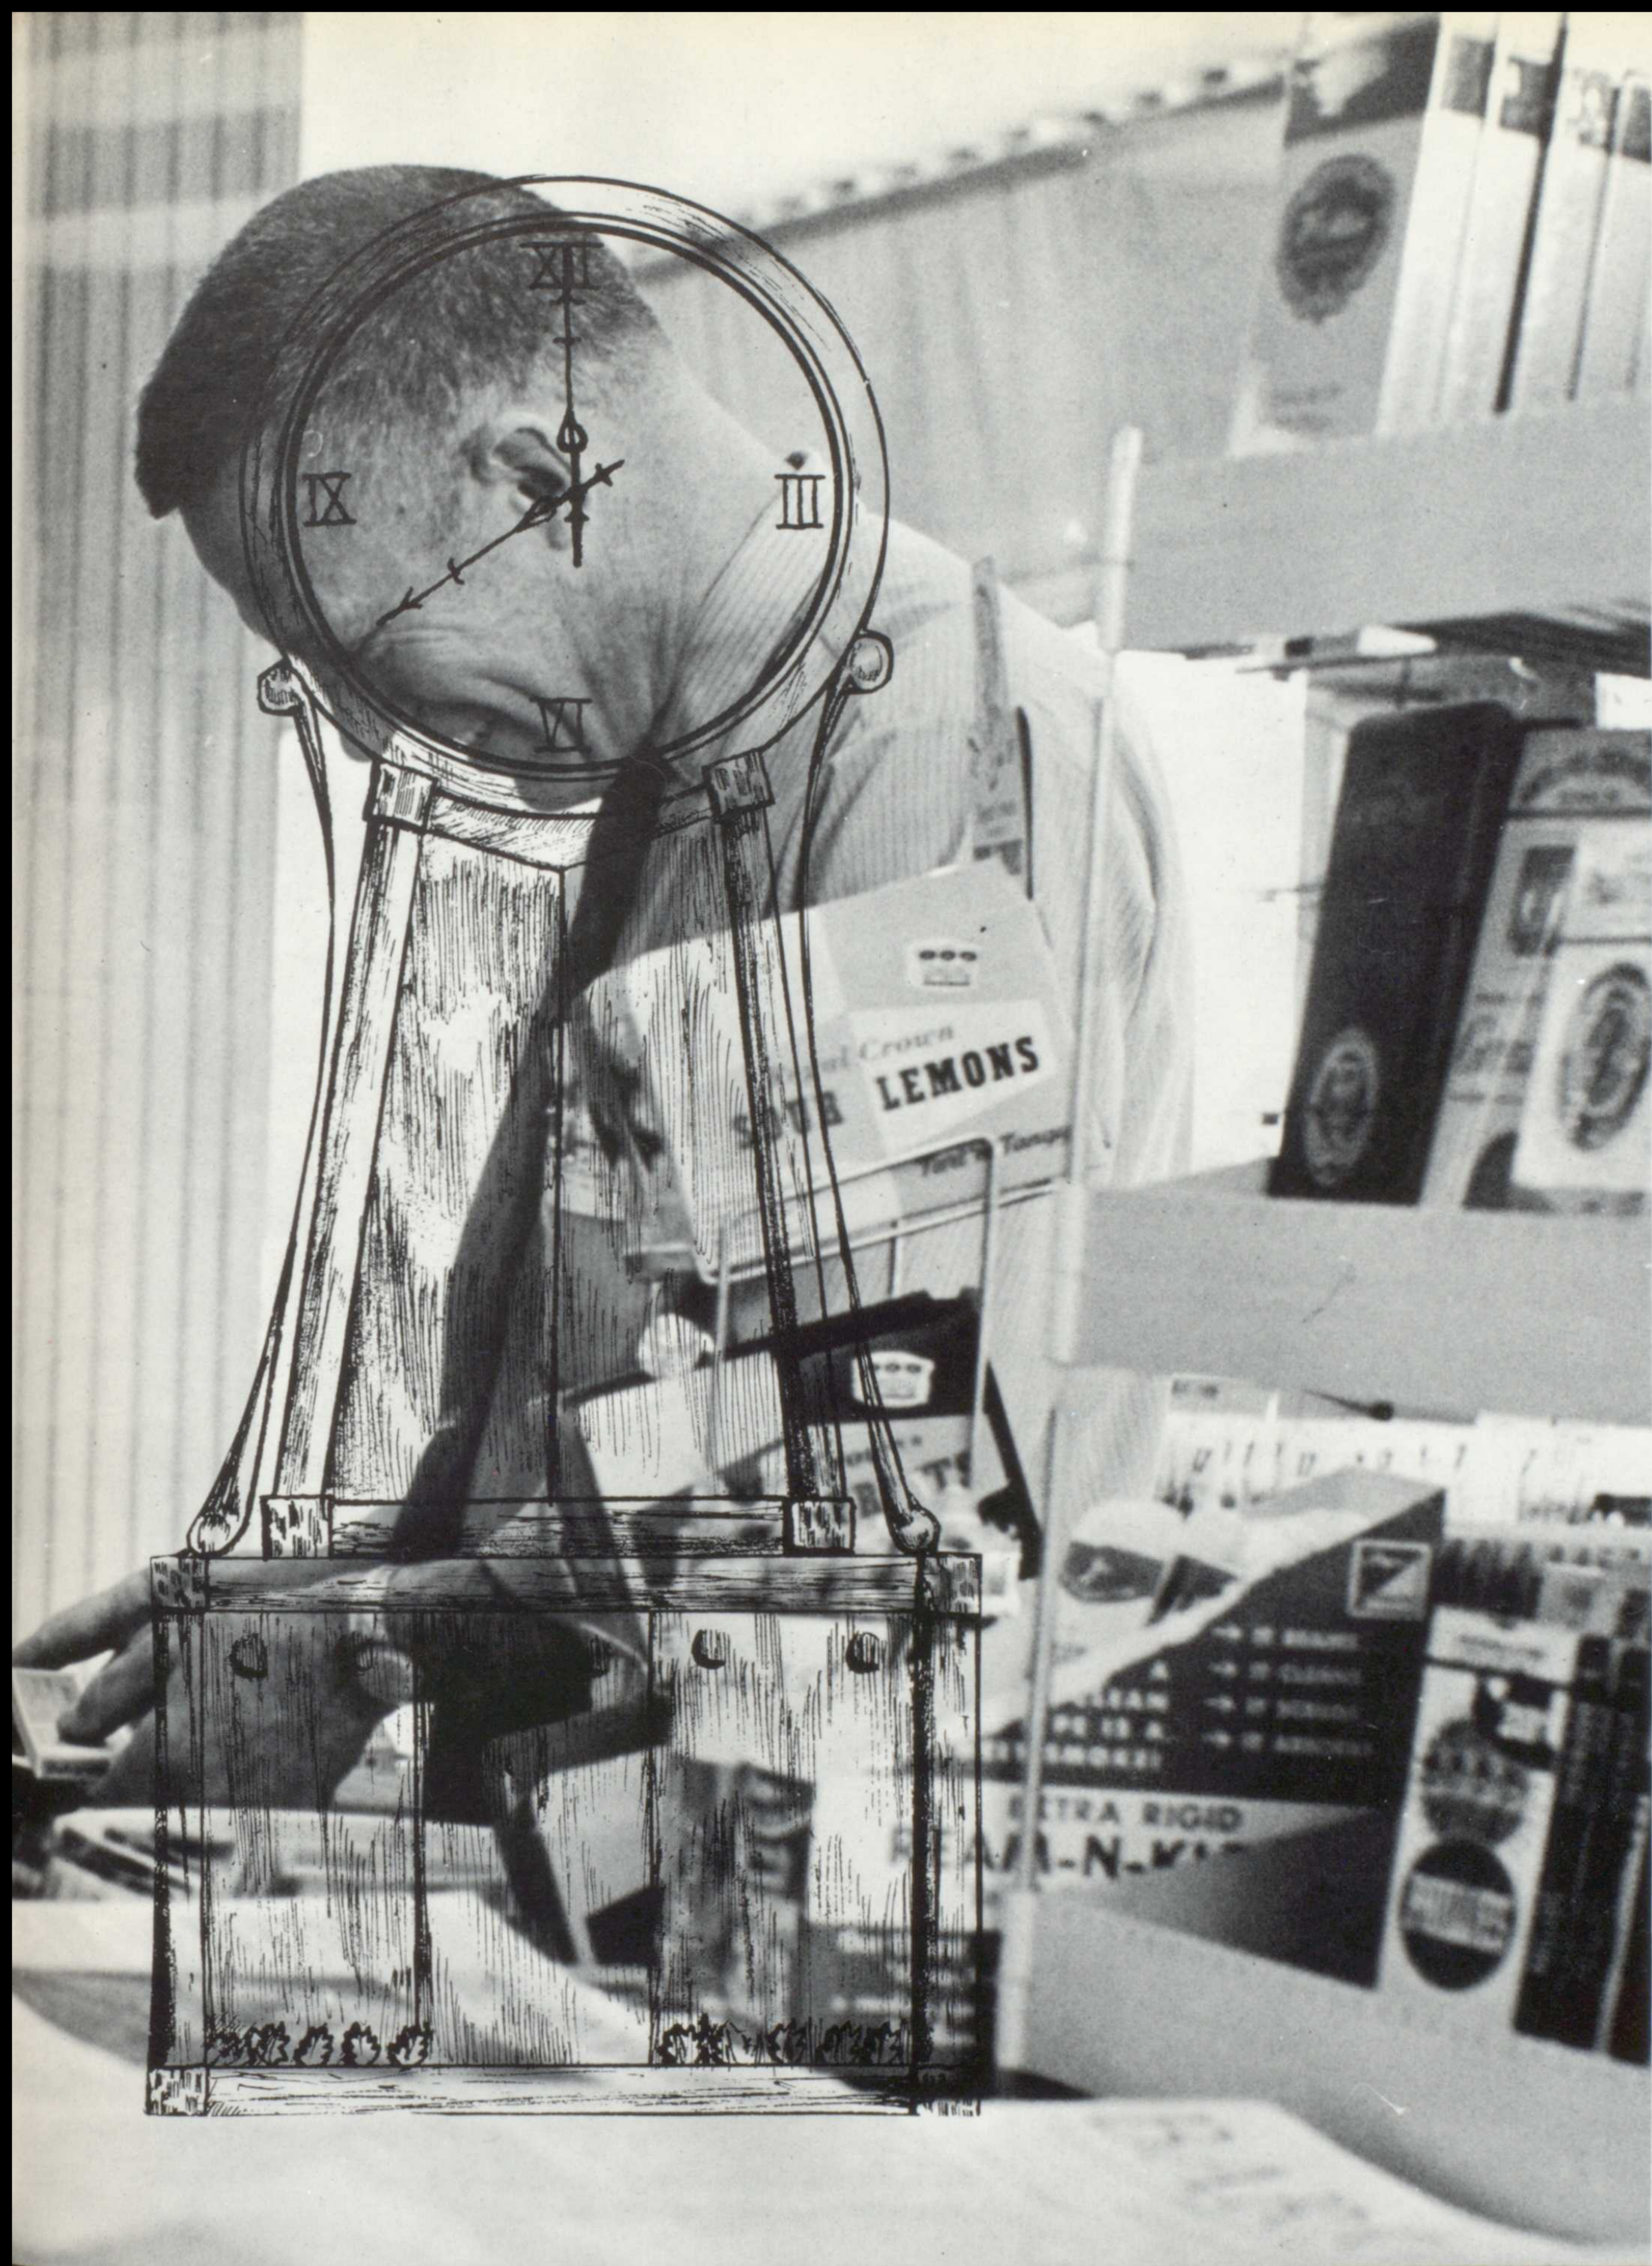

Turning toward the excitement and tradition of their senior year, the class of '69 was swept into a whirling kaleidoscope of schoolwork and activities. They welcomed three A.F.S. students to Bay—Marian Anderson of Denmark, Gippi Galli of Italy, and Raja Sibai of Lebanon. With fall came the smell of new books and the roar of cheering football fans. Twisting to catch a long pass, a Rocket streaked across the goal line for yet another victory. Seniors carried out Homecoming ceremonies with dignity and pride. Snow blanketed crumpled leaves, signalling winter sports and activities. The Snowball was an enchanted "Christmas in Camelot". With a pivot and a quick aim, the Rockets sank basket after basket to win the conference crown. Couples danced in the charmed atmosphere of turn-of-the-century New Orleans at the Sweetheart. Spouting sociology definitions, steeped in facts of government, and engrossed in novel studies, seniors gained a broader and deeper knowledge of the world. As weather grew warm, the number of cases of spring fever compounded with senioritis reached epidemic proportions. Seniors somehow recovered for the year's final activities. For a few meager pennies, senior girls carried boys' books on Slave Day to finance the Goldiggers dance. Star-struck parents made their hilarious debut on Parents' Night. The Prom was an evening of elegance at Avon Oaks; the wheels of fortune spun until dawn at the Las Vegas Night Party. As seniors looked back for a moment at Graduation, memories blended as the colors of a spinning pinwheel. They then turned toward the promise of the future.

For me, it is a "time to turn" and reflect on a great experience as Editor-in-Chief of the Blue Book. Those long hours spent meeting deadlines and worrying if my staff would complete its work on time seem minuscule in comparison to the many rewards I have received: new responsibilities, contacts, and friendships. The larger yearbook, increased number of pages and size, the addition of another class, new activities, and new surroundings made organization a challenge, but will set the pace of the following years. There was a sigh of relief as the final pages were turned in, but also a feeling of languish that it was all over, mixed with anticipation of receiving the finished product, full of our ideas and long hours of arduous work.

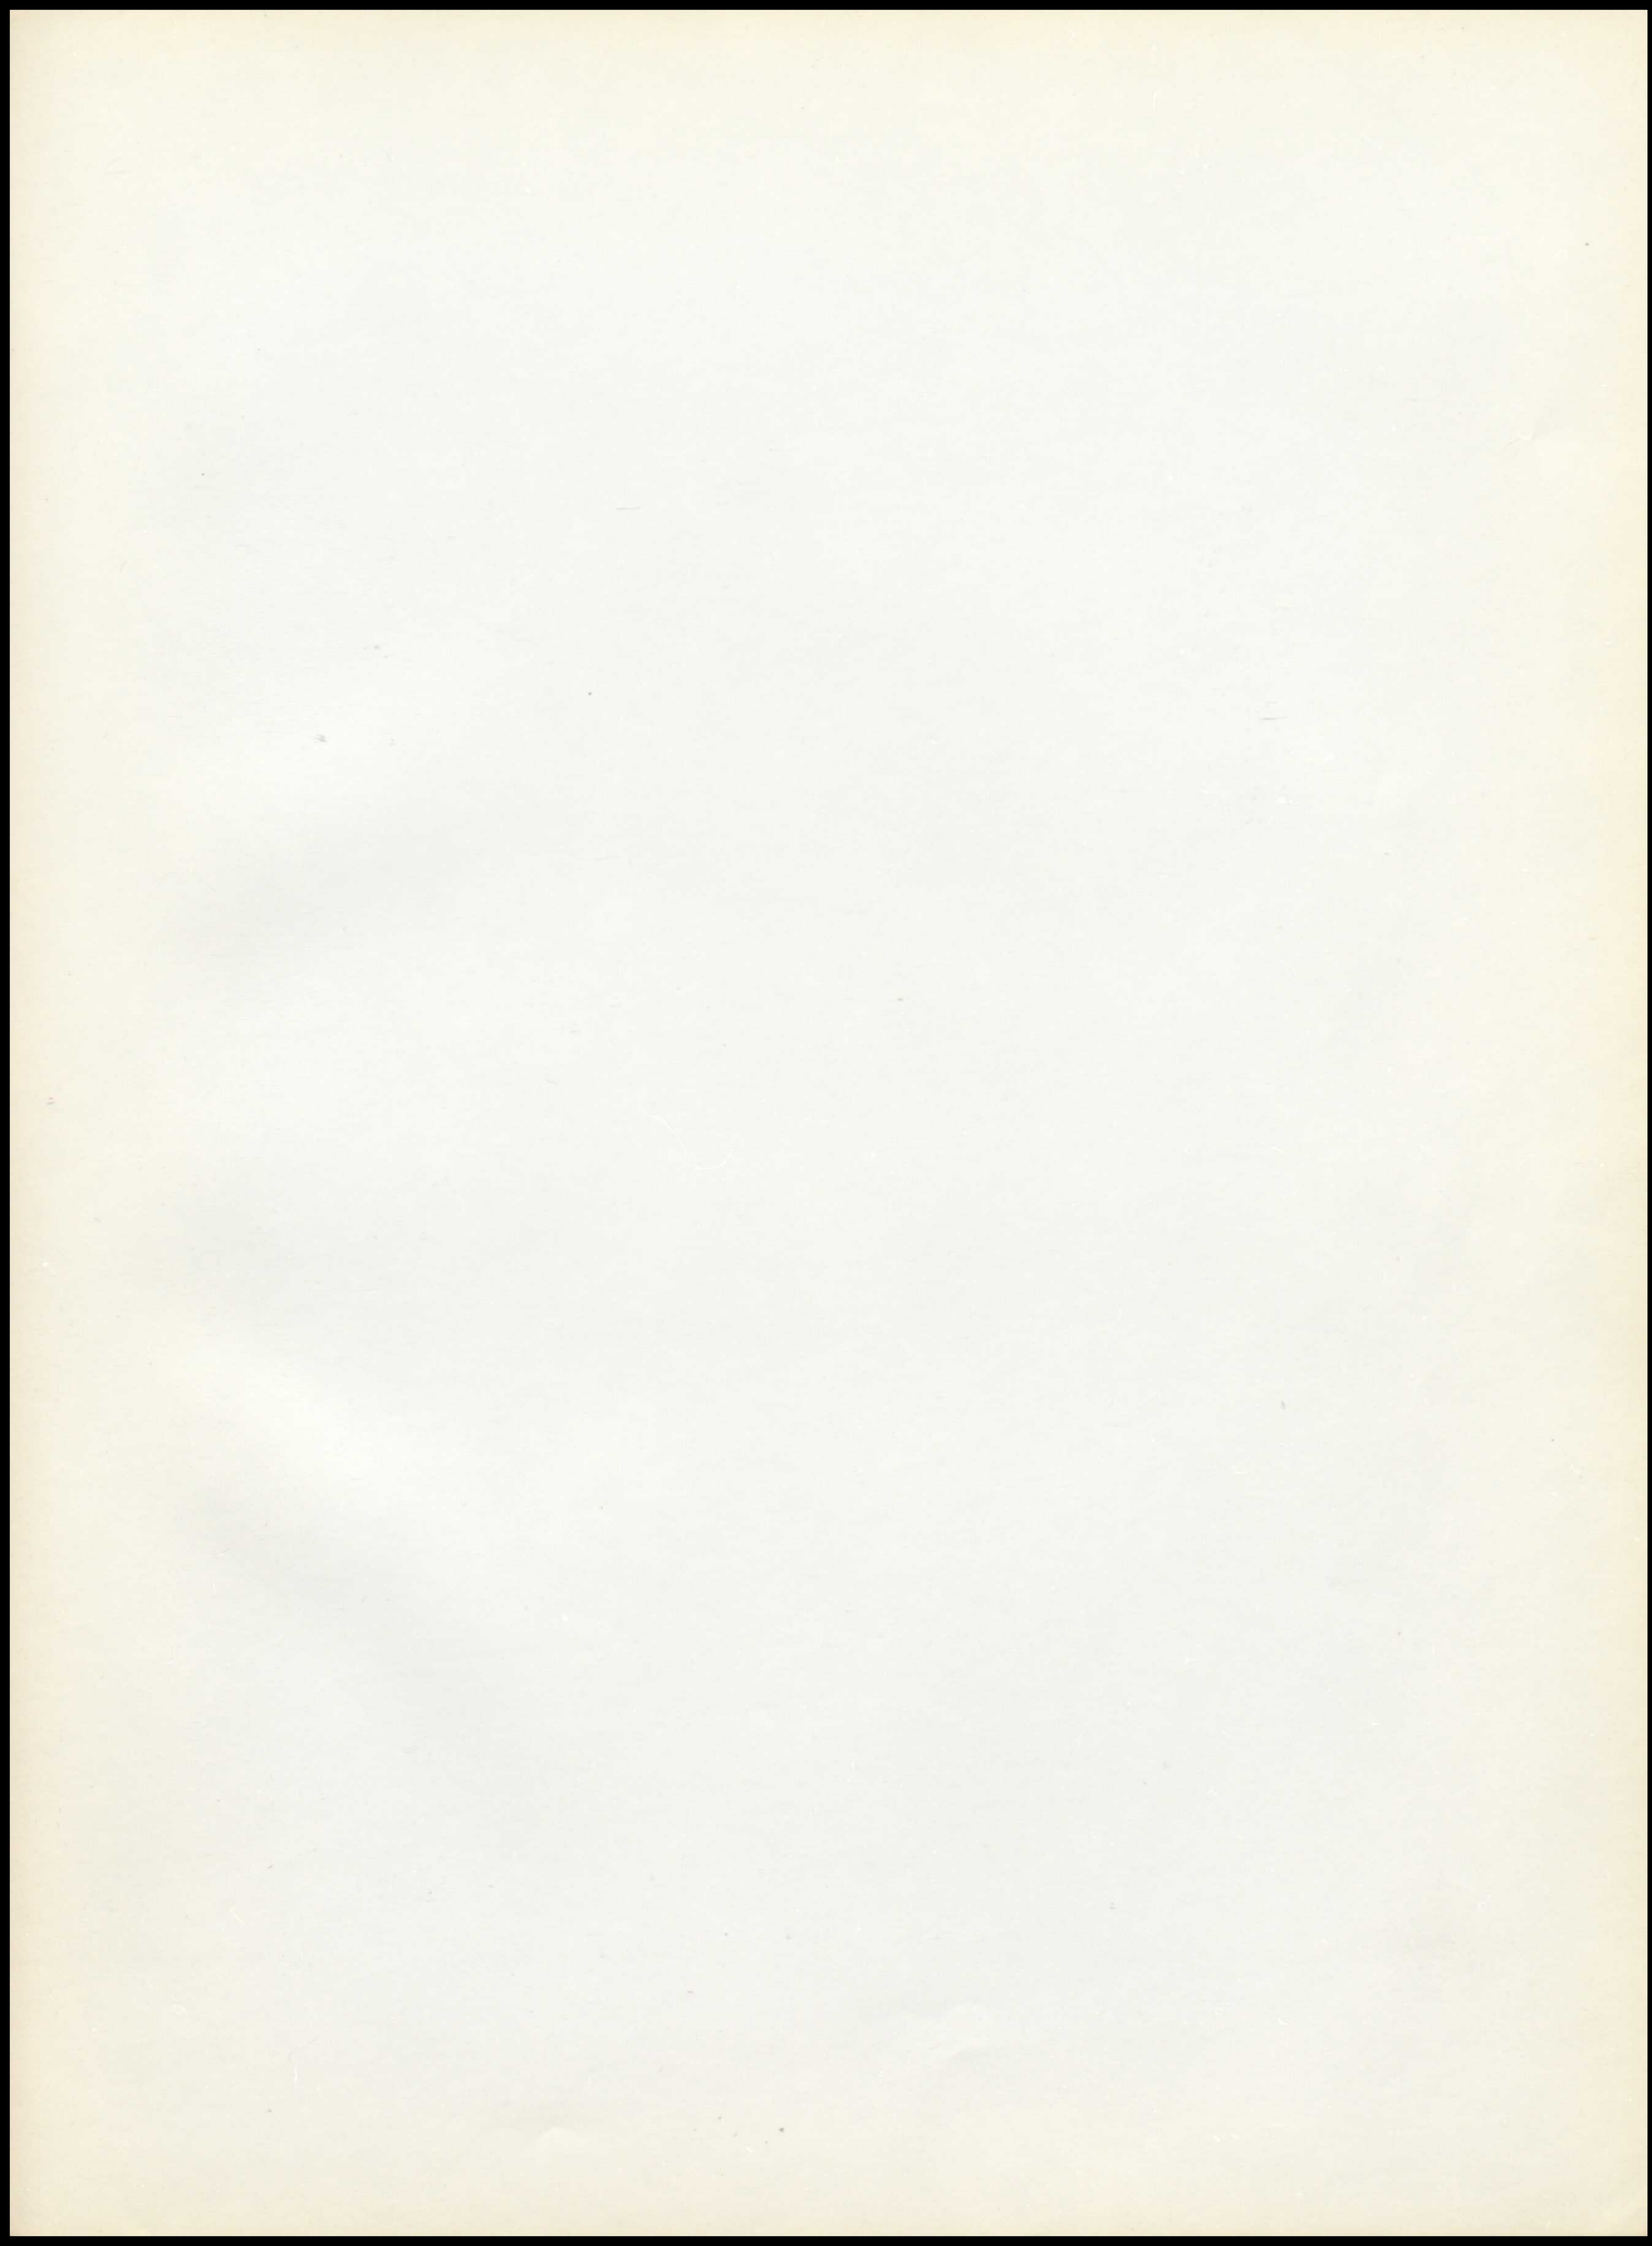

It is a "time to turn" to look ahead, also, knowing that my experiences this past year will prove invaluable to me in the future. My thanks to my competent staff and particularly to our faculty advisor, Mr. Millheim.

Mr. Millheim, alias Harvey, stops in the government room on his romp around the school.

"Music Man"

"Pick-a-little, talk-a-little"

"Sincere"

"The Wells Fargo Wagon"

The choir's production of "Music Man" played to capacity crowds May 9-10 in the Bay High School gymnasium. The play was done in-the-round under the guidance of choir director Mr. W. Curtis Crews. Dave Sinkler and Patty Carlson took the lead Harold Hill and Marian Paroo, with the rest of the choir making up the townspeople of River City, Iowa, the scene of the story.

The experience of six returning lettermen and a strong JV squad put the 1969 Tennis team in top contention for the crown. Under Coach Ronald Wacker, the team racked up impressive victories over North Olmsted, Medina, and Fairview. Plagued by foul weather, the netmen faced a heavy schedule in the final weeks of play.

Experience was the key word in yet another Bay team -- the Golf team under Coach Richard Voiers. The linksmen opened the season with a victory over Westlake. Seniors Craig Furber and Bill Williams, and junior Chuck Putsch, and sophomore Bob Williams represented the team at the SWC meet.

Tennis

TENNIS. Front Row: J. Hodge, K. Treadway, D. Bonin, M. Stephenson, E. Sloat. Row Two: M. Flack, T. Boatwright, D. Voegtly, Coach R. Wacker. Row Three: J. Goeggel, J. Peeples, R. Dillon, M. Knollmann.

Varsity Baseball

Bay's Varsity Baseball team put forth a strong effort to end up with a commendable record for the '69 season. Coach Ron Rush was one factor in its success. Outstanding players were PD Dream Teamer Steve Davies, a junior sporting a .389 batting average and the team high for runs scored, and Senior Tom Ferchau, who lead the team in runs batted in.

Coach Thomas Cabassa led the JV Baseball team to a soaring 7-0 finish for the '69 season. The high point of the year came with Mark Boecker's no-hitter against Medina. Roger Coblenz, Mickey Beyersdorfer and Don Forney were the team's outstanding players.

Junior Varsity Baseball

Freshmen Class Party

The freshmen, sophomore and junior classes held their class parties the same night, in the same building this year. Bay High School was swinging on Friday, May 16, as the Freshmen invaded the cafeteria, the sophomores took over the girl's gym, and the juniors reigned over the boy's gym.

For their class party, the Freshmen decided on a picnic and a dance. After dinner in the courtyard, they danced to the music of the Avant Garde.

"Books of Any Kind" was the theme of the Sophomore class party. Sophomores, dressed as Raggedy Anns and Andys, and Lone Rangers danced to the Eastern Standard Time.

Snacking in the gym takes up a major part of the evening.

Junior Class Party

Juniors dance to the music of the Sounds of Now.

Cave men and women mingled with Chinese emperors and American colonists as the ages of history were brought together at the junior class party.

Senior girls chose fairy tales as the theme for the goldiggers dance. By carrying books -- and boys -- on slave day, they earned money to build an emerald green castle and a yellow brick road.

Best costumes for the evening were worn by Judi Hodges and Bart Hayden.

Seniors took time to rest during the long evening's events.

Senior Prom

Avon Oaks Country Club was the scene of this year's Senior Prom. After a prime rib dinner, couples danced to the music of the Ted Beckman Band. At midnight the barker's call rang out: "Place your bets here -- try your luck!" Seniors spent the early hours of the morning at gambling tables and slot machines at the Las Vegas Night Party. Only dawn could end the excitement and elegance of the Senior Prom.
